ROBINSON GETS SECOND PLACE

Will Would Like Smith If He Had Fewer Seconders

(Special To The News)

HOUSTON, June 29.—The only thing I got against Al was his seconders.

If so many hadn't seconded him we would have been home a week ago. If his seconders all vote for him he will walk in.

And don't let anybody kid about the heat here, especially from eastern cities. There is always a dandy breeze and it's cool at nights. It's the hotel lobbies that are the black holes of Calcutta.

Let's see, this is Friday. The elevators in the hotels are going up today.

Democracy has found a candidate. Now they are looking for a drink.

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Action of the police in making arrests for premature celebration of the Fourth is a move that will be commended by the greater part of New Castle's citizenry. It is the only way that effective results will be obtained in curbing the celebration of the Fourth for about a week on the part of some celebrators. One day of noise making, The Fourth, is sufficient for most New Castleites. Warnings by the police have apparently failed to get results desired, so a radical program of arrests is to be started.

Governor Smith is now the nominee of the Democratic party for the presidency of the United States. It's Smith versus Hoover in the campaign that is now on, and will continue until the battle of ballots in the fall. Both parties selected their candidates so unanimously that there is no indication that they do not represent the sentiment of the parties, and a lively campaign is indicated during the late summer and early fall.

Candidates for service in the city fire department will be examined tonight at city hall. A number of firemen are to be added to the city service as a result of the addition of a new truck to the equipment of the city. The new truck will be added to the2 Central department equipment when the new fire station on South Jefferson street is placed in use, in the next few weeks.

Again the infant Ponzis of Garfield and Highland avenue have opened up, this time in a new stand, bigger and better than ever before. They also have a new line, and Pa Newc, while he admires their business sense, does not believe that their stand is any addition to the aesthetic value of the residential section. Not that he would be bold enough to suggest that it be done away with entirely, but surely it can be made more beautiful.

Another flare back on the military hair cut which used to be administered at the blacksmith shoppe with horse clippers is heard from Bill Crowe, fireman at the Croton fire house. "You know," he says, "it hasn't been so long ago that Dr. Urmson used to sneak around to the shop and get his trimmed with the clippers." And so that put Dr. A. W. Urmson in with the 40 immortals.

Newspaper men have their ups and downs, like elevator boys. Yesterday Pa Newc cooled his heels for almost an hour while waiting for a man to finish his beauty sleep. And then, when he finally consented to be seen, the story proved a bust. Death, where is thy sting?

With the graduation last night of seven more nurses from the training school of the Shenango Valley hospital, the total number of nurses who have been graduated at the institution reaches 127. Truly this is a noble service that has been performed for the community during the years that the institution has been in existence here.

Tonight's the night — boy scout benefit program at the cathedral. Attend the performance and help with this most beneficial work in the community—Boy scouting.

Several claimants are now in line for the honor of having the first developed dahlia in their flower garden in this city. What have you to offer?

Lawrence county is sending a full quota of seventy five to the citizen's military training camp at Fort Washington, Maryland, this summer. The citizen's camps are a wonderful institution, working a dual benefit. Not only do they give the youth of the

WILD ENTHUSIASM MARKS SELECTION

Indications Still Point To Selection Of Senator Robinson For Second Place

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—United at last after eight years of wandering in the wilderness of discord that stretched from San Francisco in 1920 to New York in 1924, the unterrified Democracy went back to Houston's Big Pine Tabernacle today to name a runningmate for Al Smith and to wind up this historic Democratic convention in a grand chorus of harmony.

The big plunge has been taken. Al Smith is the nominee, the first of his religious faith in the history of American politics to be nominated for the Presidency by any major political party. A platform has been adopted that accomplished the seemingly impossible task of placating both the eastern and northern wets and the southern and western drys.

Robinson Is "It"

There remained today only the job of nominating a vice president, and Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas appeared to be "it" in this new game of Democratic fraternizing. There were other candidates, of course, some of them prominent, but the sturdy Arkansas battler seemed to have the most support.

Veterans of San Francisco and New York could scarcely believe their eyes when they saw a Democratic platform adopted in open convention without a minority report even being offered on the floor, within less than two hours after its presentation and without a roll call vote. Hardly could they believe their arithmetic when their pencils told them that Al Smith, admittedly wet, a pillar of Tammany and Catholic to boot, was nominated on the first ballot with

Contract Is Let For New Bridge Over Neshannock

Purdy And Sanders Awarded Contract For East Brook Station Structure

Contract for a new steel bridge across the Neshannock creek at East Brook station was let by the county commissioners yesterday afternoon to Purdy and Sanders of Clinton, Pa., at their bid of $12,598.

There were seven bids submitted as follows: John Byers, $14,057; W. E. Ferry, $13,993.60; E. F. Scanlon, $14,450; M. J. McMahon, $18,000; Purdy and Sanders, $12,598; Woods and Golder, $19,750, and Minteer and Anderson, $13,320.

As will be seen by the above figures there was a wide divergence of figures. The low bid of Purdy and Sanders was $7,152 below the highest bid submitted.

The new bridge is to have an 18 foot cartway and is to be 155 feet long. The floor is to be of reinforced concrete.

Purdy and Sanders expect to begin the erection of the new bridge at once.

Mayor Gillespie's Car In Accident

Struck By Another Machine On William Penn Highway Near Huntington

While motoring to Harrisburg to attend the banquet given by Governor Fisher, the car operated by Mayor Gillespie was struck on the William Penn highway near Huntingdon and as a result Roy Ellenberg of Union township, near Huntington was arrested by a member of the state highway patrol on a charge of operating a car while being intoxicated.

The mayor reported the number to Corporal C. Varner and within 30 minutes an arrest was made.

Ellenberger is held under $1000 bail on the charge. Damage approximating about $60 was caused to the mayor's car.

Pulaski Excited Over Arrival Of Six Trucks And Car Load Of Steel

Pulaski had a mystery on hands Thursday afternoon when six big trucks, all heavily laden with tools and machinery of one kind or another, drove into the old Pulaski fair grounds and began to unload. Soon after a carload of iron, looking like structural steel, arrived on a local siding.

"What's it all about, what does it mean?" citizens asked each other. Nobody, it seems, had been aware that any building operations were in sight. Some thought it might be an industrial plant, suddenly swooping down upon the quiet countryside. Others thought that it might be preparations to drill an oil well.

It wasn't long until curiosity had the better of several persons, who hied out to the old fair grounds. Here they were informed that the operations were to be in behalf of the Geodetic service. This was all the information they could get.

"What the heck is the Geodetic Service?" they asked. Even the oldest inhabitant couldn't answer. After floundering about in a haze of be-

Governor Smith Is Joyful Over His Nomination

"There It Is", Says New York State Executive As Ohio Delegation Swings Over

ALBANY CITIZENS PAY FINE TRIBUTE

Smith Feels Greatly Honored By Confidence Placed In Him By Democrats

ALBANY, N. Y., June 29.—"There it is."

These were the three words that made political history early this morning when Governor Al Smith, sitting in the Blue Room of the executive mansion heard the secretary of the Democratic National Convention at Houston announce over the radio the switch of Ohio votes that assured him his party nomination for president. It was a typical Al Smith expression.

Seated in his home before his radio set, surrounded only by his friends, the Governor seemed like a boy as the news came, punctuating the radio announcements with puns and Smithesque remarks. Then he was cheered by neighbors and greeted by hundreds who called him "Al," in an amazing demonstration which shattered the early morning quiet of this old Dutch city.

Issues Statement

"There it is," said Al Smith, the man. Here is what Alfred E. Smith, Governor of New York, presidential candidate of the Democratic party, gave out as his official statement.

"My nomination on the first ballot fills me with joy and satisfaction that I know is shared by my family and friends. My heart is where my palate ought to be."

This was addressed to a milling, shouting, almost delirious crowd of a thousand men and women who swarmed over the lawns of the executive mansion and crowded up to the very front steps of the home of the New York Governor.

"The returns in the news from Texas indicated that New York State, myself, my family and all my friends are greatly honored by the confidence placed in me by an overwhelming majority of the delegates. Here in Albany, as I am now, surrounded by friends and neighbors, the only thing I can say is what I just told the newspapermen, that I am overwhelmed by the news and my heart is up where my palate ought to be."

Greeted by Creers

A wild shout greeted him, as scores pushed forward trying to shake his hand. For several minutes he stood there, then finally:

"I'll bid you all good night. I'll see you tomorrow. The next day and all of the summer."

All through the whole eventful evening was plainly evident the pride of the "Happy Warrior" in this accomplishment to be shared in by his family. All but two of his own family were at Houston. With him last night were Walter, his 17-year old boy, who sat in another part of the house, abashed by the turn of events, and Emily, his elder daughter, now Mrs. John A. Warner, wife of the superintendent of state police. She sat right by his side every minute of the evening.

Two Survivors Of Battery At Reunion Event

David Needler And John Craig Are Only Members Of Battery B At Gathering

CROWD OF FRIENDS AT AFFAIR, HOWEVER

Notable Program Is Carried Out At Mt. Jackson School On Thursday

Thursday was a day of memories and sentiment for Mt. Jackson. It was the annual reunion of Battery B, the famous old battery of field artillery that went out from Mt. Jackson in 1861 and in honor of those lads who composed this military unit, the citizens of Mt. Jackson and many from surrounding points gather each year to keep fresh the memory of it.

Only two members of the battery were present in the flesh, David Needler, of Edenburg, and John Craig of Mt. Jackson, but their comrades who have gone on were present also, present in spirit and their presence was felt just as truly as though they had been there to participate.

Dinner at Noon

Battery B reunions are always preceded by an old fashioned country dinner and the one on Thursday was held in the Knights of Pythias hall. Just saying it was a country dinner is enough explanation for this means plenty of everything. Following the dinner little groups gathered around the hall, on the street and at North Beaver Township High School where the reunion program was held, and old scenes were lived over again.

The reunion program opened with an overture by the North Beaver Township High School orchestra directed by Prof. W. H. McCullough. W. S. Caskey acted as general chairman of the day, and asked Rev. Henderson to pronounce the invocation. Three addresses were made, one by Rev. A. J. Randles of the Second United Presbyterian church of New Castle, one by Rev. George N. Neil of Bethel U P church and one by Captain Frank Hill of the Sons of Veterans.

Rev. Randles spoke on the morals and traditions of this nation which had been kept alive by the sacrifice of the Boys of '61. He paid a splendid tribute to the men who had gone and the men who were still able to enjoy these reunions in person. The address of Rev. Randles was the principal one of the day.

Rev. Neil, who is a veteran of the World War spoke of the hospitaliza-

Senator Norris Doesn't Approve Dem Platform

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Norris (R.) of Nebraska, assailed the Democratic party's national platform today, declaring that it is "remarkable for what it avoids rather than what it says."

"Like its Republican predecessor at Kansas City it is silent on the sinister and deceitful activities of the water power trust" Norris said.

Despite his severe criticism of the platforms of both major parties Norris admitted that for practical purposes a "third party is an impossibility."

Democrats Promise Enforcement Of Law In Party Platform

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Democracy's hosts went forth to battle today under a platform standard calling for strict enforcement of the 18th amendment, promising agriculture equality with industry and attacking Republican corruption.

These were the major planks in the 1928 platform which was adopted in a virtual love feast on the convention floor after the prohibition row had been smoothed over in the resolutions committee.

The prohibition declaration, couched in words somewhat similar to those used by the Republicans at Kansas City, said:

"This convention pledges the party and its nominess to an honest effort to enforce the 18th amendment and all other provisions of the federal constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto."

Republican Denunciation.

Coupled with the pledge was a denunciation of the Republican party in these words:

"The Republican party, for eight years in complete control of the government at Washington, presents the remarkable spectacle of feeling compelled in its national platform to promise obedience to a provision of the federal constitution which it has flagrantly disregarded and to apologize to the country for its failure to enforce laws enacted by the congress of the United States."

Both wet and dry leaders described the plank as satisfactory and friends of Gov. Al Smith, the party nominee, said it would not embarrass the New Yorker's views favoring liberalization of the Volstead act. Senator Glass of

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—The Democratic ticket is to be "Smith and Robinson."

Although Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the new standard bearer of democracy, has no personal choice for a running mate, the swift moving organization which won him the Democratic presidential nomination today planned to give second place nonors to Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas. The program called for Robinson's nomination on the first ballot.

Governor Smith was reached by his lieutenants on the long distance telephone early this morning and asked whether he had a preference for the vice presidential nomination. The governor was said to have replied that any good Democrat named by the convention was acceptable to him. He told his lieutenants to put the decision up to the convention itself.

Prefer Robinson.

The Smith organization here, however, has a preference for Robinson, Democratic floor leader in the senate since 1922. The New York and Illinois delegations, which have been the backbone of the Smith organization, will be thrown to Robinson and there appeared no doubt but that a sufficient number of delegations would climb aboard the band wagon to nominate Robinson on the first ballot.

There remained some talk of "drafting" Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri, but his friends declare he had effectively "spiked" the boom by making a personal appearance before the convention. The Reed managers announced that the Missourian was not and would not be a candidate for the vice presidential nomination and that he had asked the Missouri delegation not to put his name before the convention, an act he would not have done had he been a candidate. Seven Nurses Are Graduated

Shenango Valley Hospital Commencement Exercises Thursday Night

ADDRESSES ARE FINE TRIBUTE TO NURSES

Before some 200 relatives and friends, seven members of the 1928 class of the Shenango Valley training school for nurses, their lives dedicated to the service of humanity, received diplomas and authorized state graduate nurse medals at the graduation exercises which took place Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian association. In the absence of the Hon. George T. Weingartner, J. P. Lockhart presented the nurses with their diplomas and Miss Lydia A. MacKinney pinned the medals on the graduates.

Members of Class.

The seven young ladies who were graduated are Miss Cecil P. Cline, Miss Margaret E. Laurel, Miss Margaret G. Chase, Miss Agnes B. Kendall, Miss Charlotte B. Burgess and Miss Louise V. Suder, all of New Castle, and Henrietta J. Eakin of Butler.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the processional started. First came the Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church and the speaker of the evening, followed by the Rev. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, Attorney J. P. Lockhart and Dr. W. C. Burchfield. In turn they were followed by the present nursing staff of the hospital and the students. Last of all, led by Miss Lydia A. MacKinney, the graduates entered the auditorium and were escorted to the platform. The Rev. Irvine then gave the invocation.

In explaining his presence on the platform, Mr. Lockhart declared that he had been asked to officiate in the absence of Mr. Weingartner, who, because of injuries received a short time ago, could not be present. He then introduced Mrs. Fred S. Emery, who played a violin solo.

Democratic Convention Selects Senator Robinson On First Ballot

CONVENTION IS NEAR TO FINISH

Many Favorite Sons Are Placed Before Convention For Vice President

(Bulletin)
(International News Service)

SAM HOUSTON HALL, HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York and Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas.

The Democratic National Convention completed this 1928 presidential ticket here with a whoop early this afternoon and a short time later concluded its labors.

The nomination of the Arkansas leader, like that of Smith last night, was never in doubt from the moment the roll call of states was started.

Senator Robinson was nominated on the first ballot by a large majority. While votes were cast for favorite sons in several states, the outcome was indicated early in the balloting, and Senator Robinson's selection was by a wide margin.

Senator Robinson received 10/2½ votes on the first ballot.

SAM HOUSTON HALL, HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—It looked like Smith and Robinson as the Democrats returned to Sam Houston's big pine tabernacle today to complete the work of their convention by nominating a runningmate for the New York governor.

The leaders asserted there had been no "word" from Governor Smith, but they also asserted that Robinson's selection would be "entirely acceptable" to the New York governor. With the big delegations for him and his senatorial colleagues working in his behalf in a dozen state delegations outside the big ones, it looked to be pretty well over.

Senator Robinson absented himself from the chairmanship of the convention and it was called to order by Franklin D. Roosevelt, the nominator of Smith and his floor manager, emphasizing that this is a Smith convention.

It was 10:17 when the gavel fell and the sergeants-at-arms began herding the delegates into their seats. Conferences were in progress all over the floor. Late comers were anxiously inquiring from the leaders, "Who is it?" and the answer invariably was "Robinson".

At 10:30 the "Star Spangled Banner" brought everybody to attention, and order was secured immediately thereafter.

The invocation was pronounced by Rabbi Eli Beckman of Houston, completing the circle of all faiths and sects that have asked divinity's blessings on Democracy's labors here.

Roosevelt then turned over the gavel to Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and the popular Mississippian got a cheer as he took it over.

"The first thing," said "Pat," grinning broadly, "will be a solo."

Its all very well for some rain now and then, we need it as you'll agree, but here's a reunion that's planned today, and its raining and seventy-three. But June will pass in a few more days, and with her the rainy sky, and then we can welcome the month of heat, we're pulling for you, July.

City Police Officer Enters Union Township And Effects Compromise

There was some excitement yesterday afternoon in Union township just outside the city in the vicinity of Round street and it took the assistance of members of the city police force to quiet it.

A call was received at the police station to the effect that there was a man armed with a double barreled shotgun, who was threatening the lives of some men working on the road in that section and protection was asked.

Detective John Young and others of the city police department and on their arrival, found an irate property owner armed with the aforesaid gun, which on investigation they found to be muzzle loading and of the vintage of 1821, also unloaded and very rusty, preventing the road supervisor and his men from working the road in front of his property.

He knew the officers and they knew him and after a little pursuasion he left his point of vantage remarking "Well I had them bluffed for a time."

His objection was that the road workers in doing some grading were causing dirt from his property to loosen and fall and were damaging his property.

One of the old-timers at the firemen's ball in the Scottish Rite Cathedral last night recalled how times have changed. He recalled how many years ago that the firemen's ball was the social event of the year, and how, in order that he might be right up to snuff, the gentleman would hire a cab and go to his lady friend's home, get her in the cab and away they would go to the ball. In those days the cabby didn't take up the street space by parking on the highways and byways near the dance hall, but would return to the stable, returning later, and at the required hour, to take the lady and gentleman home. Nowadays it's different. They come in their cars, occupy the streets as long as they want to and go home when they want to.

wilderment for some time, a consultation of some of the wiseacres resulted in an appeal to the dictionary.

"Geodetic", Webster informed them, pertained to Geodesy. This didn't seem to throw any bright or shining light on the six trucks in the old fair grounds or the carload of iron on the siding.

Then "Geodesy" was found. "Geodesy", said Webster, is that branch of applied mathematics which determines, by observations and measurements, the exact positions of points and the figures and areas of large portions of the earth's surface, or the shape and size of the earth and the variations of terrestial gravity; also that branch of surveying that takes account of the curvature of the earth, as in the survey of states or of long lines of coast."

Of course, this lucid explanation of Webster made the matter all as clear as mud. There was no longer any mystery about the six trucks and the carload of iron on the siding. It was for the Geodetic Service.

Still, there are a few citizens of Pulaski who are anxious to see what kind of a "gol-derned" contraption the Geodetic Service is going to set up to elucidate the mysteries of Geodesy.

It is understood that the old fair grounds has been leased for the purpose, but everything had been kept quiet until the big trucks arrived.

SEVEN NURSES ARE GRADUATED

ed, and this evening you will be elected to the honored position of ministering to the ill and injured," were the words with which the Rev. Copeland opened his address. "It is a great thing to be able to say, with Christ, that your life is dedicated to doing good.

"You are now joining a group of people who devote their lives to the relief of the sick and the suffering, and I am sure that the people here assembled all come with congratulations for you.

"Jesus ministered to those in need; you have caught His spirit; you are anxious to relieve suffering. This evening you enter on the great task of service to the world. Along with Him you can say, 'For this cause came I into the world: to show mercy.' Many times you will be called upon to show this mercy. We are sure that you will not fail."

Life of Sacrifice.

The Rev. Copeland went on to say that real queenly womanhood and royal manhood are never as splendid as when they are ministering to others. A nurse, he said, should see the needs, and have the sympathy to meet those needs.

"The world is hungry for the people who extend sympathy to those who need it most and in the hours when the needy appreciate it most. You are fortunate. You can give courage in times of suffering."

Then he explained that the nurses had come to live a life of sacrifice, and that through that life of sacrifice they can render a real service to the world. He then rehearsed some of the great sacrifices made by individuals so that medical science could be advanced.

"I congratulate you on the completion of your course and your resolution to dedicate your lives to humanity," the Rev. Copeland concluded. "You emulate the spirit of Him who went about doing good."

At the conclusion of Rev. Copeland's address, Sam Lewis sang two solos, "Little Mother of Mine" and "Unto My Friend."

Dr. Burchfield Speaks.

"Every hospital has a staff of physicians, and I believe that the public fails to appreciate the long hours of free service that these doctors give to those who are unable to pay," stated Mr. Lockhart in introducing Dr. W. C. Burchfield.

"The present speaker is willing to give, like the others, without hope of compensation."

Dr. Burchfield then gave the six essential qualities which go to make up a good nurse, mentioning manual skill, leadership, persistence, kindness and intuition.

"I feel that these seven ladies have acquired these qualities," he asserted, "and I congratulate each and every one of you. May success ever follow."

"All, I am sure, are delighted and impressed with the address of the Rev. Copeland," stated Mr. Lockhart in beginning his presentation speech, "and it is quite fitting that service was stressed.

"In behalf of the nurses I speak: they who have entered on a life of service. It is true that many doors will be closed to them while their profession will open many others. We as citizens should make the task of a nurse a little lighter: we should show more consideration than we have done in the past. We who get the service should show something for it.

Now 127 Graduates

"The first class of nurses was sent out from the Shenango Valley hospital in 1898 and every year since then, other classes have been graduated. Including the 1928 class, there are now 127 nurses who have left the hospital to serve. Tonight we are here to pay our respects to the 21st graduating class of the Shenango Valley hospital training school for nurses.

"It is a larger class than usual: in fact, it is the largest class that has been graduated in some time.

"We are proud of our graduates, as we have always been. We know that they are well trained and well fitted to enter upon their life's work."

Mr. Lockhart then called the name of each graduate, who stood up and Miss MacKinney pinned the graduate nurse's medal on their collars.

Mr. Lockhart then presented the diplomas, saying: "In behalf of the board of directors and the staff of the Shenango Valley hospital, I hand you this diploma as evidence that you have completed the course of training and that you will enter the profession fully conscious of your task."

The audience remained seated as the graduates filed out of the auditorium, followed by the staff and student nurses. Immediately after the exercises a reception was held in the parlor of the building for the graduating class.

Throughout the evening, the Emery orchestra, directed by Mrs. Fred S. Emery, played several selections.

SMITH-ROBINSON LOOMS AS TICKET FOR DEMOCRATS

wishes will be respected, it was understood.

A large number of favorite son candidates for second place honors undoubtedly will be put before the convention. The only formidable campaign was being conducted by friends of Sen. Allen W. Barkley of Kentucky, but it appeared hopeless in view of the apparently overwhelming sentiment for Robinson. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming, also has some support in western states, but it was only of a complimentary nature.

Scars Are Healed.

It was understood that Sen. Sam G. Britton of New Mexico would place Robinson's name in nomination and it would be seconded by prominent Democratic leaders in the east, south and corn belt. The Robinson candidacy apparently appealed to the convention generally, because of his record as a "dry, Protestant, friendly to the farmer," the only test placed upon the vice presidential nominee by the Smith organization. Robinson voted for the McNary-Haugen bill and thereby answered the farm relief test.

The selection of Robinson by the Smith organization also was a gesture on friendliness to the followers of the late Woodrow Wilson. The senate leader was a staunch supporter of the war time president and his personal friend. Likewise, the Smith lieutenants believed they were burying the scars of Madison Square Garden by supporting Robinson inasmuch as he is geographically a southerner.

Deaths Of The Day

Mrs. Hammond Buried.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Fred Hammond of East Washington street took place Thursday afternoon at 1:30 from Kelley's chapel, 347 East Washington street. Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third U. P. church, officiated, assisted by the Ladies Orange lodge. The pallbearers were Mrs. Blanche Lewis, Mrs. Marie Pence, Mrs. Margaret Shaner, Mrs. Tillie Remley and Julia and Maude Miller. Interment was made in New Port cemetery.

Findley Kendall.

Findley Kendall, aged 49 years of near East Brook died Thursday in the Shenango Valley hospital after an extended illness.

Mr. Kendall was born in McConnellsburg, Pa., February 5, 1879. Besides his widow, Ethel Wilson Kendall he leaves the following children: Mrs. Dorothy Smith of Warren, O., Agnes, Raymond, Elizabeth, George, Howard, Eugene, Sara, Walter, Margaret, Virginia and Thelma at home.

Mr. Kendall was a resident of Lawrence County for twenty five years. He was a member of the East Brook United Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, June 30, at 2 p. m., from his late home. Interment will be made in Graceland cemetery.

tion work which had been carried on in every war and speaking as a veteran of one war to the veterans of a previous war thanked the Civil War men for the foundation of patriotism they had laid for the men who went out in 1917 and 1918.

Member of State Council

Captain Frank W. Hill, a member of the State Council of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War and the only known member of that organization who is a descendant of a member of Battery B recited the "Heritage of the Grand Army of the Republic." He also spoke at some length upon what the Sons of Veterans are doing to keep green the memory of the men of the Civil War. He is the adjutant of the local post of the Sons of Veterans.

In behalf of Mrs. Mary McClelland Winter, John G. Nothdurft presented to the people of Mt. Jackson, the picture of Captain William McClelland, his epaulets, two swords, belt, cap, sash and cape.

Mrs. Winter, who is 88 years of age and a guest in the Almira Home wanted the people of Mt. Jackson to have the relics which have been so dear to her. She recalls the day when her brother, with James A. Gardner marched away with Battery B, how they went to Enon Valley to entrain for Pittsburgh and thence to Camp Wright and of the anxious hearts here at home while the war was on. Captain McClelland was later adjutant-general of Pennsylvania under Governor Pattison. Mr. Nothdurft was introduced by William S. McGinnis.

Charles F. Ball, speaking in behalf of the Haney Furniture Company presented four chairs, one each for the survivors of Battery B in this county, David Needler, George Pitzer, Wilson McCluskey and John Craig. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Hamill of the Mt. Jackson U. P. church.

For this annual occasion the auditorium of the North Beaver Township High School was decorated profusely with flowers and flags, and the seating capacity of the auditorium was nearly full.

Special patriotic music was furnished by the school orchestra. Two guests from a distance who were present were Col. Maxwell of Grove City, who was the colonel of the Roundheads, and Robert Fulton of Indiana, Pa., who was with the 148th Infantry.

The veterans of the Civil War, who are residents of Lawrence County and who were present Thursday follow:

David Needler, Battery B, John Craig, Battery B, J. D. Patterson, 5th Heavy Field Artillery, C. B. Hamilton, 139th Infantry, H. G. Sharpe, 100th Regiment, R. H. Wilson, 5th Heavy Field Artillery, S. W. Davis, 109th Infantry, Philip Wagner, 100th Regiment. Frank E. Cunningham, 5th Ohio Cavalry, David Clark, 6th Independents, Homer F. Fenton, 1st Penna. Artillery, A. R. Kerr, 100th Regiment, Thomas B. Wilson, 5th Heavy Field Artillery, R. H. Wilson, 5th Heavy Field Artillery, A. R. Houston, 191st Infantry, Edward Ayers, 78th Infantry, W. F. Additional Ships Join Arctic Hunt For Lost Flier

Three More Ships To Scour Vast Arctic Wastes For Nobile Crew And Amundsen

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 29.—With five ships, including two warships, searching for the missing members of the Nobile expedition and the lost Amundsen relief party, three more are expected to join the hunt within a few days. They are the Norwegian ice breaker Veslekari, the steamship Hobby and the French warcraft Luxembourg.

Advices from King's Bay and Virgo Bay, Spitzbergen, said that no trace has been found of the missing men.

Weather conditions have improved off the northern coast of Spitzbergen and Northeast Land and it is expected that Major Maddelena and Major Penzo will soon hop off in their Italian seaplanes to search for the lost men. Gen. Umberto Nobile has been given permission by the Italian government to accompany them and and them in their quest.

Fears are growing both here and at King's Bay that the nine missing members of the Nobile expedition and the Amundsen party have lost their lives. However, the search for them will continue indefinitely.

Fruit Bears Markings W, F, And C, Which Do Not Mean A Thing Now

(International News Service)

DONORA, Pa., June 29.—Hens owned by Mrs. Fosta Healy of Gallatin recently laid three eggs bearing the marking of the letters W, F and C, respectively. Local wiseacres interpreted the last letter as meaning that President Coolidge would be renominated, but after the Republican convention Mrs. Healy said she believed the letters didn't mean a thing.

Let Konjola Build You Up!

World's Champion Coffee Drinker Says This New Medicine Brings Life Energy to His Whole Body.

NOT a paid indorsement!

"To the makers of Konjola:—

My system consumes a vast amount of caffeine, contained in coffee, so at least four weeks of each year I have selected Konjola to rebuild my system. This remarkable remedy was a great assistance to me in establishing the world's record of 280 eight-ounce cups of coffee in four and one-half hours, and 80 cups in one hour. I held this unique title in 1926 and 1927. In the first five months of 1928 I consumed 8,665 cups of coffee.

I am strongly recommending Konjola because this medicine brings life energy to my whole body. I have toured the world and frankly admit that one of the greatest reasons I can continue in my profession is due to the benefits derived from Konjola."

(Signed) Albert A. Baker.
(World's Champion Coffee Drinker)
1227 Prospect Ave.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

Konjola contains juices from twenty-two plants and herbs. It builds the inner-system and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to better activity. It produces new feelings of health over your body in general. Your nerves become stronger. Back pains disappear. Constipation vanishes. Your skin clears up and you will notice a keen appetite and enjoy deep, restful sleep. Konjola was first introduced a few years ago and this new medicine has already received testimonials from 7,000 American people—NOT one of them a paid indorsement.

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is personally introducing Konjola and explaining the merits of this remedy. Vast crowds are calling daily. Everyone is invited.

MISS DOROTHEA DAVIS WEDS HOWARD GILMORE

One of the most beautiful weddings solemnized during the summer took place Thursday at one o'clock, when Miss Dorothea Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis of the Mt. Jackson-Bessemer road, became the bride of Howard Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gilmore of 231 East Lincoln avenue, this city.

The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of roses and ferns at the bride's home, in the presence of about 50 guests. Rev. Ross M. Haverfield, pastor of Westfield Presbyterian church, officiated with the ring ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white crepe trimmed with lace and veil of white tulle. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her bridesmaid, Miss Frances Fullerton, wore yellow chiffon and carried an arm bouquet of roses. Lawrence Douglass served as best man.

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. J. I. Gilmore of Youngstown, an aunt of the groom. Preceding the ceremony R. E. Johns of this city sang "O Promise Me". At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. Johns sang "I Love You Truly" and "Into the Dusk With You". During the congratulatory period Mrs. Gilmore played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in the bride's home at beautifully appointed tables. Covers were laid for the immediate families of the bride and groom. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride and groom.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore left for a wedding trip to Mackinaw Isle, Mich. On their return home they will reside on the Mt. Jackson-Bessemer road.

Mrs. Gilmore is a graduate of the New Castle high school and the Oberlin kindergarten training school. For the past three years she has been an instructor in the public schools at Struthers, O.

Mr. Gilmore is a graduate of the Youngstown Institute of Technology. He is associated in business with his father in this city.

CLASS REUNION IS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Members of the Willing Workers Class of the Second U. P. church, taught by Mrs. Charles E. Book, had a most enjoyable reunion at Cascade Park, Thursday evening, for all members affiliated with the class since its organization. The table was beautifully decorated with roses and pansies.

An elaborate picnic dinner was served at 7 o'clock, with covers arranged for 32 guests.

Mrs. Book gave a short talk, and was later presented with an album containing snapshots of each of the members.

Trinity Chapter.

Trinity chapter of the Jameson Memorial Sewing society of Trinity church met Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the guild room with Mrs. James Ward Reis presiding and Mrs. Robert McConaghy, secretary pro tem.

Mrs. Samuel W. Perry gave an interesting talk on work being done and outlined present needs.

Nominations for chairmen of the sewing committee resulted in the election of Mrs. V. H. Diefender with Mrs. Allen W. Urmson assisting. Miss Florence Henderson was named secretary and treasurer and Mrs. F. L. Porter assisting.

Miss Mary VanDivort reported on work being done by members of the Trinity church school. It was planned to meet Friday, July 6, from 10 to 4 o'clock for sewing. All interested are invited to attend.

Golf Luncheon.

Mrs. W. W. Horner and Mrs. R. E. Long were hostesses at the weekly golf luncheon at the New Castle Field club Thursday. Luncheon was served for 20 at 1 o'clock.

Golf prizes were awarded Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. R. E. Long and Miss Clara Hartsuff.

The hostesses for next week will be announced later.

HAVE RECEPTION FOR REV. AND MRS. THOMAS

Congregation of Primitive Methodist church, South Mill street, honored Rev. and Mrs. Evan Thomas whose marriage was an event of this month at a reception Thursday evening at the church.

There was a large number of friends present. An attractive program was carried out with C. R. Ashton as general chairman. Following a hymn by the congregation and prayer by William Dampier, Sr., an anthem was given by the choir. James McKenzie brought greetings from the choir of which Mrs. Thomas was a former member and presented Mr. and Mrs. Thomas with a gift.

Miss Mildred George extended greetings from the Young Peoples' Society and Mrs. Joseph McKenzie spoke in behalf of the Sunday School.

William Dampier spoke in behalf of the congregation and presented the honored couple with a purse of money. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas responded in a gracious manner. Music by a quartet was well received. The program concluded with the benediction by the pastor of the church, Rev. H. J. Buckingham after which there was a congratulatory period.

Rev. Thomas has accepted a call to the Primitive Methodist church in Youngstown.

POST GRADUATE CLASS HAS PICNIC AT PARK

Covers were laid for 57 when the Post Graduate Class of the First M. E. church had a picnic dinner at Cascade Park, Thursday evening. The tables were decorated with garden flowers and dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

The evening was spent with park amusements.

The committee was composed of Miss Susanna Wendt, Mrs. David Bollard and Miss Jean Rummel.

West Way Club.

Mrs. Florence Hunt and Mrs. Jeannette Jones were joint hostesses to the West Way club in the former's home on West Grant street Thursday evening. After the business meeting a social time was enjoyed. At a seasonable hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, during which time Mrs. Bessie McGonigle presented Mrs. Jones with a lovely gift in behalf of the West Way club as a token of their appreciation for her good work and loyal support as a member of the West Way club of the W. B. A. No. 89. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones are leaving the first day of July to spend the summer with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones of Duluth, Minn.

Next regular meeting of the club will be July 26 at the home of Mrs. Bessie McGonigle, N. Jefferson street.

McCann-Owrey Wedding

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Geraldine McCann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCann of Katherine street, and William Owrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owrey of Bell avenue, which took place Thursday at noon in the People's Mission, Sampson street, with Rev. Arthur Petrie of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church of Pittsburgh officiating.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Margaret Owrey, sister of the groom, and George McCann, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the immediate families of the contracting parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Owrey will be at home to their friends at their residence on Walnut street.

Honored At Dinner

Mrs. David Nelson, Park avenue, entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner, on Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Leonard Peterson of Orlando, Florida, Mrs. Norman Taylor and daughters Betty Lou and Natalie of Stoneboro. Garden flowers were used attractively in decoration.

After dinner hours were spent socially.

June Stunt Night At Field Club Proves Notable Success

Some day some committee will present a better night's entertainment than the one of Thursday night in the New Castle Field Club, but it won't be very soon. Any entertainment that can pack the Field Club living room to the rafters, and "keep 'em laughing" all the time is a success and judging it by this standard the June Stunt Night party was an unusual success.

All of the entertainment was recruited from among the membership. Drama, comedy, music and acrobatics, pictures and stage hands, all from the club, and if there was one present who didn't get his money's worth, he is invited to call the chairman, Jack McIlwraith.

Vaudeville and Things

It was a vaudeville show, and yet it smacked of the revue. From curtain to curtain the crowd roared at the comedy, appreciated the more serious work, and expressed its appreciation in applause that nearly shook the deer head off the wall.

The first act was billed as "The Servant Question." This act was made up of five young ladies, all of whom had had experience back of the footlights and their act should be kept together. Seriously, it was funny. It takes real art to bring laughs and these ladies did it. The scene was a local household in which the lady of the house was looking for a servant and the applicants for the job supplied the comedy. Mrs. Albert B. Street had the part of the housewife and the applicants for the job were Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. E. F. G. Harper, Mrs. J. Norman Martin and Mrs. Samuel W. Perry.

The next skit was billed at "Fate." A poor little girl is about to commit suicide because she had not been able to get an audition before an impresario. Just as she is about to fire the fatal shot, Gaddi-Gatatza appears on the scene. She recites the sad story of her life and he agrees to hear her. As she begins her warbling he helps her to the fate she had tried to bring about. Miss Evelyn Pearson was the "poor little girl" and Thomas W. Dickey represented Gaddi-Gatatza.

Dr. W. A. Womer appeared third on the bill and sang a short program of classical and semi-classical numbers. He was accompanied by Paul Browne Patterson and this act served as the one serious number of an evening's fun.

Oh Doctor

If you saw Charlot's Revue a couple of years ago you will recall the scene in which the actors went through their lines twice, once in a whisper and once in a loud tone of voice. It was a sick room scene and the players in Charlot's Revue were little better than the ones of Thursday evening. The patient was George Trainor. The doctor was Dr. Paul Wilson, the nurse was Miss Jessie Ray, and the wife was Mrs. Jonothan Higgins. This act was followed by Bart Richards who presented some parodies, accompanied by Miss Helen Weingartner at the piano.

The last act of this all-star bill was a tight rope walking act presented by Madame Fallofski, who resembled Jimmy Hinish somewhat and his able assistant, Miss Dorothy Seavy. Madame Fallofski did some wire walking that had the spectators on the edge of their chairs.

The Passe News reel followed in which Jack McIlwraith showed two reels of views around the Field Club. In addition to being the motion picture operator, Mr. McIlwraith was the chairman of the committee in charge of the night, did about 99 per cent of the work of arranging the acts, was stage manager, property man, and business manager. By this you might imagine that he was the power behind the throne. He was, with his wife assisting him. The stage was erected through the courtesy of Maurice A. McLure. The weekly dance followed the vaudeville.

It was a program of merit, and will be a mark for the July committee to shoot at.

FAREWELL DINNER IN KNAUBER HOME

Honoring Norman Nelson who leaves soon for New York City to study at Columbia University, Mrs. William Knauber, Park avenue, entertained at a dinner-bridge in her home, Thursday evening. Summer flowers and patriotic suggestions were used in decoration and covers were laid for eight.

BLIND PARTISANSHIP IN THE KEYNOTE SPEECH

WHOM the gods would destroy they first make mad! If Claude Bowers' address before the Democratic national convention be accepted as the keynote of the coming campaign, the party might as well shut up shop. Their fight will be lost before it is started. Pat Harrison made a somewhat similar "keynote speech" four years ago, and it was followed by the election of Calvin Coolidge by a plurality of six or seven million votes. The tirade by Claude Bowers is shriller and even more hysterical and should naturally be more disastrous for the party he aims to serve.

From a literary point of view and as entertainment it is all that could be desired. As the official pronouncement of a great political organization seeking the support of the American people it does not deserve serious consideration. The idea is simple enough. It is that all the sinners are Republicans and all the saints are Democrats. Mr. Bowers makes no exceptions. Even President Coolidge does not escape a verbal castigation. And that monster, Secretary Mellon, is a wicked giant in the castle of privilege, representing only five per cent of the people.

Here and there in the speech we note evidences of a desire to outdo the late lamented William Jennings Bryan as a maker of meaningless phrases. Thus Mr. Bowers demands that "the hand of privilege be taken out of the farmer's pocket and off the farmer's throat." It brings up memories of the old "cross of gold" speech because it is such utter nonsense.

Again, he speaks of Republicans as Hamiltonians and as desiring to make of the government "a temple of gold resting on the bowed backs of peasants in other peoples' fields." As if that were not enough, he tells us that the farmers are being used as a "doormat" in front of the "Temple of Privilege."

But it is when he comes to speak of the Coolidge administration that he is at his delicious best. It is to Woodrow Wilson that we owe all that we have. Most of us were under the impression that Mr. Coolidge had cut out extravagance and brought about several reductions in taxes. But the young orator will not have it that way. To him it has all been "mythical prosperity, mythical economy, mythical facts, mythical figures and mythical men. The last eight years will be treated by the historian of the future as the mythical age of the American history."

Well, there is nothing mythical about the Bowers speech which sent the delegates at Houston into transports of delight. It is pure, unadulterated bunkum. We have had bombastic speechmaking in the halls of congress, but the worst of it would not compare in demagogism with the "keynote speech" of the Democratic national convention.

The curious part of it is that the whole tone of the address seems to be out of harmony with the stand which Governor Smith himself has taken. In a letter to the chairman of the Jackson Day dinner in Washington he said: "The Democratic party deserves success in the nation, but, in my opinion, cannot attain it by relying wholly upon the mistakes of its adversaries. There is too great a tendency to speak of the evils that beset us and to fail to suggest any specific remedy."

Oratorically speaking, Mr. Bowers is about fifty years behind the time. His style of speechmaking went out of vogue with ox roasts and torchlight processions. It may go in the backwoods, but it is a fatal mistake to offer it to reasoning men and women. Governor Smith cannot succeed unless he wins over millions of persons who voted for President Coolidge four years ago. Can they be won by denunciation and invective? We doubt it.

Last, but by no means least, Mr. Bowers has done great harm to his own reputation as a supposedly fairminded interpreter of events. He was hailed on all sides as an inspired prophet of his party. He proved to be only a false alarm.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

A DOZEN years or more before the World War a New York straw hat would attract a curious stare from London street crowds. But there came a time when midsummer London itself suddenly discarded unseasonable "bowlers" and "top-hats," adopting the straw headgear, which was characteristically described in English shop windows of the day as "gents' boaters." London streets in 1914 presented as unvarying a picture of straw-topped citizens as if the scene had been any American city in baseball weather.

Once more the pendulum has reversed its motion and again London streets show few straw hats, the few being worn by tourists. Today the Londoner wears a felt hat during the hot months, sometimes relieving himself of its oppressive discomfort by hanging it on a flat hook made for the purpose and inconspicuously attached to the lapel of his vest.

Why the straw hat has lost favor with the English, while it steadily gains favor with Americans, is a mystery. It may be a consequence of the war itself or of post-war reconstruction. More probably it is because of London's rains, damp fogs and ruinous smoke and soot. Straw headgear is frankly disreputable in decay, and decay is not long deferred in London. And then there is the Englishman's traditional love for old-time institutions and dislike at innovation—sentiments which have been held to explain reversions to other ancient and uncomfortable customs, after an experiment with something new.

There are some customs and traditions which still enslave American masculinity, such as arbitrary dates for resurrecting and discarding straw headgear, but whatever the vogue or mode the American believes in keeping his brow cool with a straw hat.

The earth is patient and long-suffering and only at rare intervals makes an effort to shake us off.

Hints and Dints

A West Side woman drove down to her husband's place of business and found him waiting on customers. After waiting for some time she stepped on the gas and remarked: "I'll go home and get him on the telephone, and I'll bet he listens to me!"

One of our postal card critics declares we do not tell enough truth in this column. Well, all we have to say is that we want to have people read it, and if we had too much truth in it they would pass it up.

"Man aged 20 wants work", reads an ad. If he had been 45 or 50 the ad. should have read: "Young man, strong and active, wants work".

SAYS SOME NICE THINGS

Last week Royal W. Weiler, president of the Allentown Morning Call, attended a Masonic meeting in this city. We sent him copies of The News containing accounts of the meeting. We received the following letter from him. He evidently does not wait to say nice things about people until they die.

Allentown, Pa., June 26, 1928.
Mr. Fred L. Rentz, President
New Castle News
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Friend Mr. Rentz:

Just to acknowledge receipt with many thanks of copies of the Friday and Saturday issues of The News. I cannot help but compliment you on the very good paper you are giving the folks of New Castle and vicinity. You are truly producing a big city paper in a small city. You are to be heartily praised and the folks of New Castle are to be highly complimented on the splendid paper they are enjoying and very evidently supporting. May all that your "big" heart desires be yours for many, many more years to come is the sincere wish of your contemporary,

ROYAL W. WEILER.

Mr. Hoover will not be officially told that he had been nominated for President until the latter part of July. He no doubt will be terribly surprised when the committee tells him. Just think of the lambasting he will get from the Democrats before he even is told he is nominated. The Democrats know he is nominated now sure.

UNWELCOME GUESTS

Folks now are cutting down the weeds,
Which will prevent the spread of seeds;
Wild weeds which dearly love to grow,
And Autumn winds the seeds will blow.

The weeds grow faster than the corn,
They drink the dew at night and morn,
They treasure sunshine in each stalk,
And all man's riddance efforts mock.

FOREST B.

A motorcycle was sold in Butler because it had been used in transporting liquor. We wonder where likker would be carried in a bus like a motorcycle. It would not be safe to carry it inwardly or outwardly on a contraption like that. And it wasn't safe because the rider got pinched.

Two handsome bank buildings will soon be opened to the public in New Castle. The new News building was the cause of a lot of more modern building in this city, and we are glad we have been the pioneers along this line of more beautiful buildings in New Castle. No bricks, please, as only a poor working man was at the head of building The News building.

They had a chaplain and prayers and everything at the Democratic convention. Especially "everything".

Not long ago we attended a meeting which was opened with a very impressive invocation and the first song that was sung was "I had a little drink about an hour ago and it went right to my head". Some years ago we also attended a banquet that was opened with prayer and there were cocktails on the table. Oh, wham, de doodle, de doodle, wham!

Every now and then we hear someone say the state ought to make laws that regulate the sale of likker and other things. Well, the states made the law that brought the Volstead act. And by the same token only the states can repeal that act. However, before prohibition only about one-fourth of the states were wet and it is a safe bet that the other three-fourths are still dry and the repeal of the 18th amendment will never take place. States have a say in the important amendments that are made into laws in this country.

Little Freddie Rentz, who calls us "Grandpap", who is now in southern California, picked some lemons from a tree and he was tickled. We have picked a lot of lemons that didn't tickle us in the East and they sure are plentiful here now. Picking tropical fruits for the first time right from the tree is quite a sensation.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

Not, how did he die,
but, how did he live?
Not, what did he gain,
but, what did he give?
These are units to measure the worth of a man as a man, regardless of birth.
Not, what was his station,
but, had he a heart,
And how did he play his God-given part?
Not, what did the sketch in the newspaper say
But, how many were sorry when he passed away?

For that matter, no man is a hero to himself when he lies awake in bed.

Frequently I meet a bird who is so full of ambition that he says nothing is impossible—that pluck, energy and ambition will accomplish anything. To such birds, I always say, "All right, brother; just go out and see if you can catch a whale on a pin hook."

Those wonderful statues in front of the capital building at Harrisburg, over which so much fuss was made when they were first unveiled and which had to be covered over before the police would allow the public to look at them, are now found to be crumbling and may soon all drop apart and fifty cracks have so far been found in one group. An effort is being made to save them. It's wonderful how sentiment changes in art, especially the nude variety in both the human frame and the marble statue. Many people would like to have taken a sledge and taken down those statues when they were first unveiled and now the same people want to save them from decay.

IDEAS

Col. Lindbergh was the guest of John D. Rockefeller a few days ago. It was not stated whether Mr. Rockefeller gave Lindy one of his new dimes or not. If he did not it may be because he thought the Col. was already well enough fixed financially.

We will have to admit that we saw more Democrats in Texas than we have ever seen living peaceful lives in any one place. We have never attended a Democratic convention and would have liked to attend more Republican conventions than we have had the privilege of attending, but fate or ten dollar bills, decreed otherwise. Anyhow there are no finer people in the world than the Democrats of Texas. It will be too bad if a Texan, Jesse H. Jones, owner of the Houston Chronicle and one of the finest dryest chaps in the world is not nominated at least for vice president.

We had quite a visit from an old time News man. It was Fred Kimberly, who left this office twenty-two years ago and went to New York. He worked on The News several years ago and set up the first Linotype machines installed in this office. He was afterwards general mechanical superintendent. He and his wife are touring the country by automobile. He was quite a bit surprised at the great changes made in The News since he knew it in the alley. He found only four or five people who were associated with him when he left here. He is doing well on a newspaper in New York.

It is said that about 99 out of 100 taxicab drivers want to be aviators. We have thought that for some time and now we know why they always make their busses go so fast and never stop for any kind of a light. Well, most of them would make good aviators if speed was wanted.

When we see a sheik who looks like the dying gasp of a flivver engine, falling in love with a sheba who looks like something seen by a man suffering from delirium tremens, we are more convinced than ever that love is blind—stone blind.

A candidate for congress in Mexico was shot and killed during a pistol fight between two rival political groups. They do not try to win out in Mexico through financial means, but use the pistol which no doubt is the most satisfactory and for the good of the country in the long run.

A woman is said to be the leader of a band of Mexican bandits who are wrecking trains. They must have equal rights in Mexico also.

The mayor of a city in France was called on to settle a dispute between wine growers and grape pickers. The pickers would not stand for a reduction in the amount of free wine they were to get each day. There was no dispute about the wages. That's one thing no mayor in the United States will be called upon to settle.

The Houston convention was wet as it could be at one time anyhow. That was when the roof of the hall leaked and nearly drowned a lot of the delegates.

The Democrats accuse Mr. Hoover of fixing the price of farm products during the war. Well, Mr. Hoover was called in by an incompetent Democratic administration and it controlled his actions at that time. So really the Democrats are responsible for everything that was done during the war as they were in power and we are suffering from it still.

Corruption? What Else.
Money 7½ Per Cent.
The Smallest Mouse.
He Opened the Door.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

The Democratic keynote is "Republican corruption, Secretary Fall, Mr. Sinclair, oil and oil spots."

Plenty of Republican corruption, but Democrats must find something better than that. Republicans will reply, "Old stuff. What have Fall, Sinclair and Doheny to do with Herbert Hoover? As well try to fasten Bill Tweed of the Democratic party to Woodrow Wilson."

The people know there is corruption. To their sorrow thew take much of it for granted. They hear about rotten politicians in Democratic New York grafting in every direction. They hear about other rotten politicians in Republican Washington, D. C., grafting as diligently as they know how, with an occasional Cabinet officer selling government property to the highest bidder.

But all that doesn't decide a national election. The voters, mechanics, farmers, business men, will ask, "WHAT HAVE YOU TO OFFER? Tell us what you propose to do?"

Hard to keep a squirrel on the ground; hard to keep Wall street discouraged. Big men that control money Wednesday put "call money," with which poor stock gamblers gamble, up to 7½.

In spite of that prices wouldn't go down. Some that sold short, thinking the amount "to leave the corpse" had arrived, were busy "covering."

Do what you please, but don't sell this country short. It's too dangerous.

Mr L. Buck, mighty hunter before the Lord, brings from Africa a blue wildcat, first ever seen by white man, a big gorilla, specimens of the Gherzi and Gebrazzi monkey tribes, and a pigmy mouse as small as a bee.

The question arises, were all these interesting creatures in the Garden of Eden with the whale, dinosaur, flying lizard, ornithorinchus, kangaroo, giraffe and hoot owl? Or did they come gradually? If they were all there which interested Cain and Abel most? Probably the pigmy mouse, although the boys had no pockets in which to hide it.

A picturesque life ended in Chicago, when "Big Tim" Murphy answered the doorbell.

Murphy was a labor leader, a successful "reckeleer," owner one of the finest gambling houses in Chicago—had been tried twice for murder, jailed once for a $122,000 mail robbery. The shooting is supposed to have avenged one of the murders for which he was tried, but not convicted.

When Chicago gangland thinks a man ought to die, he dies.

Judge Proskauer, learned American jurist of Jewish birth, has been preparing in New York a platform for Democrats at Houston.

Since Moses came down the mountain with commandants all written out the Jewish race has offered many important contributions to humanity.

A Jewish scholar is said to have written the Koran for Mohammed, who probably couldn't read or write. Mohammed's followers didn't know it.

Earnest Britishers don't like stabilization of the French franc. In 1915 and 1916, they bought a French war loan of $60,000,000 pounds sterling. It is worth less than 10,000,000 pounds today with the franc stabilized, a loss of $200,000,000.

Still it is worth ten million pounds, which is more than you can say for some of our foreign loans.

The Democratic party is expected to "stress prohibition enforcement and ignore modification." What it really wants is drastic modification, not much enforcement. That's the popular thing. But you can't always say what you think.

A candidate for public school teacher, in an old-fashioned district, divided in its opinion as to the earth rotundity, was asked whether he taught that the earth was round or flat. The careful teacher replied, "Teach both round and flat." Careful Democrats will teach both wet and dry. The Republicans, perhaps wiser, decided to teach dry, and act wet.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

NIGHT

When night comes down
To the busy town
And the toilers stir no more;
Then who knows which
Is the poor and rich
Of the day which went before.

When dreams sweep in
Through the traffic's din
For the weary minds of men
Though we all can say
Who is rich by day,
Who can name us the rich man then?

It is only awake
The proud may take
Much joy from the stuff they own,
For the night may keep
Her gifts of sleep
For the humblest mortal known.

By day held fast
To creed and caste
Men are sinner and saint and clown.
But who can tell
Where the glad hearts dwell
When the dreams come drifting down?

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE ECONOMIC URGE

Few people realize the advantages in the economic urge. Everybody in the United States is looking for a job or is working. The job seems to be the supreme thing among us, and the man who hasn't anything to do is not considered of much account.

Some people regard this as materialistic, as not being conducive to the virtues of the higher life, such as art, education and religion, but it will be found that the economic argument is the very best one for the invisible qualities.

Take religion: It is usual to sneer at people who become religious because they want to get on in the world and want to be prosperous, but after all the Ten Commandments and all other tenets of religion are the foundation of world prosperity.

A man will get along better and have more earthly success if he obeys the Golden Rule than if he looks out constantly for Number One, regardless of other people.

It is a great thing for religion, to find out that religion pays in this life. You don't have to wait for the next life, you don't have to spend all your time here in misery and failure in the hope of future reward.

The economic urge has got behind religion and it is one of the best things that ever happened to the religious idea.

The other day Henry Ford said in England that he looked for world-wide prohibition as an economic necessity. Prohibition has done so much economically for the United States and rendered it so prosperous that the drink-cursed nations realize they cannot compete with us until they get upon the same basis. Never has any country prospered materially so much as the United States since the passage of the Prohibition Amendment.

The economic urge has got behind the abolition of liquor. We simply have found out that the drink habit interferes with our prosperity, and the economic urge says that whatever interferes with prosperity must go.

In a country ruled by ideas of economic efficiency, education is found to be a necessity. When the people are educated their wants are more, their manner of living is higher and better, and hence they buy more goods.

Young people are more and more seeing that it is the educated man or the trained man or woman who prospers in this life. Education and prosperity go hand in hand.

It will be found that in a world governed by business ideals the spiritual virtues have a better chance than in a world governed by a monachial idea.

On the whole, men and women are better citizens if they are inspired with the desire to make a living for themselves rather than if all the reason they have for living is to serve their country or be good soldiers for a king.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

OBSERVE THE AMENITIES.

The season for vacation motoring again is here. Thousands are beginning annual journeys that will take them far afield—to other States, to other regions, perhaps to other countries.

Foremost in the thoughts of many, conscious or otherwise, will be the desire to forsake the civilized haunts of man. Little frequented areas in the mountains and along the shore will be sought, and lonely roads traversed, in an effort to satisfy the primitive instinct for periodical isolation.

The yearning for a change of scene is basic, and a blessing. There is tonic in gratifying it. Waning interest in tasks become onerous and burdensome is revived and life becomes sweeter and more valuable.

Desirable as it may seem, however, the individual cannot completely escape the requirements of complex society of today. Wherever he may go, or whatever he may do, man is confronted with a code of undeniable laws and regulations and an even greater mass of taboos and customs which his fellows expect him to observe.

Not the least important of these are certain manners that have clustered about the business of motoring. Adequate restrictions govern every conceivable contingency that arises from automobile operation. But every day new situations outside the scope of written law spontaneously appear and must be adjusted. These are governed by what are called the amenities, or courtesies, of motoring.

Two automobiles, for example, enter an intersection simultaneously. The man on the right, by law, is entitled to precedence. The man on the left by stopping, however, may unduly impede traffic or set up an accident hazard. The man on the right relinquishes his privilege and avoids an awkward, perhaps, or dangerous situation.

Or two cars may meet upon a narrow mountain road. The car on the inner side may be ascending and thus be entitled, according to custom, by right of way. But it may be impossible for the car on the outside of the road to back safely. The motorist proceeding upward sees this and backs to a safe passing place.

Both of these situations, and countless others that could be set forth, are met and adjusted by the unwritten laws of courtesy. The ability to invoke this code in instances when rational judgment should supercede unswerving adherence to an inflexible law is the final test both of driving competency and cultured conduct.

The driver who commits some seemingly unpardonable breach of motoring etiquette is not necessarily a selfish scoundrel to be roared at with round curses. He simply may not know, and allowances for his lack of experience, consequently, may be in order.

"Getting back to nature," as is often quoted, tolerates certain lapses from common social conventions, but so long as automobiles play such vital roles in the process, no one can easily defend remissness in the observance of the amenities of motoring.

While it may not be much of a trick t' drive an automobile, it sure is some real stunt t' do it with entire safety t' everybody.

COMMUNITY HISTORY.

Recently I said something about museums for small communities. I ventured the observation that America is becoming history conscious, and that Americans are beginning to realize the rich value of this continent's past. I emphasized the fact that small communities can do a great serviae to themselves and to the country as a whole by establishing modest museums in which the color of their life may be preserved.

New England is perhaps more conscious of the value of its past than most parts of the United States, although in some sections of the South and in California there are history-minded communities.

In certain New England towns it has long been the custom for large financial institutions to assist in preservation of local history by issuing booklets from time to time containing priceless sidelights on local history.

One of the most attractive of these booklets lies before me. It is "Some Famous Privateers of New England," written by Ralph M. Eastman and privately printed for the State Street Trust Company, of Boston. This is a brochure of 87 pages, handsomely illustrated with rare engravings and wood cuts, printed on heavy paper and handsomely bound in heavy paper covers.

I am informed that the company that issued this booklet makes a practice of issuing something equally important each year. I have picked up in second-hand book stores somewhat similar publications issued by a company in Providence from year to year.

Now, I submit that the publication of such historical brochures as a regular institutional program is not only an important service to the cities concerned, but that it is, in all likelihood, appreciated by those communities.

Here's a suggestion to bankers in other American cities. Your town and your state have rich historical matter that never has been presented attractively in books. There is much local tradition that is going to die out like the grass in autumn unless somebody preserves it in printed form.

If you should adopt the policy of presenting your best customers annually with a little historical brochure that would have dignity and authenticity, don't you think such a program might help to build your institution up as something more than a mere interest-getting establishment, in the minds of generations of local folk? I think it might work out well.

Of course, any such program requires the services of some local person who is history-minded and who can write well. But that's not an insuperable obstacle to the performance of the sort of service I have mentioned.

Youngsters Have Glorious Time

City Rescue Mission Picnic At Cascade Is Notable Success

NEARLY 3,000 ENJOY PLEASURES OF DAY

There might have been a sandwich or two left but if there were it was overlooked at the Rescue Mission annual picnic for kiddies Thursday at Cascade park. What that crowd of youngsters did to the food and lemonade was an object lesson for dyspeptics and its a good guess today that the grocery bill in some homes has been cut down, due to lack of appetite on the part of the boys and girls.

From every standpoint the picnic Thursday was a complete success. The weather was as pretty as a June bride and any youngster that didn't enjoy himself wasn't there.

About 3,000 Present.

Judging the crowd from left to right there appeared to be about 3,000 present. From the time they landed in the park until they left they were enjoying themselves and if they didn't make as much noise on their departure as they did going in it was because they were tired.

Mr. Berquist expressed his pleasure today at the wonderful spirit of co-operation evidenced. Everybody wanted to do a little more than their share and as a result the annual Rescue Mission picnic went over with a bang that will echo until next year when the time for the picnic rolls around.

Alumni Will Meet At Park

Expect Hundreds At Reunion At Cascade This Evening

While the weather man was apparently not inclined to be very favorable today, the one day in the year, that the Alumni Association of the New Castle High School, looks forward to, the annual reunion of former students of the school, yet there were indications that possibly weather conditions might clear up and not interfere with the several hundred people planning to have supper in the picnic grove at Cascade Park.

Regardless of what the weather conditions may happen to be, there will be the evening part of the reunion, the dance and reception at the pavilion and it is hoped that the weather conditions will not interfere with the expected attendance and that the number attending this year will be greater than in any former year.

Featuring the dance this evening, will be the grand march to be held during the evening. The members of this year's graduating class will be the guests of honor and it is anticipated that there will be a large representation of the members of the class present.

Visits Maharanee

School Girl Sister Of Former Nancy Ann Miller, Bride Of Indore, Vacations With Potentate's Wife At Paris Estate

RUTH MILLER

By L. H. SULLIVAN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

SEATTLE, June 29.—School's out for Ruth Miller, 17, and she has gone to pass the vacation at Chateau St. Germain, Paris estate of her sister, the Maharanee of Indore.

Ruth and her mother departed for Europe to see the former Nancy Ann Miller for the first time since she renounced Christianity and became the third bride of the fabulously rich Indian potentate.

But although Ruth and her mother believe that it was perfectly all right for Nancy to become a Hindu and marry Prince Tukojirao Holkar, Seattle friends of Ruth believe there's little likelihood that she will attempt to follow in the maharanee's footsteps.

They don't expect even the oriental atmosphere of the rajah's splendid retinue in Paris to make her long to marry a Hindu or even a prince. They predict that when she finishes high school and college she'll find some American husband.

Incidentally, prior to departing for Paris, the Millers explained the reports that Nancy had acquired a black eye when she arrived in Paris on her honeymoon. A birthmark, which Nancy plans to have removed, caused the reports, they say.

Two Executives For Penna R. R. In Pittsburgh

Two Vice Presidents To Look After Railroad's Business In District

Changes of far reaching importance to strengthen and to increase the official staff of the Pennsylvania railroad in Pittsburgh and the Pittsburgh district were authorized at today's meeting of the board of directors of the road, The News learned from Raymond Swenk, superintendent of the Erie & Ashtabula division.

The announced purpose is to cope with the growth of traffic, foster the company's prestige and enlarge its activities in the Pittsburgh district, where so vast a proportion of the country's traffic originates and in which the Pennsylvania railroad is now engaged on a program of improvements and extensions.

An outstanding feature is that from now on the railroad will be represented in Pittsburgh and the surrounding territory by the two executives of the vice-presidential rank.

To carry into effect the objectives with respect to Pittsburgh, E. T. Whiter, now vice president in charge of the central region, is promoted to the post of vice president at Pittsburgh. His entire attention will be devoted to broad matters involved in the relations between the company and the larger industries.

E. W. Smith, vice president at Philadelphia, has also been promoted to be vice president at Pittsburgh, with jurisdiction over the entire central region.

Further to strengthen the system general administrative staff at Philadelphia and to facilitate the carrying on of the work of rearranging both freight and passenger train service, the board promoted J. F. Deasy to assistant vice president in charge of operation.

SHOW ME THE MAN—

Who watches the clock and I will show you the man the boss overlooks.

Who knocks the home town and I will show you the man who is worth nothing to it.

Who cheats at play and I will show you one who cannot be trusted at work.

Who takes everybody's advice and I will show you one who is failing.

Who is loved by little children and I will show you one who is trustworthy.

Who sneers at other men's convictions and I will show you one who will bear watching.

Who can't see his own faults and I will show you one who is quick to see the faults of others.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WHAT MAKES YOU?

Did you ever stop to think how largely we are made up of two things: the people we have met and the books we have read? We ought to be pretty careful about both.

Civilization has been defined as the offspring of knowledge and love. How much of each have we to give? We ought to check up on that.

Many think much about immortality and the thought that they may live in some fashion forever. And yet in one way some of us may live too long. It is a tragedy for the body to live on when the spirit has gone or when the character is degenerating. The death of the body is not always concurrent with the death of the spirit.

Frank Collins Spillman tells us the difference between young men and old men. In the Bible he reads that the young men shall see visions and the old men shall dream dreams. If you have come to the time when you only dream dreams and see no visions of the future you are old. When you look back over your shoulder instead of forward you are old.

GOING SOMEWHERE

Someone has said that it is hard to meet the average mind because it isn't going anywhere. The difference between real thinking and reverie is that reverie isn't going anywhere. Just letting things run through your mind, ungoverned, isn't thinking. Life is too short not to be going somewhere.

RICHES

We can be rich—rich in the resources of the mind, if we will only take the time and trouble to lay away some mental wealth in our most active mental years.

WORTHY CHILDREN

Parents who have brought their children up properly, and treated them well, have the right to expect one thing from them—that they shall be WORTHY. The worthy child will guard against dishonoring his parents in any manner. If he has been well born he will try to keep his body in as good condition or better than he keeps his automobile. If he has enjoyed the companionship of his parents, by bestowing his own companionship upon his parents. If he has received the best educational preparation for life and work that his parents could provide, the worthy son or daughter will seek to make his education serve the world, his parents and himself.

Byrd's Airplane Now Ready For Antarctic Hop

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 29—Painted a bright orange color, the Fokker monoplane Commander Richard E. Byrd will use on his proposed Antarctic flight this summer, has undergone many changes in preparation for the expedition.

The ship has been entirely changed in appearance since it arrived at the East Boston airport some time ago. It was given the brilliant orange coating, it was explained, to readily distinguish the plane from the ice and snows during the South Polar explorations.

Emergency Tanks

Workmen from the Fokker factories have complete charge in the alterations to the huge craft. Already two new emergency gasoline tanks have been inserted in the wings of the monoplane. Pontoons to be attached to the huge ship in place of landing gear, have been uncrated.

Specially constructed struts have been built, and mechanics have begun removing the landing gear struts to replace them with pontoon struts.

When the Byrd ship arrived, the pilot's cabin was exposed on both sides. The Fokker mechanics have now closed in the cabin so that it resembles somewhat the interior of a cabin of a yacht.

Test Flights

Attachment of the struts will be completed shortly, and test flights in Boston Harbor will be undertaken at once

The license number of the plane was painted on the rudder following completion of the task of repainting the plane orange. Wilmer Stutz, pilot of the flight, explained that were the plane painted white, or some other neutral color, it would blend with the colors of the Antarctic and would be difficult to see from any great distance.

All that stands between us and a hot time is the rest of this summer's ice.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

HIDDEN IN THE SAND HILLS

"So Oliver Ostrich thought. And at last an idea came.

"'Well, of course not every lady ostrich likes housekeeping. Once in a while some Mrs. Ostrich lays an egg in the sand and leaves it to take care of itself. The mother is too busy having a good time to take care of it. It seldom hatches—how could it with nothing but the sun to keep it warm? But just the same there is nothing I would hate worse than to step on an egg. Thank goodness my wife is not that kind of a bird. She is as devoted to me as I am to her, and we both love children. Wife and I both do our share of turning the eggs and sitting upon them. I go on about 5 o'clock at night and stay there until the sun is well up the next morning. This is a habit we learned from living at the ostrich farm. At the farm, too, I learned, too, that one wife is enough for me. That is another thing in which I differ from those of my family who have always lived in the wilds. My wild cousins have several wives, but I don't like the idea very well. And I am too old to try anything new now.'

"'That is the second time you have mentioned your age, Oliver Ostrich,' said Mrs. Bobolink, whom nothing escaped. 'How old are you, anyhow?'

"Ostrich thought for a moment.

"'I am not very clever at counting,' said he, 'but as nearly as I can remember I will be 40 years old this summer. And I am still healthy, as you see. Hello! Here we are at home at last. Wife is keeping the eggs warm, as usual. Get up, dear, and show them to the Bobolinks. I have brought over these little strangers of the Northland hoping you would be hostess to them.'

"Lying so close to the sand and colored so much like it that we had not noticed her at all was Oliver Ostrich's mate, and now she slowly rose to her feet and greeted us. And there in the shallow nest in the sand we saw a number of large eggs standing up, with several eggs lying down flat around them. Oliver Ostrich pointed them out to us.

OLIVER OSTRICH'S MATE SLOWLY ROSE TO HER FEET AND GREETED US.

"'We do not sit upon those eggs around the edge,' said he. 'They are for the babies to chip open and eat while they are growing and before they are strong enough to forage for their food with us. How about it, my dear, is it time to roll them?'

"His wife nodded. Then to our surprise she stepped into the nest and began to shuffle her feet and slowly but surely each egg in order was turned over. When she had finished this strange duty, Mrs. Ostrich started to walk away with the briefest of nods to us."

Farm Smokehouse Tempts Hungry Dog

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., June 29.—Smokehouses on farms have no terrors for hungry dogs.

Over in the town of Richfield the smokehouse on the George Bray farm was torn down the other night by an unusually large black and white dog which made away with the meat, enough, it is said, to keep most dogs in victuals for months. The same dog, seeking shelter during a rainy night last week, tore several boards off the barn door on the Mrs. Grace Thomas dairy farm, thus gaining entrance.

Parents are beginning to worry for fear that the monster dog, which has only been seen in daylight a few times, may attack young children.

Studios Rushed As Screen Bug Bites Flappers

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 29.—The movie bug has bitten Britain's flapperdom.

Undaunted by the warnings of disappointment and disillusion awaiting the majority of those who seek film fame, thousands of pretty English girls are flocking to the studios of London every day, some pleading for "extra" work as a means of existence, others pleading a camera test to prove to incredulous directors that they are stars in embryo.

It is the story of Hollywood being enacted over again, in the great new British studios where for the first time wholesale production of motion pictures in this country is being undertaken seriously.

New Talent Created

To be sure, the increased production has created a need for more new talent, but as invariably happens, the supply by far exceeds the demand.

Most of the girls seeking employment are stenographers or shopgirls, either temporarily out of work or willing to sacrifice their steady jobs for the glamor of the Klieg lights. But among the scores who lineup at the casting director's window every day, may be noticed not a few aristocratic faces. For just as in America the movie disease is an infectious one, and it affects both high and low alike.

Rumor has it that more than a few English society women, tired of a flutter into stocks, bonds, or the millinery business, are endeavoring to obtain employment in the studios.

For Men Also

Those lacking in good looks and histrionic ability, although few will admit a paucity of either, have presented themselves as experts in the matter of social usages, and for reasonable remuneration, Lady So-and-So herself is willing to give weighty words of advise on the correct manner to hold one's knife and fork, and how to act in the presence of Nobility.

The desire for film fame is not restricted to women alone, and on the payroll of some of the British producing companies are the names of Oxford and Cambridge graduates who have obtained employment as technicians, scenarists or general utility men.

Many have taken far more menial jobs than these, just in order to be "in on the ground floor" in what is at present still an infant industry in this country, and which promises someday to assume gigantic proportions.

NERVOUS WOMAN FINDS RELIEF

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rose, Kansas.—"I was so weak and nervous and had such a tired, worn-out feeling that I had to go to bed. Friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound told me how much good it had done them so I thought I would give it a trial. I could tell a difference after I had taken the first bottle. It has done me worlds of good. I am gaining in strength and recommending it and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation."—GOLDIE MCFADDEN, Rose, Kansas.

Woman, 107, Wooed By 148 Men, Is Dead

NEW YORK, June 29.—Mrs. Ida Goldberg who has had 148 proposals of marriage since her 107th birthday four months ago died yesterday of bronchial pneumonia in the United Home for the Aged, New Rochelle.

Much in the public eye since she passed life's hundredth milepost Mrs. Goldberg had been a model of cheerfulness. Her views on public questions had been those of optimistic youth rather than pessimistic age.

In a spirit of frolic more than a year ago she advertised for a "suitable" young husband and received answers from all parts of the country. No one came forward whom she was willing to accept. She had described her ideal as "a millionaire about 45 years old." Any one younger she said would not have sufficient wisdom.

When she reached her 107th birthday she laughingly repeated that she 'had no objections to getting married again" and a second crop of proposals came which she treated as light reading.

The oldest inmate of the home Mrs. Goldberg threaded needles without the aid of glasses for her "younger" neighbors ranging from 71 to 101 years of age. She understood companionate marriage and approved of it but opposed Prohibition.

Blood Transfusion For Sweetheart Now Bars Marriage Of Couple

(International News Service)

GHENT, Belgium, June 29.—Do strangers become blood relations after a transfusion of the life fluid? Dr. Fritz de Beule, professor of surgery at the University of Ghent, believes that it is much safer for a young man to give his heart to his lady-love than his blood.

A curious marriage problem has arisen over the case of a young girl and student here. Had it not been for a generous gift of blood, the girl would have bled to death from a serious injury. Following recovery, the two became good friends and decided they would like to marry.

The professor then stepped in and declared that such a union would be unwise, that, while there is no real legal obstacle, the moral and physiological issues present serious drawbacks. The two parties, he finds are in part "related" and their children would be more so.

The marriage has been postponed for some future date.

A California bride used an axe to cut her first cake, and then it was all notched up when she wanted to use it on her husband.—The Miami Daily News and Metropolis.

Vessels Collide In Heavy Fog Off Atlantic Coast

Steamer Evangeline And Freighter Grecian Come Together In Fog

(International News Service)

CHATHAM, Mass., June 29. — The steamship Evangeline, New York to Yarmouth, N. S., with about 10 passengers aboard was in collision in a fog with the freight steamship Grecian, Boston to Baltimore and Norfolk with a crew of 40 officers and men, off Cape Cod today.

With a large hole ripped under her water line, the Grecian was beached safely at Monomoy Point.

The Evangeline stood by until the Grecian reached shore in safety and then proceeded north.

There was considerable excitement among the passengers when the two steamships came together in the fog but there were no casualties.

Establish Control In Beaver County

Is First To Establish Milk Control Including The Whole County

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Pa., June 29—Beaver county is the first in the state to establish a milk control district which includes the entire county, according to H. E. Shroat, of the State Department of Health.

Shroat said that other milk controls had been established in various sections of the state but each is purely local and governs only the community in which it is located. The Beaver county commissioners will finance the milk control district, beginning next January, and until that time the state will aid in financing the project.

Hoover Confers With Political Callers Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 29.—After several days devoted principally to department of commerce business Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, greeted a number of political callers today.

Among them was Dr. R. R. Moton, president of Tuskogee university, one of the country's leading negro educators. Moton had a long talk with Hoover.

Other callers included C. Bascom Slemp of Virginia, Representative Davenport (R) of Michigan; Representative R. E. Reese (R) of Tennessee; Dwight Morrow, ambassador to Mexico; Mrs. Charles Sabin, national committeewoman from New York and Elmer Jones of New York, president of the Wells-Fargo company.

Mrs. Sabin had opposed Hoover prior to the nomination but now has climbed on his bandwagon.

5-Gallon Keg Of Nips Piped To Bed Kept His Morning Whistle Wet

ATLANTIC CITY, June 29.—Mrs. Philip Fleschner of No. 2311 Pacific avenue testified today that her husband lay in bed and drank whiskey through a rubber tube from a 20-gallon barrel. He denied the charge. It was only a five-gallon barrel, he said.

The testimony was given during the hearing of Fleschner's petition for divorce before Vice Chancellor Ingersoll. Fleschner, who is 55, had charged his wife, who is 50, with gross cruelty in throwing plates, silverware and a cake at him, "prostrating him with nervous fear." She denied heaving anything but the cake. "It is with a pain in my heart that I admit throwing the cake at him," she told the court. The suit was dismissed.

Martin To Open G. O. P. Campaign In Greensburg, Pa.

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 29.—While the Democrats are today putting the finishing touches on their convention at Houston the Republican campaign is starting in Pennsylvania.

The opening shot of Pennsylvania's Republican campaign with the slogan "Elect Hoover and Curtis," will be fired here Saturday when Auditor General Edward Martin, State chairman of the Republican organization, will address a meeting of the Westmoreland county committee here.

No details of the committee meeting have been announced, but it is predicted that preparations will be made for a state-wide campaign.

Pig Is Cause Of $25,000 Suit

AKRON, June 29.—Charging injuries and damages when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a hog, Blanche Serfass of Barberton Wednesday entered suit for $25,000 in common pleas court.

Augustus W. Bowman, of Barberton, alleged to have been the driver of the machine, and Ernest R. Kungle of R. D. No. 36, Barberton, said to have owned the hog, were named defendants.

The accident occurred last March on the Cleveland-Akron road, the petition stated

Alleged Bigamist Is Arrested After Honeymoon Trip

SUNBURY, Pa., June 29.—Andrew Erb, aged 26, was in jail here today charged with bigamy, following his arrest as he returned from a honeymoon with his bride, who was Miss Margaret Murphy of Canadaigua, N. Y.

Erb's first wife, who was visiting here when the pair returned, charged Erb has never divorced her. Mrs. Erb number 1 resides in Harrisburg.

Mrs. Erb number 2 says she married under the impression that Erb was single.

Mrs. Erb number 1 contends that she married Erb five years ago and was deserted in Buffalo, N. Y., a few years ago.

Father Seeks Son Missing 30 Years

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., June 29.—A substantial legacy awaits Gordon Bennett Holmes, fifty-seven, a native of northern New York, who left his home state in 1898 at the time of the Klondike gold rush and who has not been seen by members of his family since.

His father, George H. Holmes of this village, who is nearing his eighty-fifth birthday, is anxious to get in touch with him in order to make a proper distribution of his estate and has placed the matter in the hands of police authorities in various sections of the country in hope of obtaining some clue to his whereabouts.

George H. Holmes, his father, is now residing at the home of his nephew, W. H. Cameron, in this village. He has retired from business and except for occasional visits which he makes to the home of his other son, James Sidney Holmes, in Whitestone, L. I., remains here continuously.

Mr. Holmes expresses a wish to see his son, primarily to arrange the legacy with him, but behind it all can be seen a father's wish to see his "boy" whom he has not talked with since he bade him goodbye at the Grand Central Station more than thirty years ago.

"When Gordon left for the west," Mr. Holmes relates, "he was supplied with ample money. He carried a roll which he could scarcely get into his pocket. My wife cautioned him to be careful of his money and be certain not to allow himself to be robbed. With that final caution he started on his way with hundreds of others from New York for the great Klondike region, where wealth was the great hope.

"A few days thereafter we received a letter postmarked 'Detroit' from my son. He said he had 'lost his money' and requested that I send him more. He gave us no street address and I therefore could send him no money nor reply to his letter.

"That was the last I ever heard from my son. That, as I recall, was in the fall of 1898."

Black Flies Winning Unpopularity Contest

COBALT, Ont., June 29.—The black flies are giving the mosquitoes a close run as the most unpopular summer pests in the North woods. The spring floods and continued wet weather are blamed for the insect scourge. Only hardened campaigners find the woods liveable.

Even the moose and deer have been driven out of the woods to the open lands.

The black fly season is generally ended by July 1, but with continued rains the pests are still increasing as their customary zero hour approaches.

Ulster Constabulary Has Real Baronet Serving In Ranks

(International News Service)

BELFAST, Junt 29.—The Royal Ulster constabulary is probably the only police force in the world with a baronet serving in the ranks.

He is Sergeant Sir John Echlin, who is in charge of the police barracks at Enniskillen, and head of one of the oldest families in Ireland.

He draws $30 a week pay, and apparently is quite content.

The Echlin estates have long been encumbered and Sir John's great-grandfather was probably the last of the family to derive any financial benefit from them.

Wild ancestors, it is stated, dissipated the family fortunes. The fifth and sixth baronets were forced to work as hired helps, and the eighth baronet, Sir John's uncle, kept an English inn.

If the worm turns, it's because a voice from the back seat gave him the idea.

Detroit Aerial Olympics Will Draw Thousands

Expect 100,000 To Witness Two Main Events Saturday In Detroit Aerial Circus

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 29.—At least 100,000 persons are expected to watch the two main events of the Detroit Air Olympics tomorrow, the national air tour and the Gordon Bennett international balloon race at Ford Airport. Airplane and balloon pilots were engaged today in last-minute preparations and inspections.

Twenty-nine airmen will compete in the national air tour, the fourth contest for the Edsel Ford reliability trophy. It is to cover a 6,300-mile route to the Pacific coast and back. Twelve balloonists, representing eight countries, are entered in the Gordon Bennet race.

Boys from all over the United States are engaged in elimination trials at Selfridge Field, near Detroit, today in preparation for the finals of the national model airplane contest at Ford Airport tomorrow.

CONVENTION IS NEAR FINAL ACT AT HOUSTON, TEX.

Ready to Depart

A lot of train announcements followed the singing, emphasizing the thought that now appears uppermost in the convention's mind—to get away. Even as the announcements were made, trains were puffing in the citys' railroad yards, ready to start specialling out of Houston within six hours after the adjournment.

The "Sidewalks of New York", of course, had to be followed by "Dixie" and Houston sent up Miss Melvena Passmore, the home town grand opera singer, and she again captivated the crowd.

Then to business. Senator Harrison ordered the roll call for the presentation of names for vice presidency.

Alabama, the first state called, sent up Judge Michael Sollie, who proposed the nomination of Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, who commanded the American forces during the Rhine occupation.

Hall in Confusion

While Judge Sollie was speaking the hall was in confusion and few could hear what he was saying in eulogy of the soldier candidate. In the midst of the speech a Mississippi delegate rode down one of the main center aisles astride a burro, followed by a boy on a smaller animal. He gravely dismounted beside his delegation and took his seat, while the boy led the animals out.

Most of Sollie's speech was a review of General Allen's careeer.

Nominates Robinson.

He finally concluded at 11:05 and the roll of states went on.

Arizona yielded to New Mexico and Sen. Sam G. Bratton, the red headed junior senator of the state, took the platform and placed Senator Robinson's name before the convention.

"We are engaged in making history which affects not only the people of the United States but of the whole world," Bratton began. "We have nominated a man who should govern this great commonwealth for at least four years, beginning next March.

"We have performed a great task. Now we must name with him a candidate for vice president.

"I come to give you a candidate, a native of the state of Arkansas.

He sketched Senator Robinson's career—born in rural Arkansas, educated in the rural schools of his neighborhood, and later ambitious enough to study law, he described Robinson's upward climb to political eminence as due to his own unaided efforts. From a small political beginning, he traced "fighting Joe's" career from minor offices in Arkansas, to the governorship of the state, and finally to Washington, where he has now been leader of his party in the senate for several years.

"We need a man to serve us as one of standard bearers in this campaign who knows the needs of the American people, and the man whom I present has served in public office for 26 years, and he is only 55 now. He has submitted himself repeatedly to the people of his own state and never once have they failed to register their approval of him."

Bratton recalled that Robinson presided over the turbulent Democratic convention at San Francisco eight years ago. No one, he said, had any complaint about the fairness and impartiality of his actions in that difficult task.

"And so," he concluded, "Without taking any more of your time, I'm going to give you the name of Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas."

There was a mighty cheer which apparently come from all sections of the hall.

The Arkansas home folks grabbed up their standard and started through the aisles, and it wasn't but a few minutes until most of the standards in the hall were in the procession.

State banners that would not even bow to each other in the aisles during the Smith nomination now joined together in support of the Arkansan. New York's ensign rubbed along with those of Georgia and Texas. Illinois and South Carolina found something in common. Missouri and Pennsylvania and Ohio marched along together.

From the platform, it appeared that all the standards except Tennessee, Alabama, Kentucky and South Dakota were in the aisles.

After the demonstration had been in progress about 10 minutes, Senator King of Utah, who had meanwhile assumed the chair, began pounding for order.

When Arkansas was called on the roll she yielded to Massachusetts, and Sen. David I. Walsh seconded the nomination in the name of his state.

"This convention," said Senator Walsh, "has broken a precedent in the choice of a candidate for the presidency. Let us not hesitate to shatter another precedent in the selection of our candidate for vice president."

He referred to the fact that Democratic conventions never go south for candidates.

The party he continued, has named a man for the presidency who rose to the heights by his own unaided efforts and how better to drive home the principle that wealth and position should play no part in the nomination of candidates, he asked, then to give him a running mate who is also a self made man.

Senator Walsh, himself a Catholic, paid glowing tribute to his colleague's fairness and ability in the leadership of the senate.

"And I ask this convention to give to Governor Smith a vigorous, an effect, a brave and as capable a partner as I know him to be."

Walsh said he was entirely willing to take up the sarcastic challenge of Sen. George H. Moses, the Republican chairman at Kansas City, to "Bring on the Jones, the Browns, the Smiths and the Robinsons and we will slaughter them."

"That was an unblushing challenge from the powerful few who have been beneficiaries of Republican misrule.

"Accept it. We have given them a Smith, now let's give them Sen. Joseph Robinson."

California yielded to Wyoming as the roll call went on, and Mrs. H. S. Talliaferro of Rock Springs, came forward and placed in nomination Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, the ex-governor of Wyoming.

She spoke very briefly in eulogy of Mrs. Ross' record as governor, and of the appeal that a woman might make in a national campaign. There was polite and scattering applause when she concluded.

Colorado yielded to Kentucky on the next call and Ex-Senator "Gus" Stanley came forward to offer Senator Albin W. Barkley, Kentucky's favorite son.

Stanley stressed that Kentucky is a doubtful state, a border state.

"Kentucky may be decisive," he declared. "Nominate this Kentuckian and victory is ours."

At this point Senator Yarris of Georgia proposed that nominating speeches be confined to five minutes and second speeches to three minutes, and his move to shorten up proceedings was greeted with a howl of approval.

The new rule went into effect just as ex-Sen. J. Ham Lewis of Illinois took the platform to second the nomination of Robinson.

When Florida was called on the roll, a youthful delegate, Warren Fuller, took the plaform and with arms flying and head shaking he placed the name of Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher before the convention. Few heard it, however, for the convention was in an uproar of laughter at the calisthenics which accompanied the 22-year-old legislator's speech.

W. Orr Chapman of Idaho followed with a second of Mrs. Ross' nomination.

When a man gets home late he realizes Mr. Kipling was right about the female of the species.

Men a hundred years hence will wear curls. an anthropologist says. We leave the worry to others.

Mother's Aid Money Is Made Available

Lawrence County's Share Of Fund Is $7,900 For Present Fiscal Year

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 29.—Reapportionment of Mothers' Assistance funds to 57 counties is announced today by State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis. The failure of ten counties to take advantage of the provisions of the act made an additional $48,571 available to the other counties. The 57 counties, during the present fiscal year, starting June 1, will receive $1,379,285.43.

The last session of the legislature made an appropriation of $2,750,000 for the biennium. Of this amount, $40,000 is spent for administration and the balance is divided among the counties that meet the provisions of the act.

Lawrence county's reallocation, as announced is $7,621.88. The surplus from the ten counties not operative is $278.20, making a total amount available for the county this fiscal year, beginning June 1, $7,900.08.

Six Face Arrest For Violation Of Prohibition Laws

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., June 29.—Bench warrants have been issued by Federal Judge Johnson for five Clinton county men and one Scranton man, charging them with manufacturing and possessing beer in violation of the prohibition law.

The defendants, who are charged with manufacturing beer at the old Weidman brewery, Lockport, Pa., are, Scott L. Seybold, Lockport; John D. Bever, Lock Haven; John F. Harvey, John L. Harvey and Glenn B. Nihart, all of Castenea township, and Isaac Judd of Scranton.

The warrants were issued yesterday at the instance of United States Attorney A. B. Dunsmore.

Pays Hotel Bill After 21 Years

Marooned In Bellefonte Years Ago, Man Pays "Skipped" Bill Now

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 29. — A twenty-one year old hotel bill, contracted without the knowledge of the proprietor in 1907, was recently paid by a man who refused to make public his name.

The man told a story of how he and two companions in 1907 had been marooned in Bellefonte and crept into the hotel without being seen by the proprietor. After a night's rest they left early in the morning, having no money to pay the bill. Payment was not refused when the man settled the bill recently.

Firemen's Ball Grand Success

Over 700 Enjoy Program At Cathedral On Thursday Evening

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ENTERTAINS CROWD

The ball on Thursday evening at the ballroom of the Scottish Rite cathedral under the auspices of the paid firemen of the city, was a decided success in every way.

Not only were there great numbers of people present from the city, but there were also visitors from other cities and communities of this part of the state. The music was excellent, being the effort of one of the best known local orchestras.

Dancing got under way at 9 o'clock and continued until midnight and before it was over, more than 700 people had entered the ballroom and enjoyed themselves to the utmost. For those who did not care to dance there was the diversion of euchre in the east dining room of the basement.

Featuring the evening, about the middle of the dance program, was the presentation by Sol Davis of one of his unusual and fascinating illusions. The entire group of people assembled for the occasion, witnessed it with great interest and enthusiasm.

Among the out of town visitors at the event were Chief and Mrs. Plant of Ellwood City.

Committees of firemen functioned in a perfect manner and the dance was one of the best ever held at the Scottish Rite cathedral. The firemen were assisted by a number of police officers and the service division of the cathedral.

While the number in attendance is placed at 700, the affair, which was for the benefit of the paid firemen's benefit fund, was a much greater success financially than indicated by this attendance. It is reported unofficially that between 1700 and 1800 tickets for the affair were disposed of.

Those responsible for the very successful event are as follows: George Harper, general chairman; entertainment committee—Chief Charles H. Lynn and Frank Robinson; ticket sellers at door—A. P. McIlwain, Hugh Horton, Clyde Rohrer and Earl Dart.. ticket takers—William Crowe and A. E. Hartman; floor committee—Blaine Bumbaugh, Wilmer Hawk, Elmer Murray, Perry McFarland, Earl Patton, Harry Malley, Archie Slovonsky and Dan McDaniels; assisting police officers—Charles Longstreth, R. Hanna, Robert Letera and C. G. Logan.

TRUE TO FORM

The telephone girl was on her vacation. One day when she was out fishing someone in another boat called, "Hello!"

Just then a bob of the cork told her she had a bite.

"Line's busy," she answered, and pulled in her fish.

Leading Cities In New England Have Airports

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 29.—Aviation experts and enthusiasts are pointing with pride to the aviation and airport policies of New England. Only a few years ago, airports were a novelty in the section. Today, practically every city has at least one, and towns and even villages are rapidly acquiring the habit.

Through the initiative of the Chamber of Commerce of Portland, Me., that city will soon have a new airport of 220 acres. It is expected that the port will be completed next month.

The new airport was acquired by members of the Chamber of Commerce, its expenses also being underwritten by them. The total cost of the field is estimated at $75,000, of which $10,000 represents the cost of the field. The field will be open for public use on a commercial basis, the city having no connection with it. It will be fully equipped according to the most modern standards.

Aerial Carnival

An aerial carnival for June 23 at the new airport at Beverly, Mass., was arranged by the flying enthusiasts of the North Shore.

A private airport has been established at Plainville, Mass., which it is expected the cities of North Attleboro, Wrentham and Plainville will aid in developing.

Preliminary steps toward a first class airport for Bar Harbor and Mount Desert Island, Me., were taken at a recent meeting of the Board of Trade at Bar Harbor. The first airway beacon in Providence, R. I., will be in operation soon and will be visible from 10 to 80 miles.

Even the newspapers have gone "up in the air." A Boston paper recently established a branch office at the Boston Airport, the first New England newspaper to do so.

Orders Big Plane

Only recently, the new Guggenheim Aeronautical Engineering Building at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was dedicated with elaborate ceremonies which, were attended by national, state, city and education representatives.

The Boston Airport Corporation has ordered for immediate delivery a new twelve passenger tri-motored plane. This will be the first modern plane of such large dimensions to have headquarters at Boston.

Palestine Sanctions Sentimental Names For New Settlements

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, June 29.—A small-holders settlement of Jewish farmers who came to Palestine from Transylvania has been given the name "Kfar Gideon", perpetuating Gideon's battles with the Philistines in the part of the plain of Esdraelon in which the new Zionist pioneer colony is situated.

Similarly, the name of Bessara has been conferred on a settlement of Zionist from Jugoslavia, occupying a site connected with the history of Bessara mentioned among other sources also by Josephus.

A recent event is commemorated in a colony of Jews who have come from Rumania and whose village has been named in honor of Baruch Cahane, a benefactor of the Jewish National fund. The name of Sarid has been given a cooperative farm of the Plain continuing the name of a route found in the Book of Joshua.

These names which will be officially confirmed by the Palestine government were chosen by a commission composed of representatives of the Palestine Zionist executive, the Jewish National fund, the settlers, the National Council of the Jews of Palestine, the Hebrew Society for the Exploration of Palestine and its Antiquities and individual experts in the history, geography and topography of the country.

Magistrate Disputes P. O. Official's Claim

Chester Man Holds Postal Employes Must Have Licenses To Drive Mail Cars

CHESTER, June 29.—John Worrilow, a substitute mail carrier, arrested by Patrolman Talbot following a collision between a mail motor truck he operated and a motorcycle which sidecar attachment, owned and occupied by Claude Congelton and his wife, of 2900 North Eleventh street, Philadelphia, appeared for a hearing before Committing Magistrate Berry in Police Court here. Mrs. Congleton sustained severe injuries and was unable to appear at a hearing until today. Worrilow had no operator's license.

A representative of the postal department claimed that, as a government employe, Worrilow, was not required to have a driver's license, as issued by the State Highway Department. This statement was questioned by Magistrate Berry at the hearing.

Upon a statement that the postal department was ready to discuss settlement of the Congleton claim for damages, Magistrate Berry dismissed the case with the announcement that the police department will seek a ruling from B. G. Eynon, registrar of the motor vehicle division of the State Highway Department on the claim of the postal authorities regarding the license.

If the police contention that all persons are required to have licenses to operate a motor vehicle is sustained Worrilow will be re-arrested, Magistrate Berry said.

WOMAN COULDN'T EVEN KEEP $48 UNDER HER HAT

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—"Mrs. Cornelius of New Jersey, has lost $48 from under her hat" astonished Democrats heard Senator Robinson read in sentorian tones from a pencilled slip of paper.

"While holding the banner shortly after Franklin Roosevelt's address" he continued to read "the hat was knocked off with $48, one $20 bill, four $5 bills and eight ones."

"In view of the nature of the announcement" he continued rapping for order "I think I might add that Franklin Roosevelt had nothing to do with it."

England Ships 8,000 Tons Of Booze Monthly

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 29.—Eight thousand tons of brandy and whisky are sent monthly from one English port alone to the Bahamas and Bermuda. That the majority of this liquor eventually finds its way into the United States is a foregone conclusion.

This allegation is made by a special correspondent of the London Daily Express, in an article describing present day activities of rum runners to defeat prohibition enforcement.

Despite wholesale seizures and arrests on the part of the American authorities, this business of liquor smuggling still flourishes and probably never will be altogether stopped, according to the correspondent.

$1,500,000 Cargo

"Each of these two vessels leaving the English port for Bermuda or the Bahamas," the correspondent says, "carries about 4,000 tons of liquor and an average cargo is valued at $1,500,000.

"On reaching the Atlantic Islands the liquor is adulterated and conveyed secretly to the rum runners' bases, to be rushed in fast motor boats through the American prohibition blockade. The value of the liquor when it ultimately reaches the consumer in the United States must be fabulous."

The correspondent takes care to point out that the shipping of liquor from England to the Bahamas is a perfectly legitimate enterprise. "But on its arrival there," he adds, "there begins a chain of astounding events."

"Nassau, in the Bahamas, is one of the ports used," the correspondent says in describing the methods used by the present-day liquor smuggler. "The adventure starts even with the negroes who come aboard to unload. The negro laborers are so keen on the drink that during night work they are said to cut the electric light wires, broach the cargoes in darkness and become gloriously drunk.

Nearer Florida

"The next task is to convey the diluted spirit away to other islands nearer Florida. Bimini and Gun Gay, tiny islands some 70 miles from the mainland, are admirably suited for the purpose. There the cargo is either put ashore or loaded direct to motor boats fast enough to outstrip the American revenue cutters.

"The liquor has now changed hands, the American rum runner being in possession. Before the spirit starts for the Florida coast, however, it again undergoes dilution by about 50 per cent.

"The American bootlegger generally makes his dash for the mainland at night in super-fast boats. It is a 50-50 chance of him succeeding in making the shore, with a big prize if he wins."

FRIENDLY FELLOWS MEET.

The members of the Friendly Fellows' club and their families from this vicinity were present at their meeting at the Millburn Grange Hall on Wednesday evening. A fine supper was served by a committee. After which those present were entertained by music by L. B. Round of New Castle, accompanied by his daughter. Harry Hunter was chairman of the meeting. The Builders' Band from New Castle were unable to be present at this session but the members hope to have them at some future meeting.

KENSINGTON POSTPONED

Owing to the strawberry and ice cream social on Friday evening, the members of the Kensington have postponed their regular meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Winger of Indiana Run called at the home of their son Samuel on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Alice Perdue has returned to her home in Ellwood City after visiting friends here the first of the week.

Miss Ida Ligo who has been teaching school in New York City, will arrive home Saturday to spend the summer.

The Volant ball team is planning on playing two ball games here on the Fourth of July. The team has been recently organized and it is hoped a good crowd will attend the games.

Road Closed

Until further notice the Ellwood-Wampum road from the B. & O. R. R. crossing to the foot of hill is closed to traffic.

Bessemer Troop Takes High Honor

Carl Nelson Of Bessemer Scores 145 Points At Scout Camp

CAMP ACTIVITIES ARE IN FULL SWING

Although it is a newcomer among several much older groups of boys, Bessemer troop 48 took an important place at Camp John M. Phillips Thursday when Carl Nelson of the troop won high place with 145 honor points and Carl Kanengeiser also of the troop, was awarded second with 125 honor points.

One of the biggest events in the camp for some of the boys is when those who have passed the requirements take up their residence in the Indian village. This year the village has been completely renovated and enlarged so that it will be able to take care of more scouts. It has been appropriately named Amadahi, which means "In the forest by the waters" since it is located in the gulch near the rocks.

Three tribes have already been organized at the camp. The first ribe is called Ayipa, "The Workers" and its members are Clyde and Harry Shannon. The second tribe, Migisi, "Eagles" has for its membership Junior Brown and William Wheeler, while the third tribe the Chastesuta, "Firm of Heart" is made up of Dan Ryan and Walter Evans.

The big cheaf of the Indian village is Chief Whosegottheknife. He will live in the leaders lean-to which is called the Eagle's Palace. John Boston a very capable scout, has been chosen for this important office and well fill the duties of such a chief.

Several of the scouts at camp passed tests Thursday. Jack Gardner completed his second class tests. A large number of merit badges were awarded to the following scouts: Bill Wheeler, scholarship and journalism; Harry Shannon, electricity and cycling; Clyde Shannon, cycling, first aid and public health; Dan Ryan, cooking, scholarship, music and handicraft; Martin Leonhardt, athletics pioneering and physical development; Bob Jameson, cycling and public health; Walter Evans, leathercraft; Harold Charbonnier, life saving; Bob Kennedy, athletics and Harvey Clyde athletics.

The non-swimmers are being taught to swim by Baldy Watson an expert swimmer. Scout Sidney Lucas treated all the boys to candy at dinner Thursday. The candy was brought out by Sidney's mother. Duard Homer provided the boys with extra eats in the form of a very good cheese.

Some of the camp visitors Wednesday evening were Mrs. J. M. Kneram, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hoskins, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Shannon, I. C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. James Charbonnier, Mr. and Mrs. Keane, Mr. and Mrs. Kanengeiser, Mr. and Mrs. De Arment, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Seltzer and Mr. and Mrs. George Winter.

Stockade Dan Boone won the inspection Thursday with an average of 85 points. The honor hut was the Volant Citizens hut with the following members: Bob McClure, Walter Evans, Ralph Kneram and Dan Ryan.

The winners in the games Thursday were as follows: Davey Thompson stokade defeated the Davey Crockett stockade by a score of 20 to 18. In the mesh ball the Dan Boone stockade beat the Dick Carson stockade by a score of 17 to 4.

Parade For Reed Consumes Hour Of Convention Time

Reed Nomination And Parade Lasts Two Hours And All For Nothing

By RUTH RIDENOUR
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Hysteria meanders pointlessly on like a brook through the woods of this convention. There was great whoopee when Jim Reed was nominated in spite of the fact that he had conceded the nomination to Smith. Yet someone spent an hour nominating him and his supporters spent another hour having a parade for him. I'll bite, why? "Politics."

During the orgy I accosted Tom Pendergast. He's the closest Kansas City has ever come to a Tammany, and one of Reed's chief managers. Asked him whether the racket was just music or if it meant something. "Just music," he said. Then he discovered my question had official literary intentions—I had told him so but he hadn't heard "in all this noise" he said—and he backed down. Said the cow bells meant plenty, or words to that effect, and that anything he had said previously was not for publication. That's too bad. His error and my inexperience.

Mrs. Gardner, wife of a former governor of Missouri, was next accosted by this tactless reporter. I asked her how she managed to remain so cool and beautiful during the mess. She stood like a lovely iceberg above the swamp. She promptly replied, "Because I have such a cool nice candidate." She was wielding one of those clappers New York night clubs furnish.

Strife Threatens Hadassah Body In Convention Order

Many Important Women Resign From National Zionist Organization

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Internal strife today threatened the National Zionist Organization of America following charges made against the leaders of the Hadassah Women's Zionist organization, meeting in annual session here, by Mrs. Archibald Silverman of Providence, R. I.

Mrs. Silverman, who recently resigned as vice president of Hadassah in protest against the action of the national board of Hadassah between conventions, accused the leaders of the organization with conducting "political intrigues" against the national organization and making for the moral disruption of the organization.

"I learned to my great astonishment and dismay," Mrs. Silverman said in speaking of her recent trip to Palestine, "that Hadassah was most unpopular in Hadassah; not that the cause itself was not appreciated and loved, but the officials of Hadassah and their high handed methods are being criticized and disliked."

Certain leaders, Mrs. Silverman charged, "are undermining the confidence of the Zionists themselves in the Zionist organization of America administration."

Further charges were made against the leaders of the New York office, who, she said, have caused the withdrawal from the organization of many important women.

Senator Gerry Seems Choice For National Democratic Chairman

Governor Smith To Confer With National Committee Next Thursday

Will Set Date For Presidential Notification; Smith Plans Vacation

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Nominated for the Presidency at one of the most impressive love feasts the Democratic party ever has had, Gov. Al Smith of New York is slated to lay the groundwork for an aggressive campaign at a meeting with 30 members of the national committee in a room at the Biltmore Hotel, New York City, next Thursday.

Unless there are some unexpected developments, indications were that the New York executive will dictate the selection of Senator Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island as chairman of the Democratic national committee to succeed Clem Shaver of West Virginia.

There will be a perfunctory meeting of the national committee here tomorrow, when the committee of 30 will be named to confer with Governor Smith in New York. The governor is said to have already expressed a desire to have Senator Gerry as head of the national committee, but the Smith leaders here at Houston indicated they would prefer to wait until they could have a talk with the governor before taking any definite action.

Three Decisions

Three important decisions which will be made by Governor Smith and the Democratic leaders at the New York City conference are:

1. Whether Smith is to bear down heavily on prohibition at his notification ceremony and tell the country again where he stands on that important issue, or whether he is to treat it lightly.
2. Select a new chairman.
3. Fix the date for the notification ceremony.

Unless the governor changes his mind, his leaders here are convinced he will strike out boldly at prohibition in his speech formally accepting the Presidential nomination. There are certain leaders in the Smith camp, and Judge George W. Olvany, Tammany Hall chieftain, is said to be one, who feel it might be wise for the governor to soft-pedal prohibition in his speech of acceptance.

On the other hand, there are any number of Democratic leaders who feel it will be a difficult task to keep Governor Smith from striking out boldly at prohibition.

Tentative plans calls for the governor's notification ceremony on the steps of the capitol at Albany the latter part of July. There is ample space in the park fronting the capitol to accommodate the thousands of Democratic leaders who are expected to attend.

After all the details have been worked out next week the governor is expected to take a vacation, probably somewhere in the Adirondack Mountains, where there is a good golf course. His friends and advisers will insist that he take it easy for the remainder of the summer, getting himself in shape for a strenuous campaign in the early autumn.

Pays For Uniform; Friend Disappears

Ellwood City Man Appeals To Police To Search For Fleecer

Landon Thomas, Jr., of Ellwood City, appealed to the local police yesterday to assist him in locating the colored man, who told him that he could get him a job on the Pennsylvania R. R. at New Castle. This man informed Thomas, who is also colored, that he would need a uniform on the job and that it would cost $20. Thomas gave the other fellow twenty dollars to get the uniform and now he is hunting his friend and his money. The man who secured the money is described as being 51 years of age, and wearing a gray cap, gray suit and black shoes. He was bald headed.

Three Bids For Lee Ave. Grading

Three firms presented bids today to council in session at city hall for the grading of Lee avenue from West Washington street, north 900 feet.

The city engineer estimated the grading would cost approximately $991 and the three bidders and their prices are:

Elder & Ferry, $646.00; M. J. Scanlon, $825.00 and Woods & Golder, $1,182.

Pending a check of the figures in the bids the award was withheld by council.

Realty Transfers

Armanda DiCecca to Jacob Mathieu, Wayne, $1.

Ludik Budka estate to Mike Suarni, 8th ward, $3000.

James B. Smith to S. M. Stewart, Shenango $400.

Lake Erie Limestone Co. to Peter Rocco, Mahoning, $150.

The great war was fought to end war, you remember, and now the armies must blaze away without a formal declaration of hostilities.

Now all depends on whether the Democrats or Republicans have offended the most good party men.

Two West Pittsburg Boys Reported Found

Richard Boozel, aged 12, and Philip Cross, aged 10, both of West Pittsburg and reported missing from their homes in that place, were located yesterday in Pittsburgh, according to the message received by Chief of Police C. C. Horner. It was figured that they might be located there, because of the fact that it was discovered that they purchased tickets to that city.

Former Marathon Dancer Seriously Ill Is Reported

New York Medical Men Keep Close Tab On Remaining Couples In Contest

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 29.—Startled by reports that Frank McQuinn, former contestant in the dance marathon, was critically ill in a Wilkes-Barre, Pa., hospital as a result of over-exertion, officers of the Department of Health kept a vigilant watch today at Madison Square Garden.

They carefully scrutinized the condition of the nine remaining couples who are fighting it out for the $5,000 endurance prize in their 20th day of intermittent dancing.

The city doctors also expressed interest in the rumor that some of the couples are being "doped" by their trainers in order to keep them on the dance floor hour after hour. At the first evidence of the use of narcotics the marathon will be stopped, officials said.

With his partner, Mary Goddess, dance hall hostess, McQuinn was disqualified at the end of the 275th hour, eight days ago. The couple were ruled off the floor for fighting. For some time after he quit the youth was unable to sleep more than a few minutes at a time. He left for his home in Wilkes-Barre and collapsed there last Saturday, according to the report. He is under observation at the hospital.

Start Work On New Rail Line

First 100 Feet Of New Trunk Line From Cochran Mills Is Constructed

ENTIRE ROUTE HAS BEEN SURVEYED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—With 100 feet of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad's new trunk line laid, work went forward today on the construction of the 38-mile extension from Cochran Mills to Connellsville which traffic experts say will open up a new industrial field in Southwestern Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio and will compete with existing eastern trunk lines.

Construction of the first 100 feet was without ceremony. The main line of the West Side railway which is owned by the Pittsburgh and West Virginia was cut and the 100-foot turnout was constructed pointing in the general direction of Baltimore. From here engineers plan to work continuously and finish the 38-mile link in record time.

The entire route of the new line has been surveyed according to Frank E. Taplin, chairman of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia. He said that he would be ready to receive bids on the project in 90 days.

Directors of the company authorized construction of the new link in New York this week following action by the Interstate Commerce commission authorizing the construction.

Virginia wrote the plank after a more liberal pronouncement had been rejected by the drafting committee. Gov. Dan Moody, the Texas dry leader, and Governor Ritchie of Maryland, champion of the wets, both approved the declaration of party policy.

Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, put his stamp of approval on it. So did Senator Wagner of New York, spokesman for Governor Smith.

Promise Made.

On farm relief the platform promised the farmers an earnest endeavor would be made to salve the problem of distribution of the cost of dealing with crop surpluses over the marketed units of the crop whose producers embraced the old equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen bill, without closing the doors on a new form of relief legislation.

"The solution of this problem would avoid government subsidy to which the Democratic party has always been opposed," said the platform. "The solution of this problem will be a prime and immediate concern of a Democratic administration."

A pledge was made to create a federal farm board to assist the farmer and stock raiser in the marketing of their products as the federal reserve board has done for the banker and business man.

President Coolidge was blamed for the Republicans' "failure" to offer a constructive program to restore equality to agriculture.

The Democratic attack on the administration was summed up in the plank entitled "Republican corruption":

"Unblushing, the Republican party offers as its record agriculture prostrate, industry depressed, American shipping destroyed, workmen without employment; eveyrwhere disgust and suspicion, and corruption unpunished and unafraid.

"Never in the history of the country has there occurred in any given period of time, or, indeed, in all time put together, such a spectacle of sordid corruption corruption and unabashed rascality at that which has characterized the administration of federal affairs under eight blighting years of Republican rule."

High Lights of Platform.

The high lights of other planks follow:

Economy and Reorganization—"No economy resulted from the Republican party rule."

Finance and taxation—"We favor a further reduction of the internal taxes of the people."

Tariff—"Duties that will permit effective competition, insure against monopoly and at the same time produce a fair revenue for the support of government."

Mining—"It is the duty of our government to foster this industry and to remove the restrictions that destroy its prosperity."

Foreign policy—"The Republican administration has no foreign policy; it has drifted without plan. We declare for a constructive foreign policy based on these principles: Outlawry of war, freedom from entangling political alliances with foreign nations.

"Intereference in the purely internal affairs of Latin-American countries must cease.

"We condemn the Republican administration for lack of statesmanship and efficiency in negotiating the 1921 treaty for the limitation of armaments. In consequence, the race between nations in the building of unlimited weapons of destruction still goes on and the peoples of the world are still threatened with war and burdened with taxation for additional armament."

Water power, waterways and flood control—"We favor and will promote deep waterways from the Great Lakes to the gulf and to the Atlantic ocean. We favor expenditious construction of flood relief works on the Mississippi and Colorado rivers and such reclamation and irrigation projects upon the Colorado river as may be found feasible."

Transportation—"Common carriers, whether by land, water or rail, must be projected in an equal opportunity to compete so that governmental regulations against exorbitant rates and inefficiency will be aided by competition."

Labor—"Labor is not a commodity. Human rights must be safeguarded. Labor should be exempt from the operations of the anti-trust laws. We recognize that legislative and other investigations have shown the existence of grave abuse in the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes."

Veterans—"Generous appropriations, honest management, the removal of vexatious administration delays and sympathetic assistance for the veterans of all wars, is what the Democratic party demands."

Women and children—"We declare for equality of women with men in all political and governmental matters."

Immigration—"Laws which limit immigration must be preserved in full force and effect, but the provisions contained in these laws that separate husbands from wives and parents from infant children are inhuman."

Campaign expenditures—"We condemn the improper and excessive use of money in elections as a danger threatening the very existence of Democratic institution."

Monopolies and anti-trust laws—"Honest business, no matter its size, need have no fears of a Democratic administration. The Democratic party will ever oppose illegitimate and dishonest business."

Must Return Gifts

All of the gifts which Johnny Hawkins, California football ace, sent to his wife, Thelma (above), during his career as a gentleman burglar, must, police have wired her in Vancouver, be forwarded to Los Angeles to determine if they were stolen, too. She has indicated she will stand by her husband in his hour of trouble.

Scanlon Is Awarded Greenwood Contract

M. J. Scanlon, local contractor today was awarded a contract by city council during their meeting at city hall by which Greenwood avenue between West Washington and State streets will be paved with brick at a cost of $8,762.30. The bid was the lowest submitted for brick according to the city engineer.

Receive Two Bids On Seventh Ward Station Project

Two bids were received for work on No. 7 fire station it was stated when council convened formally in city hall today but the contract will not be granted until next week.

The city desires to have the cupola removed, rollers installed, attic windows made and a shed in the rear of the building removed.

The bidders for the work are Karl Becker who bid $225 if he was allowed to keep the lumber from the shed and $275 if the city retained it. A. E. Thompson and D. E. Houck submitted a bid of $135 and if brass bushings used $40 additional, the city to keep the lumber.

A Democracy is a land in which everybody feels equal to anybody but doesn't like to have everybody feel equal to him.

City Hall Painting Bids Are Opened

Contract Will Probably Be Awarded By Council Monday

Pursuant to council's desire to have the exterior of the city building appear as neat as possible when the third class cities delegates convene here in September, the solons advertised for bids for painting recently and today bids were opened when solons met at city hall.

The city engineer did not submit an estimate but the three bidders presented prices as follows:

Phillips & Campbell, $825.00; W. H. Burnside, $937.50 and C. W. Smith & Company, $870.

The wood portions of the exterior of city hall proper and the East street fire department will be painted when the contract is awarded which will probably be Monday.

The average man pays for a home by the time he is fifty, which explains why there is no effort to provide old-age pensions for landlords.

The nearest approach to perpetual motion is the straw hat that goes careening down the street.—Terre Haute Star.

You've never known comfort until you've slept on a Simmons Beautyrest.

This famous mattress is the product of painstaking experiment by the world's largest makers. It has been on the market less than two years—and is today the largest selling mattress made.

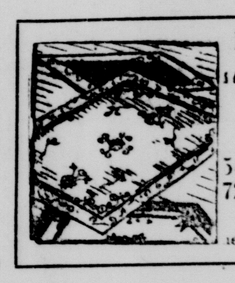

In construction it is entirely different from any other mattress. Its center is made up of hundreds of springy wire coils. Each coil is permanently anchored in its individual pocket. Then these pockets are all sewn together making a live, springy center that somewhat resembles a honeycomb. On top and bottom, covering this center, are placed layer after layer of finest mattressing.

The coils make it possible for the Beautyrest to closely follow the outline of the body—supporting it, resting it.

Such luxurious buoyancy is almost unbelievable! And smart, new coverings and tailored lines give visible evidence of its durable quality.

The De Luxe label stamped on the side rail is your guarantee of getting all the quality points that only the De Luxe spring has. Look for it and be sure.

"Children Welcome" In New Bungalow Court To Have 500 Homes

(International News Service)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 29.—Signs reading "For rent—adults only" will be taboo at the largest bungalow in southern California. "Children welcome" placards will be displayed according to the backers of the big court, who have incorporated for $1,000,000 and expect soon to start construction.

There will be 500 four room bungalows on the 40 acre tract, which lies within 15 minutes ride of the edge of San Diego. Only families with children will be accepted—and the rent will be $25 per month.

The court virtually will be a small city, with 2,000 residents. There will be a central playground, garage, laundry, general store and meat market. An administration building, a library and recreational hall will be maintained.

Soviets Use Planes To Drop Poison Gas On Mosquito Beds

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 29.—A squadron of 25 bombing planes loaded with tons of arsenic gases and crude oil will fight armies of malarial mosquitoes and save probably thousands of human lives.

Millions of acres of peat moors, the favorite mosquito breeding haunts, will be sprayed with oil from the air. The swarms of the pests which are already hatched will be killed off by arsenic gas. The malaria death rate in some districts of Russia is appalling but the disease is common all over the country.

Other squadrons sent out by the Commissariat of Agriculture will fight the boll weevil in the cotton fields of the south and the weed beetle in the northern pine forests. Most of the pilots are army officers who for training purposes have been instructed to simulate actual air raids even though the victims be only mosquitoes.

Tourist Crisis Facing London, "Near Dry" City

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 29.—London is in the throes of a tourist crisis.

A heated controversy is raging among various sections of the populace on the question of whether this city should take active steps to emulate the examples of Paris and other continental cities in order to attract the profitable American tourist and the money he flings on a visit to Europe.

Great Britain gets a large number of tourists each year, but most of them come only to see places of historic interest. The fact that Paris, with its boulevards, its cafes and its hectic night-life appeals so strongly to the average American, has aroused jealousy in the hearts of some of the English, and there is considerable agitation for the letting down of certain bars in order to provide visitors with a gay time while they are in London.

London long ago earned the title of a sombre city, and it is proud of the fact. Efforts have often been made to stage in it some riotous gayety, and always there have been strong protests.

Night Clubs Different

Night clubs in London are totally different from those of New York and Paris. To begin with, their membership is limited —one must be introduced by a member and pay in initiation fee before he can partake of its pleasures.

When this formality has been gone through, the tourist finds still another obstacle to his enjoyment. Intoxicating liquors, under the law, cannot be sold after eleven oclock at night, except on special occasions, when they may be sold until midnight.

"That's easy," declares the American visitor, "let's buy enough to last out the evening before they put the lid down."

But easier said than done. For when the curfew sounds, all glasses must be emptied, and even the most adroit cannot hope to keep a surreptitious bottle beneath the table for the headwaiters know that such a violation of the law would result in the suspension of his license and the imposition of a heavy fine if it were discovered by the authorities.

Nor is the enforcement of Great Britain's liquor laws such an empty gesture as that of the United States. Raids upon night-clubs are frequent, and nattily-attired plain-clothesmen hob-nob with merry-makers at all the resorts. To escape their all-seeing eye is an impossibility, and even the most riotous visitor finds within a very short time that he must obey the law.

Standing Joke

There is a standing joke among Americans in London that "prohibition" in this country is worse than at home.

"In America," they say, "at least you can get a drink at any hour of the day or night."

In this country, the hours are restricted, and the law is enforced.

Conditions such as these have left but one course to the American visitor— sightseeing. In London and its environs, in the Midlands, the North or on the Southern Coast, he will find beauty spots unparalleled anywhere in the world, and historic places fall over one another in profusion. But for gayety, particularly of the kind that is accompanied by incadescent lights and the popping of corks, he must go to Paris.

For this reason, certain fractions, bearing in mind the huge revenue gained by France from the tourist population, are making strenuous efforts to make gayety a cheaper luxury here than it is today. They would like to elliminate the police-imposed "membership lists" in the cafes, and they would like to postpone the closing hours and the time when liquor must cease to be sold. But their efforts are meeting with opposition, and it is not regarded likely that they will succeed.

British Society Women Completing Plans For Arctic Hunting Trip

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 29.—A group of English society women are planning to spend the summer hunting polar bears in the Arctic regions. Over their teacups and bridge parties of the past winter they planned this adventure and have secured J. C. Mason, a distinguished Arctic explorer, to organize the expedition for them.

A ship has already been chartered and it is intended to complete the passenger list with women. The cruise of these "Arctic Amazons" will start in June, and last about three months.

Game Warden's Car Ditched By Muskrat

KEENE, N. H., June 29.—An imitation bull-fight, with State Game and Fish Warden William J. Callahan as the matador and a large sized muskrat as the bull, took place recently in the light well or shaft in front of the W. P. Chamberlain store on Main street. How the animal got there is not known, as the nearest body of water is approximately half a mile distant.

The warden entered the shaft armed with a burlap bag. Several interested persons leaned over the shaft and watched the game warden manoeuvre in an attempt to have the muskrat leap into the bag, which he held open. After several attempts of the rodent to jump at Mr. Callahan or by him, in the parlance of the sporting world "the game was in the bag," but the battle was not ended.

As Mr. Callahan, accompanied by Jennie B. Powers of the Humane Society, were proceeding to Beaverbrook in an automobile on the Concord road the animal worked itself free from the bag and in the next few minutes things happened again. The clutch would not function properly, as Mr. Muskrat had enwrapped it somehow. This resulted in the car swerving from the highway and into a ditch, the rat again making a nuisance of himself by crawling over Mrs. Powers before the was "bagged" once more.

The car, slightly damaged, was pulled back onto the highway by a passing truck, and a short time later the citizenry of Beaverbrook had increased by one.

President Chosen O. K., Otey Walker Goes Home In A Democratic Style

By MARSHAL OTEY WALKER
Special Central Press Correspondent for New Castle News and Delegate to the Democratic Convention

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—The convention is done for, and so am I—almost. If I get home in time to vote it will be after so long that I will have forgotten who's running.

I'm glad the Democrats picked Smith. I was for him all the time. He's a great fellow. In case he is elected I'd be the last man to ask him for a job just because I helped him get the nomination.

I don't believe in patronage. But if Smith is elected I'll drop in at Washingtton next spring for a little talk. If he wants to offer me the post office job in the Old Home Town I'll take it. The old fellow we have now is no good and I'm going to tell the new president so. That's why I'm going up.

Tonight, if the train leaves on time, I'm going to start for home. I hung around Clem Shaver, Senator Robinson, George Brennan and a few of the other big boys today, kind of hoping they needed another man for their trip home, but they were all kind of busy.

I had just enough money left for an upper berth home, but as I wanted to hit the Old Home Town in style I dropped into a clubroom on Capitol street, not far from Texas street. A bunch of men were sitting around a table holding cards in their hands and playing with little round discs of red, white and blue. It all looked very patriotic.

They asked me if I wanted to play, but I said I didn't know how.

"Got any money?" asked one man. "Some," I said. 'You'll learn easy," he said, and gave me a chair.

Well, it seems the game is decided by the dots on the card. It's a funny game. One dot makes the card worth more than any other dot. Two dots is the smallest card except when it is crazy or wild or something.

The game was going along fine, and I was building a regular fence out of the little discs in front of me when the first man said: "Let's shoot everything on the next hand and quit."

We did. At the end of the game, with all our money in the center of the table, the first man and I were the only ones left. He ended the game by asking: "Who is the luckiest man in the world? And what are your best cards?"

"Lindbergh," I answered, "and I have four kings."

"No," he answered. "I am, because I have four aces."

Well, as I said, I believe my train is going to leave tonight, but I'm not sure.

You see, I never bummed my way in a cattle car before.

Smith Nominated Thursday Night By Six Minute Leeway

At 11:45 P. M. Smith's Nomination Assured On First Ballot; Superstitious?

(International News Service)

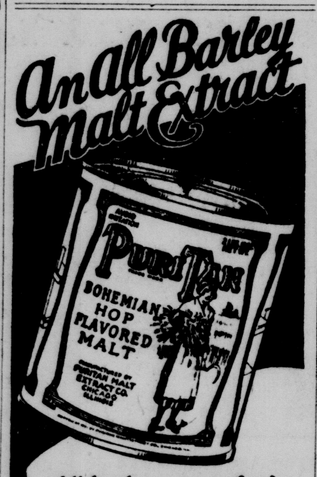

HOUSTON, Texas, June 29.—Al Smith, by six minutes, escaped being nominated on a Friday, a day which many women voters consider unlucky. It was 11:54 p. m. on Thursday that it was announced from the platform that Governor Smith was the Democratic presidential nominee.

The governor, according to members of Mrs. Smith's party attending the convention, is not superstitious—but plenty of other voters are. This group is so numerous that the Wilson campaign managers in 1912 recognized its prejudices to the extent of sidetracking platform action on a Thursday to have Woodrow Wilson nominated before Friday rolled around.

Rev. E. Thomas Resigns Charge

Emmanuel Baptist Minister In City For 10 Years Expects To Return To Wales

ACCOMPLISHES FINE WORK IN THIS CITY

Rev. Emrys Thomas, who has been pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church of this city for the past 10 years, has offered his resignation, to become effective the last Sunday in July.

The resignation of Rev. Thomas is much regretted by his congregation and countless other friends throughout New Castle.

During his efficient leadership the church has not only been greatly strengthened along spiritual lines, but also along material lines. Some time after he resumed his pastorate here the mortgage on the church was burned so that the building is entirely free from debt.

Rev. Thomas came to this country from Wales 12 years ago. Soon after arriving here he was called to the Green street Baptist church at Edwardsville, Pa., where he was pastor for two years. Upon the recommendation of the Arch-Druid of America, Dr. T. C. Edwards, of Scranton, he accepted a call to the Emmanuel Baptist church, South Jefferson and Reynolds street, where he has been pastor for 10 years.

Rev. Thomas received his education at Carmarthen and Amanfort Academies and Cardiff University. He was a member of the New Castle Ministerial Association.

After locating in this city he was united in marriage to Miss Myfanwy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Williams of Hillcrest avenue. Mrs. Thomas will also be greatly missed, as she has been an able worker in the Sunday school and various organizations of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas expect to return to Wales in August. Rev. Thomas expects to occupy the pulpit in the First Baptist church of Liverpool while en route to his home.

Two Fire Alarms; Small Fire Loss

iFremen answered two alarms of fire Thursday afternoon which were received within a short time of each other.

The first was from Box 711 at 2:15 p. m. It called the firemen to the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company where the rope shed at the west end of the plant had been set on fire accidentally by an acetylene torch. The loss was $75.

The second alarm was from Box 79 in the Seventh ward district. It was received at 2:35 p. m. The firemen on their arrival at the box could find no evidence of fire in the vicinity. It is listed as a false alarm.

Every community has at least one sucker who will do all the work if given a few chairmanships.

BOY SCOUT Activities

TROOP 13.

Lions troop 13 held their regular meeting last night at the home of Jack Grittie. All scouts who are not attending camp reported for the meeting. The meeting was in charge of Peter Grittie scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster Jack Grittie.

The troop was pleased to have with them a visitor, Kenneth Cachion, a scout from Michigan. Kenneth is the proud possessor of 26 merit badges.

During the course of the meeting the scouts built and demonstrated ten different kinds of fire making

A two mile hike was taken by the troop at which time the boys collected seven different kinds of specimens. These were explained and the uses of each given by the scouts.

TROOP 38.

Troop 38 met Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and held a very interesting and instructive outdoor meeting. Senior patrol leader called attention and the flag was saluted by the entire troop. Several of the scouts passed tests.

A game of "Capture the Flag" was also played. A campfire program was also held which was very interesting for the scouts.

Another such program is being planned for the near future.

Gold Coast Of Chicago May Be Slum In Future

By FRANCIS ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 29.—The exclusive Gold Coast society folks are worried again.

Architects are telling them, now that their highly fashionable residence district, around Lincoln Park and north along the north shore of Lake Michigan, is going to be a "slum" in a few years.

The Gold Coast folks know what slums look like and they aren't breathing free for a while. They can see visions of undesirables encroaching on the sacred precincts and already in their backyards they have a foreign district, hemming them in.

For years, through the history of Chicago, the Gold Coast has been famed as a show place, and the residence of the city's elite. Tall apartment towers with luxurious fittings and tremendous rentals have risen in serried ranks, and the residents are proud of them.

But it is from these very apartment buildings that the danger is coming, according to architects.

Back To Suburbs

Young couples, they say, will be moving into these towers, and filling them up as soon as they are built. In a few years the young couples will be well established and will be moving with their children to the suburbs. Vacant apartments, creating a problem for the building owners, will force rentals downward in a sharp drop and the once vaunted structures will become inhabited by less and less desirable tenants.

This has been the case, the architects point out, in other parts of the city where apartment districts have reared.

The once brave structures have become the roost of transients, persons of dubious character, and the foreign population, with its teeming families.

Once a few weeks ago the millionaire population of the suburbs of Wilmette, Evanston and other north shore communities became alarmed at the encroachment of apartment houses and congestion of residents.

Now the Gold Coast finds itself in the position of having admitted already a vast number of apartment houses.

Allan B. Pond, architect, told members of the Chicago Regional Planning Association:

"Crowding in so many families per acre, as the apartment building allows, could not have any other than a disasterous effect on a community.

"Young couples move into the apartments. When they have children they move into the suburbs and build homes. Rents are lowered in the apartments. Eventually those in destitute circumstances inhabit them.

Warning Given

Axel Lonnquist, of Wilmette, renewed his warnings to the association that the suburbs will face the same problem, if apartments are allowed there.

A large percentage of the population of Chicago now lives in apartment buildings, according to real estate men. Rentals are placed high enough while the buildings are new to allow sharp reductions after the first two years. Because owners of ground find it difficult to be public minded and refuse large offers from apartment builders, the association is having trouble in passing zoning restrictions.

Pennsylvania Votes 70 1-2 For Smith In Houston Balloting

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Pennsylvania's delegates, who cast 70½ out of a possible 76 votes for Gov. Al Smith as nominee at the Democratic convention here, today turned their thoughts to the fall campaign and the New York governor's chances in the Keystone state.

Pennsylvania's overwhelming vote for Smith bore out the predictions of Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, retiring national committeeman.

John A. McSparran, leader of the Anti-Smith forces in Pennsylvania cast his half vote for Cordell Hull, voting as did Lewis Beale, Mifflintown, and G. Willis Hartman, Harrisburg. James H. Ross, of Lancaster, voted for James A. Reed, as did J. Albert Reed, of Washington, a second cousin of the Missourian.

Josiah W. Gitt, of York, repeated his vote of four years ago for Huston Thompson, of Colorado.

Al Smith—70½.
Cordell Hull—2½.
James A. Reed—1.
Vic Donahey—1.
Huston Thompson—1.

Triplets Will Enter High School Class

ETHEL, EFFIE AND EDITH PARKER.

It is not at all uncommon for twins to go through school together, but triplets, well, that is something different. And yet Ethel, Effie and Edith Parker, 13-year-old triplets of Butler, will enter high school this fall as members of the freshman B class, The News is informed by their brother, C. E. Parker, of 211 North Cedar street.

The three girls started to school together, entering the Broad street school at Butler when they were six years old. Since that time they have always been together; even their grades do not vary more than a fraction of a per cent. Those grades, too, are high, for throughout their school life final averages have never dropped below 90.

Yes, for almost eight years the girls have been together, but now they have come to the parting of the ways. Although they might be alike in most ways, their ambitions vary. Edith and Ethel are struck with the business complex; they want to enter the world of finance, so they will take a commercial course. On the other hand, Effie longs for the life academic, and she will become a teacher, first taking a college preparatory course.

Then, Effie must be different. Both Edith and Ethel have had their hair bobbed, while Ethel still clings to the long curls of her childhood.

All three of the girls are in fairly good health. Their home is at 528 Kutch avenue, Butler.

Scripture And Nature In War Till Dooms Day

By FRANCIS ARMSTRONG,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 29.—Scripture and nature, the two great forces in life, will wage war with each other, in the minds of men, until the day of judgment, in the opinion of Dr. L. Franklin Gruber, president of the Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary and noted religo-scientific writer.

For the time, ages ago, when man first began to cast around for and explanation of the panorama of nature that he found, to seek the answer to the rising and setting of the sun, to the phenomenon of life, he found answers that were at variance with the teachings of his past religious beliefs, Dr. Gruber points out.

So, he believes, the age-old dispute that has enlisted the minds of men such as Cardinal Newman, Burke, Hume, James Stuart Mill and Jeremy Bentham, will remain a puzzle to the pearly gates.

Conflict Continues

"The conflict between religion and science must and will continue," Dr. Gruber believes.

"Not until the universe has had its full outworking and until man has read clearly all its secret meanings and traced its very law and knows its every state throughout all the ages will he be able to understand the phenomenal panoramic outlines of these creative records.

"The modern viewpoint insists that the physical universe rests on a spiritual reality. All peoples, therefore, worship what they believe to be the spiritual vause.

"Religion and science will continue its work, and completion of this work will not occur this side of the pearly gates."

The opinion expressed by Dr. Gruber, however, is not concurred in by all theological opinion in Chicago.

Religion and Science

Dean Shaler Mathews, of the University of Chicago school of theology, expressed his belief in the terse sentence:

"Religion must be compatible with science or religion is a myth."

Dean Shaler Mathews explained he did not consider religion a myth, but meant only that religion is, fundamentally, in agreement with science, since they are phases of the same thing, and that any apparent difference is the result of a mistaken conception of the men making the study.

There should be no trouble, Dean Mathews believes, in reconciling discoveries of science to the teachings of religion, or the teachings of religion to the discoveries of science.

Magic Healing Log Brought From Panama For Chicago Museum

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 29.—A rare bloodwood cacique log, the magic "healer" of the Central American Indians, is included in a collection of rare woods which have been brought to the Stanley Field Hall of Field Museum of Natural History, it has been announced.

Only two such logs ever have been brought out of Panama, according to Prof. Samuel J. Record, research associate at the Field Museum. The other log is in possession of the Yale University school of forestry.

George Proctor Cooper of Los Angeles obtained the woods in a joint expedition into Central America under the auspices of the Field Museum, Yale University, New York Botanical Gardens and the United Fruit Company.

The expedition fought its way through the steaming, fever ridden jungles of Bocas del Toro, in western Panama, for weeks in order to get into the country where the woods were found, Professor Record said.

The "magic" logs are closely guarded by the natives, Cooper reported, on account of their supposed ability to cure all diseases and to heal wounds.

Mercer Banker Dies Wednesday

Dinner Bridge At Country Club Is Extremely Enjoyable Affair

ELLWOOD CITY June 29.—Many members of the Country club took part in the events arranged yesterday at the weekly Ladies Day meeting.

The committee in charge was headed by Mrs. Kathryn Jones and included Miss Thelma Adams, Miss Alice Barton, Miss Ethel Cavert, Miss Blanche Fisher, Miss Christena Fisher, Miss Sallie Hazen, Miss Ruth Lundgren, Miss Edrye Moyer, Miss Juliet Offutt, Miss Marian Slocum, Miss Betty Sowry, Miss Virginia Thompson, Miss Freda Wadsworth, Miss Helen Whitaker and Mrs. Nellie Hazen.

At 4:30 p. m. 19 of the women engaged in golf matches the prize for which was won by Mrs. W. R. Thompson.

Entertainment during the dinner which followed the golf at 7 p. m. was furnished by Miss Marian Slocum who gave a piano solo with her usual excellence and also by a male quartet. The singers, the Messrs. John Streeter, Hubert Slocum, Tom Moorhead and Bill Jones received much hearty applause. They sang four numbers.

After dinner 19 tables were arranged for bridge players and the rest of the evening was spent in cardplaying. Several guests who had not been at dinner came in later to enjoy the playing. High score favors were awarded to Mrs. Lafe Butler and R. C. Stiefel. Mrs. Francis Meade received the guest favor.

Anu extensive program is laid out for Wednesday and Thursday of next week by the women. In the evening of the Fourth there will be a dinner dance at 6 o'clock. Tables will be arranged for those desiring to play bridge.

At 9:45 there will be fireworks by the lake and other entertainment will be provided in the form of musical numbers.

On Thursday at 1 o'clock the monthly luncheon of the women will be held. This will be Guest Day and each member will have the privilege of bringing one guest from Ellwood who is not a member of the club.

Reservations for dinner and luncheon must be made with Mrs. Henry Schenck or J. H. Heberling before noon July 3.

Missionary Society Has Tureen Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 29. — The Women's Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church held a tureen dinner in the church yesterday at 1 o'clock, followed by a business meeting and missionary program.

The subject of the program was "West Indies", upon which papers were read by Mrs. Dallas Veon and Miss McKeown.

Mrs. Harry Harris and Mrs. Thomas Jones sang two duets which were very much enjoyed.

Arrangements were made for a picnic to be held at a time to be announced later.

Ellwood Golfers Play On Poland Golf Links

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 29. — Ellwood went down to defeat after a close match with Poland Country Club at Youngstown, in the first of the home-and-home golf matches, yesterday.

About twenty-five members of the local club motored to Youngstown to take part in the matches, and, in spite of the fact that they were not winners, had one grand and glorious time as guests of the genial Polanders.

Golf was played during the afternoon after which the Ellwood men were dinner guests of the Youngstown men in the clubhouse.

The return match, when the Youngstown club is to play here, will be in September.

ATTEND REVIVAL

ELLWOOD CITY, June 29. — A number of people motored to Zion Sunday evening to hear Rev. Floyd Childs, who is holding revival meetings there. He was the former pastor of the Harmony Baptist church.

Kept Baby a Secret

"All my life I've lived like a goldfish in a glass bowl," said Mae Murray, picture star and the wife of Prince David M'Dvani, when questioned about the birth of a baby a year ago. Her husband told reporters that news of the baby was withheld for fear it might affect Miss Murray's career in the films

Committee Completes Plans For Glorious Fourth Celebration

No One To Be Left Out Of The Big Events Planned For Next Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 29.—Patriotic enthusiasm once more will have its outlet in the Independence Day celebration planned by the Chamber of Commerce for the people of this community, it was decided by the committee of arrangements at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at nine thirty this morning.

Sports for the young and old are being arranged and it is expected that Ewing Park will be crowded with holiday pleasure-seekers.

There will be a parade in the morning. Two baseball games, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, are an important part of the program. Horse-pitching, rope-pulling, and other forms of outdoor sports are being planned.

Then, the end of every perfect Independence Day, the fire-works, will be put off at about ten o'clock in the evening.

The Fourth of July celebration committee consists of M. Edelman and Howard Jones, of the Chamber of Commerce, John Ruscovitch, of the National Tube Company, George Wilson, of Ewing Park, and Joe Zona.

Plan Air Circus Here This Evening

Planes From Nearby Cities Will Take Part In Airport Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 29. — Plans are completed for the air circus at 6:30 this evening when fifteen planes will be seen at the airport to perform marvelous and daring stunts. Between four and five thousand persons are expected to be at the field.

Al Grew, the parachute jumper, comes from Meyer Field in Pittsburgh. Planes from Youngstown, Pittsburgh, McKeesport, New Castle, and Oil City will be in the air.

The program will consist of stunt flying, formation flying, falling leaps, immelman, side slipping, and many other feats of modern flying. It promises to be the most novel and exciting affair Ellwood has had.

The general committee in charge of the event consists of Kenneth Fox, W. F. Kegel, Henry Campbell, Ray Johnson, Chas. Patton, Cliff Bauder, and Norman Rearick.

In case of rain the circus will take place Monday.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, June 29.—In honor of her daughter, Miss Helen Houk, Mrs. Eugene Houk entertained a number of girls at her home at Moravia Stop Wednesday afternoon from one to five.

The house was beautifully decorated in a color scheme of pink and white. A lovely luncheon, the feature of which was a large birthday cake, was served at the conclusion of the afternoon by Mrs. Houk, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Ray St. John, and Mrs. Lewis Yoho. Miss Helen was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

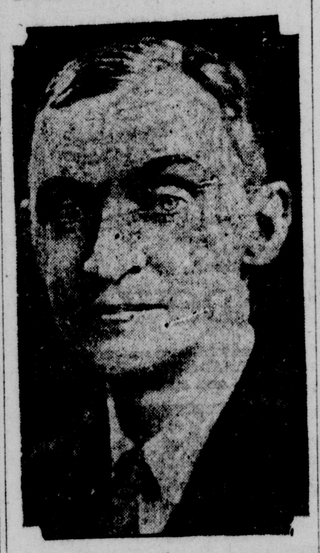

Music was rendered by Miss Helen Houk and Mrs. Adda Yoho; also by Miss Edna Myers.

Those present were: Edna Myers, Marie Hogue, Viola Scheidemantle, Minnie Miller, Margaret and Kathleen Swope, Wanda Cycon, Irene Styers, Irene Stewart, Lucille Brown, Erma Dayka, Helen Hill, Myrna Wiley, Eleanor Brown, Mrs. Albert Brown, Betty Brown, Roberta Brown, Francis St. John, Wayne Yoho, Harold Brown, Carl Houk, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Houk, Mrs. Albert Brown, Mrs. Ray St. John, Mrs. Lewis Yoho, Mrs. M. M. Conner and the honor guest.

Churches Will Unite On Sunday Evenings

All Denominations Will Join In Evening Services For Ten Weeks Of Summer

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 29.—As a result of the enthusiasm shown by the church-going community, in the union services last February it has been decided by the Ministerial Association of this city, to conduct the same kind of services for ten weeks during the warm weather. The first service will be in the high school gymnasium next Sunday evening, at 7:45.

It has been the custom for several years for many of the churches to have no evening services during the summer. Owing to each church working independently in this matter, it was not always known, by the persons whose church was closed, just what other church was having meetings at that time. For this reason it was deemed by the ministers, a very good thing to have these union meetings in which all denominations may join at the same place every Sunday evening.

Each minister in the association will have his turn in conducting the service, but which minister is to preach at any particular time, will not be announced.

Where to have the union meetings was discussed at great length, the conclusion being that as the high school is the open door for the community it was the ideal place.

Further announcement as to the informal musical program will be made tomorrow.

INSTALLATION MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, June 29.—Officers for the Dames of Malta were installed at their regular meeting, held in their rooms in the First National Bank on Tuesday evening. The following took the oath of office: Herald, Mrs. Della Pifer; deputy herald, Mrs. Lorena Loyd; first color bearer, Mrs. Anna Wilson; second color bearer, Mrs. Donna Cole; first messenger, Mrs. Sarah Ehrheart; second messenger, Mrs. Maude Parker; first guard, Mrs. Nellie Strock; second guard, Mrs. Nettie Donaldson.

Alabama Minister At Westfield Church

Rev. Raymond McClelland Of Citronville, Ala., To Preach Sunday Morning

Rev. Raymond McClelland of Citronville, Ala., will preach next Sunday morning at 10:30 in the Westfield Presbyterian church.

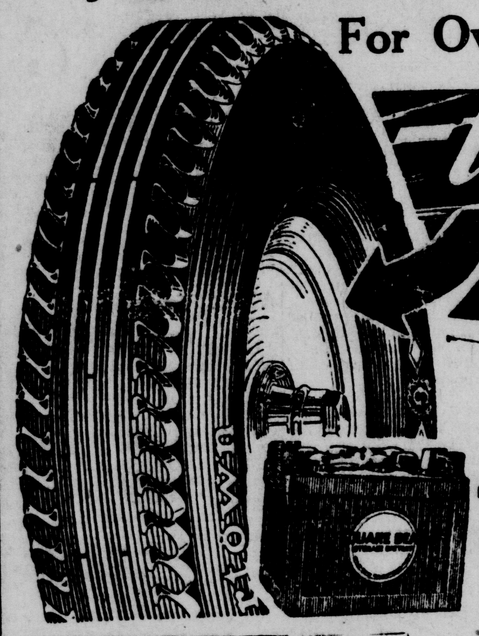

Rev. McClelland is pastor of the Southern Presbyterian church of Citronella and is an able and eloquent speaker. He is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McClelland of North Beaver township and other relatives in the community.

Sunday school will be held at 11:45. The superintendent desires a large attendance at this time. College night will be observed by the Christian Endeavor society at its meeting at 7:30. Ellen Fullerton and George Miller will be the leaders.

The fourth session of the mid-week Bible school was held Thursday evening at 8:15. Rev. Walter E. McClure continued his studies on the book of St. John's gospel.

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.

"The Life and Letters of Paul" is the general theme of the six months course of studies our Sunday schools begin with this lesson.

Paul's Place in History.

With the single exception of Jesus no person has had a larger or more beneficient influence upon the world's history in all ages than Saul of Tarsus. As preacher, pastor, missionary, organizer, author, philosopher he is easily the outstanding apostle, and as a Christian, he is doubtless the best example the gospel has ever produced.

Paul's Early Religious Training.

Paul is one of the finest products of Judaism and its ancient biblical system of religious education in the home. Deuteronomy 6:4-7 not only reavels the content of Paul's early religious training, but sounds a note to which every father and mother should heed: "Hear, O Israel: Jehovah our God is one Jehovah. And thou shalt love Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might. And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be upon thy heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest in the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

The Sunday school was never intended to excuse the parent from his obligation to teach religion to his own children in his own home. So many well meaning parents act as though religion were a matter to be caught instead of a matter to be taught, and taught by themselves in their home.

A Favorite Alibi for Irreligion.

How often one hears a man attempt to excuse his own godlessness and irreligion on the grounds that his parents were too strict with him in matters of religion and morals. These men who are overworking this ancient and hoary alibi for godlessness ought to ponder these words of the leading Christian of all ages: "I am a Jew, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but brought up in this city, at the feet of Gamaliel, instructed according to the strict manner of our fathers, being zealous for God, even as ye all are this day."

Paul's Pedigree.

Paul would not take a back seat for any one in the matter of blue-blooded, "Mayflower ancestry", for he was "of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, a Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee; as touching zeal, persecuting the church; as touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless." He had as much to boast of as any other Jew, and the time was when he did a lot of boasting of such matters. But after he met Christ he discounted them all 100 per cent, as he says, "What things were gain to me, these have I counted loss for Christ."

Paul's Citizenship.

Paul had the advantage not only of a thorough religious training from childhood, but also the advantage of Roman citizenship from his birth, and this was of inestimable value to him as a missionary traveling the length and breadth of the Roman world. When he was about to be scourged on one occasion he needed only to ask, "Is it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman, and uncondemned?" and immediately he was released with apoligies. When the offending officer told of having purchased his Roman citizenship with a great price, Paul, with pardonable pride, went him one better by answering, "But I am a Roman born."

Our American Citizenship.

Thus Paul treasured his citizenship and used it to the glory of God. It is a lesson for every American citizen as he stands this Sunday on the threshold of another Fourth of July with its lessons on the use of citizenship. Ours is a nobler citizenship than Paul's; are we using it as nobly?

(The international uniform lesson for July 1 is Deut. 6:4-9; Phil. 3:4-6; Acts 22:3, 27, 28; the subject is "The Early Life of Saul," and the golden text Ecclesiastes, 12:1, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth.")

Welsh Resident Visits In City

Takes A Very Active Part In The Affairs Of His Home Town; Other News Notes

(By W. A. JOHN, Brython.)

Benjamin Thomas of Maesteg, South Wales, father of Mrs. Glynn Morgan, whose husband conducts the store on South Mill street, is a visitor in this city at the present time. Mr. Thomas is a well known Welshman and very popular among his fellow countrymen at Maesteg.

He is also a musician of considerable ability and when at home is always taking a prominent part in all the civic affairs of his town. In politics he is a Liberal and a strong believer in and admirer of the Honorable David Lloyd George. He is especially well known to Griffith Thomas of Park avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Williams of Hillcrest avenue and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Lewis of Shaw street with whom he is spending a considerable part of his time while in the city.

This is the second visit of Mr. Thomas to this city, he being here 20 years ago on a visit. He has seen considerable more of this country on this visit than on the previous visit. He finds the automobile business of this country as very interesting and proficient. He will continue his visit here for a period of four more months.

He plans to visit Niagara Falls and many other points of interest while here. The Welsh residents of the city are making every effort to have him enjoy his stay here.

NOTED MINISTER MAY COME.

Mrs. John Evans, wife of the manager of the Cash Buyers store, is expecting her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Brinley Hughes of Cunningham avenue to return from the World Baptist convention held at Toronto, Canada, the last of the week. It is possible that Rev. Aubrey, secretary of the convention and nephew of Mr. Evans may return here with his uncle for a short visit while enroute to Chicago to visit his parents Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Aubrey.

WILL COMPETE.

We are informed that everything is ready and in good shape with the Anthracite Male chorus of Scranton, Pa., for its trip to Wales to compete for the chief prize at the National Eisteddfod of Wales which will take place this year at Treorchy, South Wales. The chorus is expecting a thousand passengers to sail with it on the steamship Scythia when it leaves New York city on July 20 and will go direct to the seaport of Cardiff the chief city and port of Wales.

COMMENDS NEW CASTLE.

The Drych well known and widely circulated Welsh paper published in Utica, N. Y., in a recent issue has an article in which it speaks in a very commendatory manner of the officials of this city and the work that they perform. It explains in some detail the method of government and the work of the mayor and four city councilmen. It then goes on to make special mention of Councilman D. O. Davies stating that he is the talented son of the late Daniel J. Davies who was one of the founders of the Star of Wales lodge, True Ivorites of America, in this city. The article states that Councilman Davies is doing his full duty for the people of this city and has had much to do with the advancement of the city.

MEETS WITH SUCCESS.

The news has been received here from Buffalo, N. Y., to the effect that Rev. E. Pugh Thomas is doing a wonderful work at Calvary Presbyterian church in that city. Rev. Thomas was called to that church last year and since he took charge the church attendance has greatly increased. His many friends here will be pleased to learn of this. Rev. Thomas has occupied the pulpits of the First Congregational and Emmanuel Baptist churches of this city.

Houston Delegates Plan Returning To Their Homes Today

Houston Resumes Normalcy After Several Hectic Days Of Convention

By ROLAND KREBS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, June 29.—After rehearsing for three days, Houston today began getting the idea what to do when you're troubled with a convention. Everything everywhere was working like clock work. That's a lot of help when we're all planning to shove off tonight. (Arriving Saturday 5:55 p. m., Margie; please be ready to strut and phone the Greek. Two-fifth.)

For three days the lobby space before the Rice hotel has resembled a brawl on Yale's 2-yard line. This morning a thoughtful guy figured out that it would be a smart caper to rope off this space, neutral corners and all, and let only an elevator's limit in passengers inside at one time. Now there's a stupendous idea, but we're going home tonight.

Despite three and four persons in a room, the hotel was able today to find your laundry for you without the aid of the house detective, the Pinkertons or the United States secret service. Who cares? We're going home tonight.

Just the same, I'd like to have back my half a pajama. What good are the trousers in a cool climate when the jacket's in the laundry?

Lost Half Pajama.

Is there any delegate who lost the trousers, but got the coat of his pajamas back? I'd like to make a trade. Will take coat in exchange for one Reed for president banner, a 1920 Buick and one package of giant tomato seeds. Or, what have you?

It's now possible to grab a taxi at the Rice for convention hall a few blocks away without having the driver take you to see the Rice institute, the ship channel wharves, Herman park and the art museum—lots of blocks away. Yes, but we're going home tonight.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri has convinced this convention that while he may not be fast enough to snatch the nomination, he's a pretty fast party at that.

By 1 o'clock this morning he had all the rascals turned out and his old friend and pal, Al, installed in the White House.

By tonight the delegates expect to hear Jim boosting Al for a third term. term.

The Mississippi and Oklahoma delegates, who have to be quick at figures and twice as quick at fractions, because they voted in halves, were trying today to pull themselves together.

Three-sixteenths of one Oklahoma boy wanted to go to Galveston and raise merry hell before returning home, but the other thirteen-sixteenths out voted him and decided to return to the wife and Junior.

A Mississippi president-maker ordered a poached egg, a soft boiled egg and one egg face up for breakfast. He's divided in thirds and each third likes its eggs a different way.

The list of campaign contributors includes everybody who buys anything the big contributors have to sell.

Disabled Veterans Prepare To Select National Leader

(International News Service)

DENVER, June 29.—Organization political activities were at fever heat in the convention of the disabled veterans of the World War today as delegates prepared to select a new national commander and choose a 1929 convention city at the closing business session late this afternoon. A number of candidates were in the field for national commander, with Millard Rice of Minneapolis and Stanton M. Hahn of Columbus, O., the most favored prospects.

Bids have been made by St. Paul, Detroit, San Francisco, Milwaukee, San Diego, Ogden, Utah, and Conneaut Lake, Pa., for the honor of entertaining the ex-soldiers next year.

Some 50 resolutions were adopted by the convention, the bulk of them dealing with methods of handling compensation and rehabilitation.

Name Inspector For Paving Work

James E. Williner of Maryland avenue today was named by council as inspector of the Sampson street paving project and Charles Miller was appointed a temporary surveyor in the department of engineering on account of the numerous contracts awarded by the city.

If he is pretty and a wow with the ladies, he usually thinks his wife doesn't understand him.

Might as well put something by for old age so you can retire then instead of just give up.

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

Stewart Sees Coming Campaign As Most Stirring Of Recent Times

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—We shall have one of the ugliest presidential campaigns in American history. Personally I'm not sorry. We need a presidential fight that means something. It's better for the country to be stirred to the bottom of its fiercest passions than not to be stirred at all.

Herbert Hoover will be attacked as an Englishman. Al Smith will be attacked on religious grounds.

Hoover isn't English and Smith's religion is nobody's political business, but that's how they'll be attacked. It's a good thing. It will settle the question whether such ridiculous, meaningless accusations are to signify anything henceforward in American politics. If so, it's time we knew it. If not, the sooner this kind of issue is outlawed the better.

Regardless of platform it will be a wet and dry fight. Al Smith's record places him unmistakably as what drys call a wet. In the very nature of things, whether he likes it or not, Hoover will be forced to assume the role of champion of those whom the wets call drys. That, too, is a good thing.

Say what we will, that issue has every other political issue gummed up, to stay so until that has been disposed of definitely. This won't be an entirely satisfactory referendum. It will be muddled by other issues, just as it muddles everything else. Still, it will give us a better idea than we have now as to how the country feels. As soon as the politicians discover that they'll speedily act accordingly and it will be out of the way.

Then there is the old-time conflict between the city and the rural elements. Al Smith's nomination is the city's bid for the governmental recognition which it considers its right by reason of numerical predominance incidental to the growth of industrialism in the last few years. In a national majority it is an element, however, which still remains in a minority in Washington. It wants its rights. It is tired of rural rule.

It doesn't particularly care to dictate to the farmer, but it certainly objects to farm dictation in its urban affairs. The rural element can't see it this way. Accustomed to the casting vote, it doesn't propose to surrender it without a last-ditch struggle.

It is true that the Democrats will make a strong appeal to the farmer on agricultural relief grounds. The midwest unquestionably is disgruntled with the party in power and this attitude complicates the urban-rule clash. The confusion adds to the outlook's uncertainties. It may add to its bitterness. By reason of it, hitherto rock-ribbed states may change sides in November.

It will be anything but a perfunctory campaign. The mud batteries will be opening inside of another week or two. Religion, prohibition, ancient prejudices and jealousies—if that isn't a mean political combination we haven't had one since the Civil War. But the sooner it is fought to a finish the better for everybody.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Just to be allowed to sit and listen is sometimes a rare privilege. There are times when one has no part in the conversation, when respectful listening is the acme of distinction, and that pleasure was mine Thursday afternoon.

Battery B held its reunion in Mt. Jackson and if Mt. Jackson ever has any other big days in the year this one will always be a sort of holy day out there.

Before the program started in the high school, the old boys of '61 got together in an informal reunion of their own out on the lawn. There they were, Dave Needler and Clark Hamilton and Philip Wagner and a dozen more, all veterans of the struggle of '61 to '65.

Nobody except a man who served in that struggle had any right to say anything, and the few of us fortunate enough to be sitting there kept quiet.

It's been 63 years since the war ended, but to those lads it's still green and fresh in their memory. Gettysburg, Antietam, the Wilderness, Shiloh, Lookout Mountain, all of them were brought back. And as Davy Needler, the king of Edenburg, sat there reminiscing of Gettysburg, I could see the Bloody Angle and Pickett's troops charging across the wheat field, and there back of that little stone fence I could see Cooper's battery, the pride of Mt. Jackson, Battery B, standing there repulsing the Rebs as they swept on.

A little more than a month ago I stood in the Bloody Angle at Gettysburg. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I always go over, for Gettysburg to me is a shrine, a piece of hallowed ground. To know a man who was a part of that struggle, to hear him describe the incidents that rival Balaklava or Waterloo or Marathon, is a high privilege.

Next time you are driving the Mt. Jackson road stop a moment at the monument below the cemetery and pay a silent tribute to the memory of the men who went out from Mt. Jackson in June, 1861. Just boys they were, farmer boys for the most part, but those farmer boys of Lawrence county carved themselves a niche in the American Hall of Fame that can never be forgotten.

Two dances and a Democratic convention in one night are rather strenuous, ergo, the engineer has that all -gone feeling today. Field Club ball, firemen's ball and then listening to Al Smith being nominated. And what a wow that was. And if you were listening, didn't you expect Alabama to yell "24 votes for Oscah F. Underwood"?

It's the First Presbyterian against the world Saturday. The golfers of the First Presbyterian church have challenged all other Presbyterian golfers in the city, United or Reformed, and those who are neither united nor reformed. Maurice McLure, Dick Dana, Albert Street, et al., are taking on all and sundry Presbyterians who don't go to the First church, and the carnage starts at one o'clock at the Field Club. The pastors of the church should band themselves together as a board of censors, with masks for those golfers who get vocal in their game.

The July 4th programs of amusement and entertainment are beginning to come in. Lake resorts, clubs, theaters and what not. Also the opening of the races at Junction Park. But the safest and sanest Fourth I can think of is to hold down a rocker on a quiet front porch. To the left is a stand with a jug of lemonade. To the right is a pipe and some papers. And then let the rest of the world go by.

For an evening's entertainment drop into the Scottish Rite Cathedral tonight and see Kole's Komedy Koons in the benefit show for the Boy Scouts. The show itself is well worth your time and money, and the proceeds go to a good cause.

THE WAY THEY DID IT

The proprietor of a large business house bought a number of signs reading "Do It Now" and had them hung around the office, hoping to inspire his people with promptness and energy in their work. In his private office one day soon afterward a friend asked him how the scheme affected the staff.

"Well, not just the way I thought it would," answered the proprietor. "The cashier skipped with $20,000; the head bookkeeper eloped with the private secretary; three clerks asked for an increase of salary, and the office boy lit out to become a bandit."

Adam had his faults, but you can say one thing for him. He was an original cuss.—The Colorado Springs Sunday Gazette and Telegraph.

Pennsylvania Railroad Co. Announces Plan For Rewarding Service

In recognition of the exceptionally large proportion of its employees who make the service of the Pennsylvania railroad a life time occupation, the management of the company has decided to award to every officer and employee who has rounded out a half-century of active service a gold button emblematic of the fact. The button will also be awarded to all retired officers and employees who, at the time of going on the roll of honor under the pension regulations, has completed 50 years of active duty.

The distribution of the buttons to those eligible to receive them will begin in the near future. The presentations will be made by the division superintendent, head of the department, or other employing officer.

In the form of a triangular shield, the button is intended to be worn on the coat lapel. At the top is the legend: "Fifty Service Years," and on the sides: "Pennsylvania Railroad". In the center is the company's standard emblem, the keystone, and a view of a locomotive under full steam.

At the present time, there are 954 men who are eligible to receive the 50 year button or who will become eligible during the present year. Of these, 224 are still in active service and 730 are on the roll of honor, or the pension list.

The suggestion to honor the 50 year men of the road in this way was made by the late W. H. Herr, retired yardmaster of the Middle Division, whose home is in Tyrone, Pa. The recommendation was embodied in a letter to W. W. Atterbury, president of the company. After favorable consideration by the officers, it was approved by the board of directors.

HELEN WILLS WINS FROM ENGLISH GIRL IN TENNIS TOURNEY

(International News Service)

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 29.—Despite her opponent's puzzling slow stroke Miss Helen Wills of California pounded out another victory for herself in the British lawn tennis championship tournament this afternoon. She beat Miss Ermytrude H. Harvey of England, 6-2, 6-3. Miss Wills was bothered by the English girl's style and a majority of the games went to deuce.

Long Avenue To Be Resurfaced By Street Department

Long avenue between Belmont and Hamilton streets is to be resurfaced according to council's action taken today at city hall.

The city street department employes will resurface the street with tarmac and amiesite. This was made known by Councilman Reeves who was given sanction to purchase a necessary amount of each material but to exceed 250 tons. One hundred tons of each material, it is believed, will be sufficient and Reeves will only purchase sufficient material required for the improvement.

Johnston Returns From Game Refuge

Spends Two Weeks At Westmoreland County Game Raising Quarters

Frank M. Johnston, game protector in Lawrence county district, has just returned from Westmoreland county, where he has been for the past two weeks, assisting in the care of the ringnecked pheasants, which are being raised at this particular game refuge, which is but a short distance from Ligonier.

Game Protector Johnston brought back with him some excellent pictures of the game refuge. That being used in the propogation of ringnecked pheasants is 132 feet square and there are thirty-six pens in which bantam hens either have been or are still setting on ringnecked pheasant eggs.

Those hatched out so far are thriving under the protective care of the Bantam hens and the game protectors employed at the refuge. Indications are that there will be several hundred ringnecked pheasants ready for distribution in the course of a few weeks.

Two More Police Officers Will Be Named For City

Vacancies In City Force To Be Filled By Action Of City Officials Soon

Mayor William H. Gillespie today informed council during their meeting at city hall that the department of police is short two men and council, at his request, asked the civil service commission to furnish a list of eligibles for appointment as police officers.

Tonight firemen will take the civil service examination and according to Councilman D. O. Davies four men will be added to the department as he believes four men will be sufficient to take care of new equipment purchased recently but not yet delivered to the city.

People's Ice Co Given Contract

Peoples Ice company today was given the city contract for the furnishing of ice in city fountains this summer at a low bid of 32½ cents per hundred. New Castle Ice suubmitted a bid of 34 cents per 100 pounds and Frey Bros., 35 cents for the same weight.

To Use Concrete In Albert Street Paving Project

Contract Is Awarded To Woods And Golder By Council This Morning

In view of the fact that 95 per cent of the property owners in Albert street desire the avenue paved with concrete, council today during their session at city hall prescribed concrete and warded a contract to Woods & Golder at a low bid of $28,879. The avenue is to be paved between Leasure and Norwood avenue. The recommendation that the contract be given to the local firm was made by City Engineer Miller.

New Castle Man Awarded Contract

W. E. Ferry of this city was awarded the contract for a concrete, arch type bridge to be erected in Plaingrove township, at a meeting of the Plaingrove township road supervisors yesterday. The bridge is to span one of the small streams passing through the township.

During council session at the city building today Councilman Reeves introduced two ordinances, one providing for the grading of Clenmore boulevard between Highland avenue and North Mercer street and the second for the paving of Ray street, from the top of the hill to Croton avenue.

Bids Are Opened For Leasure Ave. Paving Contract

When councilmen met in formal meeting at the city hall today bids were opened for the grading of Leasure avenue between Wilmington avenue and North Mercer street. The city engineer's estimate of cost as reported to council is $3,995.

The bids:

Olsen Contracting company, $2,670; Woods & Golder, $2,845; M. J. Scanlon,, $4,125 and Elder & Ferry, $3,700.

The bids were referred to the city engineer and a contract may be warded Monday.

BIG BOY SCOUT BENEFIT AT CATHEDRAL TONIGHT

Singers will sing, hoofers will hoof, gag men will gag, bands will play, and the vaudeville and minstral show for the benefit of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, will positively make its first appearance this evening at 8:30 in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite cathedral.

For those whose ribs are still tickled by the buffooneries of the time of Primrose and West, for those who still can get a grin when the interlocutor takes an intellectual kick in the pants, for those whose shoulders still can twitch to the blue strains of a Handy's Band, a treat is in store, this and more too. For your money will go to a most worthy cause; it will help keep Camp Phillips, the county Boy Scout camp, open for the rest of the summer. Because of lack of funds, at the present moment the camp is in grave danger of having to close down.

As end men in the minstrel, Lou Persall, Rex Patch, Grant Park and DeLace Cole, will furnish amusement prone to provoke laughter Homeric. Then Sol Davis (Soldo, the Mystery Man) assisted by his daughter, Virginia, will perform feats in magic which are guaranteed to amaze, thrill and mystify.

Miss Dorothy Patch will also be seen in song and dance.

The Boy Scout Band will be there, the Boy Scout Buglers will be there, and the Lions Double Quartet will be there. Admission prices are set at 25 and 50 cents and $1.00.

DEMOCRATS NAME GOVERNOR SMITH STADARD BEARER

Exceeds Expectations

Not even the most enthusiastic and radical supporter of Governor Smith had expected any more than that. Nor had the wildest of the Smith people anticipated the spectacle of southern states seeking to change their votes before the final result could be announced, seeking footholds on a Tammany bandwagon.

In the end all of the state standards from southern states were found in the aisles marching behind those from the North and West, and many of the southern delegations in step. For example, the final records will show that 23 of Tennessee's 24 votes were cast for Smith on the first ballot. And half of Mississippi's.

There were some die-hards among the southern states, of course. Texas, Alabama, Georgia, the two Carolinas, Florida, were recorded as casting no votes for Smith. For the traditional notion to make the nomination of the New York governor unanimous was not offered. Tammany leaders apparently didn't care to push their luck too far.

Memorable Night

It was a memorable night in Democratic history—and some of the Democrats didn't get through commemorating it until the sun was peeping this morning over the jack rabbit counties of west Texas. The Smith people celebrated because "Al was in" after eight long years of effort; the anti-Smith people made what the Texans call "whoopee" because they lost, but in losing have been convinced by northern talk that they have a chance of winning in November.

It started a few minutes before midnight when Senator Joe Robinson boomed out the final vote on the first ballot; the tempo increased when John W. Davis, the 1924 standard bearer, stood before the convention and declared:

"In unity there is strength; the order is forward march."

Reed Pledges Support

It reached crescendo proportions when the sardonic, satiric "Jim" Reed, of Missouri, smiling through his disappointment, faced the convention which had refused him, pledged his support to the ticket, and in a characteristic speech denounced Herbert Hoover as "a renegade American," and sarcastically invited the movie magnates to "re-enstate Fatty Arbuckle so he could fire Will Hays."

He stood there. The silver haired. Fiery Missourian. A loser at 69, but he faced it smilingly and with a plea for harmony. He had bitter words—but they were for Republicans, not Democrats.

"My fingers," he said, "have never scratched a Democratic ticket. Since I was 18 I supported the Democratic ticket in every campaign. I have voted for men who have been my personal enemies. I have supported platforms that were not to my liking. I call upon every Democrat in the United States, and I shall continue to call upon every Democrat until the last vote is counted on election day, to support the ticket."

And then after half an hour on excoriating the Republicans:

"Yonder is the enemy. Let Democrats marshal for the fray."

The fight over prohibition largely fizzled out in the final analysis. It had been the rock upon which it was predicted the convention would split—if it was to split at all.

On Prohibition

In 131 words the prohibition issue was disposed of. They were these:

"This convention pledges the party and its nominees to an honest effort to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other provisions of the Federal Constitution and all laws enacted pursuant thereto."

The drys were satisfied because it commits Governor Smith to rigid enforcement of the law by name; the wets were satisfied because it does not prevent the Governor, in the event of his election from recommending modification of the law. Such divergent opinions as Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia were reconciled on this point, and both assured the convention of it.

The Smith people perhaps were better satisfied of the two.

They were pleased because they believe the dry Demorcrats will look at the platform and be satisfied; they were pleased because they believe the wets, both Democratic and Republicans, will look at Governor Smith and vote for him.

For a little while, after the official figures had confirmed the figuring on the floor with respect to the nomination, the scene in the big tabernacle was reminiscent of Madison Square Garden in one of its wild moments.

The aisles were filled with hysterical people, marching, sweating, yelling, in a delirium of political and emotional ecstacy. All the state standards were swept into the whirlpool of Smith enthusiasm; three bands came down from the galleries and tooted into the show with the inevitable "Sidewalks of New York"; a blonde cowgirl rode an "Old Gray Mare" through the perspiring mass of humanity; a man dragged a tiny burro into the arena. They made of it an unforgettable spectacle, a sort of combined circus, county fair, carnival—and riot.

The riot part was furnished by the quarreling of some of the southern delegates, Mississippi, Tennessee, Oklahoma. In the first two there were scuffles that approached the edge of fights, and the alert Texas cops dashed in to the rescue.

The official history won't record it, but when the roll call ended Governor Smith was barely short of the nomination. He had 724 2-3 votes, as against 733 1-3 necessary to nominate.

Ohio, which had cast her 48 votes for Atlee Pomerene on the first ballot, had an agreement with the Tammany leaders that if Ohio votes were needed at the conclusion of the roll call they would be forth-coming before the result could be announced. Scarcely had big Pat Haltigan called and recorded two votes for Smith in the Virgin Islands than Ohio came to the front.

Forty-five of the Buckeye state's 48 votes were switched immediately and this sent Smith across with votes to spare, but the rumble of the band wagon was already rumbling. Half a dozen states, Indiana included, wanted to follow the Ohio example and it took half an hour for them all to get aboard.

Al Smith is in the driver's seat. Where he is going cannot be determined until the first Tuesday after the first Monday of next November.

Council To Buy New Playground

Local Public Spirited Citizen Will Share In Cost Of Project

Council took another step toward increasing the playground system here when the members convened formally at city hall and during committee session reported back favorably an ordinance providing for the appropriation, condemnation and purchase of land along the Big run in the vicinity of Pennsylvania avenue.

The land is about three acres in size and is suitable for playground purposes. It is said the land will cost about $10,000, and that a prominent citizen will contribute toward the purchase of the plot.

Other ordinances acted upon in committee included one which provides for the grading of Clenmore avenue between North Mercer street and Highland avenue. There are many poplar trees along the street and it is not yet known if the trees will be affected by the grading. though the city officials are desirous of eliminating all poplar trees.

The ordinance for the paving of Ray street hill received a favorable report.

Council also reported back favorably ordinances providing for a sanitary sewer in Harbor street and the grading and paving of Second street between Clayton street and Madison avenue, but reported negatively an ordinance calling for the purchase of land owned by John J. Golis in the eighth ward which was to be used as a playground. It is said that factional differences there resulted in council's action today.

Alliance Churches Plan All Day Meeting

Congregations Of New Castle And Community To Meet July 4 At Hoover's Grove

Plans have been completed for an all day union meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance churches of New Castle and vicinity which will be an event of Wednesday, July 4, at Hoover's grove, one-half mile south of Rose stop on the Harmony line.

The program begins at 2:30 p. m. and will be featured with good preaching and good music and splendid fellowship. Seats will be provided and baseball diamond. There will be good spring water.

After the dinner at 6 o'clock there will be an hour of singing and testimony followed by a program that will be presented by the young people of the different churches.

The churches cooperating in this union meeting include the Gospel Tabernacle of Sharon, Moravia Stop Tabernacle, Hoover Heights, People's mission and Pearson Street Tabernacle.

This is a revival of the old all day meetings of the Alliance church. The churches are planning to have one all day meeting each month during the summer in order that the members may become better acquainted.

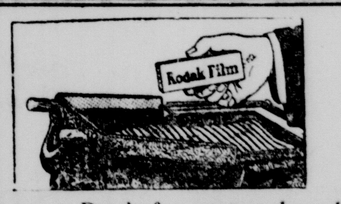

Even the uninstructed delegates will get along all right. The bell boys will instruct them.

Their Great Moment

Even The Sun Broke Through The Clouds And Bathed Versailles In Gold As Wilson And Other Treaty Leaders Signed

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON
Especially Written for Central Press and New Castle News

In talking with Mrs. Eleanor McAdoo, daughter of the late Woodrow Wilson, last year, she said: "I don't want Mr. McAdoo to become president of the United States. My saddest memories are connected with the White House, and all history shows that anyone exalted to the great position of president has had to leave the happiness that may be the lot of the average man behind."

It has always seemed to me that Woodrow Wilson had more than his share of unhappiness while in the White House. He lived to see his great ideal of universal peace condemned and himself branded as a selfish politician; and yet there must have been times when he had moments of great exaltation almost too great to bear.

I was in Paris through much of the time the peace commission was in session and the day on which the peace treaty was signed, it seemed to me that the fact that I was an American woman was something of which to be very proud. An American Red Cross A. E. F. uniform was paid all reverence on that day.

We had fought for that peace. We had helped to make it and now we were the first to sign it.

The President Signs

President Wilson was very pale as he left his seat and went around the table to where the book lay open. Then followed Lloyd George and then Clemenceau, who seemed to have grown two inches in height.

After Clemenceau came the others of the Allied countries.

Then there was a moment of silence, so deep you could hear it. Clemenceau got up, went to the two German commissioners and said, "You will sign now." The two Germans walked solemnly to the book and signed.

At that moment the sun broke through the clouds which had given the day a purplish gray cast and the whole world seemed bathed in liquid gold. The famous fountains which had been silent and dead through the war began to play and we in the "Hall of Mirrors" looked out on a scene which probably had never been seen through those historic windows.

Hundreds of people, standing about on the broadsward, cheered and applauded a tall, gaunt, ugly man (Wilson), and a short swarthy one (Clemenceau) as they walked arm and arm down the broad pathway past the fountains.

Surely it was the greatest moment in both their lives.

Post Office Men Will Have Outing At Erie July 4

New Castle postoffice employes have received an invitation to attend the annual outing of the northwestern Pennsylvania postal employes, which will take place at Waldameer park, Erie, on Wednesday, July 4. The outing will take the form of an old fashioned basket picnic.

A special meeting of the postal employes will take place at the Waldameer theatre at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and it is important that employes be present.

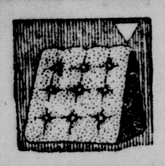

An entertaining program has been arranged for both afternoon and evening, several prominent speakers have promised to be present, and the national and state officers of both the Letter Carriers and the Postoffice Clerks will be there.

Fashionable New York Night Clubs Raided By Agents

Seventy-Five Patrons Of Night Clubs Arrested As Sweeping Raid Is Made

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 29.—Police today forecast additional arrest of Night Club operators and employes as the result of the raid conducted by 160 federal agents on eleven clubs in the roarin' forties early this morning. The seventy-five persons arrested in the sweeping raid were expected to be arraigned today.

Dressed in evening clothes the agents, working in squads of eight to a dozen entered some of the best known night clubs shortly after midnight and joined in the festivities with the mad, merry-making crowds of pleasure seekers. When alleged evidence was obtained one of each group would step to the center of the dance floor and announce himself. All raids were made within 20 minutes.

Among the clubs that fell under the hand of agent Thomas Shannon were: The newly opened Chateau Madrid, Helen Morgan's club; Texas Guinan's Salon Royale; The Furnace, The Jungle Room, European Club, Charm Club, Club Mimic, The Beaux Arts, Club Frivolity, and The Silver Slipper.

One Appeal Up To Zone Board Tuesday

Store Location On Crawford Avenue To Be Considered

Board of Zoning Appeals, when it meets next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the city council chamber, will have but one appeal from the decision of the city engineer, on which to act.

The appeal is that of Mrs. Alice L. Patterson who conducts a store on Brooklyn avenue at the present time and desires permission to use one-half of the first floor of the property located at 112 North Crawford avenue and belonging to G. Earl Williams, as a new location for her store.

It appears, according to the appeal, that the building at the proposed new location of the store, was formerly used for store purposes but in recent years has been used for apartment purposes. It is proposed to return it to its former usage.

The question involved is that it is located in a residence district, where business locations are not permitted.

Church On State Forest Land Is Re-Dedicated; Was Vacant 20 Years

HARRISBURG, June 28.—The old stone church located at the Greenwood public camp in the Logan state forest recently was rededicated. This historic church was built in 1867 of native stone and the structure is as solid today as when first built.

When the Logan Iron & Steel company at Greenwood Furnace was in operation it was found necessary to erect a building to hold religious services. The company donated the land and much of the material that went into the building of the church, with the understanding that it should be intact so long as they used it for religious purposes and that the title should revert to the original owners when abandoned as a place of worship.

With the closing of the furnace in 1901 practically all the families moved away and the church was abandoned. The company land, including the church property, was sold to the commonwealth for use as a state forest in 1903. This church was vacant for more than 20 years and was used by District Forester T. Roy Morton for a store house for tools and equipment of the Greenwood State Forest Tree nursery. With the advent of the automobile and the establishment of the recreational area at Greenwood Furnace, it was evident that a church was needed in this locality, and that if the old church was restored for a place of worship it would again serve its original purpose.

During the past year the personnel of the Logan state forest district completely renovated the building by painting the inside and outside woodwork, repairing the windows and doors. The Rev. O. V. Poulson of the Methodist church of Huntingdon, accompanied by a quartet, came to the old stone church and rededicated it with appropriate exercises. Many of the older residents were present, among whom was the Rev. John Horning of Huntingdon, who witnessed the original dedication 61 years ago. The Rev. M. B. Long of the Ennisville charge and the Rev. Marshall C. Piper, a former pastor of the church, were also present and participated in the exercises.

Long before the announced time for the services, the church was packed to its utmost capacity and a greater number who could not get in but crowded around the windows on the outside and joined in the services. It is estimated that more than 1200 people were present. After the services they enjoyed the recreation features of th Greenwood public camp.

The Greenwood Forest Tree nursery, with an annual output of two and one-half million trees, adjoins the church property.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, June 29.—Variegated notes of a reporter covering the biggest beat in the world:

At the Roxy largest movie theater in the world where the entire staff is organized on a military basis no usher or other service attache may leave his post after the close of the show until a bugler sounds "taps."

For the decorations at a recent Park avenue wedding, rare flowers were imported from France at a cost of more than $10,000. The bridal bower was composed of 11,000 buds. In the same hotel at the same time a man of orthodox Jewish faith gave a confirmation fete for his young son which cost $10,000.

An opera singer has five talking parrots each speaking a different tongue—Russian, English, Italian, French and Spanish and it is her ambition to have ten. At present however there are only five rooms in her apartment and she deems is necessary to keep the birds separated.

The vogue for the German police dog is over in fashionable New York. Russian wolfhounds are again in style. The Pekingese continues to be a favorite.

Many hotels now have furnished roof cottages which may be rented by the week or month. Prospective bridegrooms reserve them months in advance.

New York police are endeavoring to break up a new "racket" of Broadway gold-diggers. A girl driving a luxurious auto attracts a lone man's attention, invites him to take a ride, drives him to a lonely spot, suddenly shoves a gun into his side, mulcts him of his valuables and makes him walk back.

Charles and Kathleen Norris, the novelists are croquet fiends and will drop their work anywhere at any time to play a challenger. They have an elaborate croquet court at their house.

The pack peddler of the Trader Horn variety who passed out of existence in rural sections with the advent of the mail order house and the auto continues to be seen in New York. He trudges through the tenement district carrying bags of tinware or sewing materials or decorative goods such as statuettes and framed pictures.

Nearly all of these peddlers are patriarchial appearing men who emigrated from Europe where they earned a living in the same way. One of them has sons and daughters who have been successes in business and art. He continues to tote around his pack of goods making sales at doorsteps because he is happier doing that than sitting at home.

Another story stranger than fiction. The daughter of a singer, unhappy at home ran away. When police failed to find her he resorted to the radio. He voluntarily appeared on programs sang his daughter's favorite song "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?"

Alone in a New York boarding house the homesick girl happened to hear the song being broadcast and recognizing the voice was moved to return home.

"Variety" records the tale. A gentleman took Peggy Hopkins Joyce to dinner. After glancing over the expensive array of rare foods the restaurant's menu afforded she contented herself with an order of macaroni.

"Good heavens" the gentleman was moved to exclaim audibly "Peggy Hopkins Joyce sticking to a dollar dish."

"But" said Peggy fingering a rope of diamonds "if there is a bit of cool wine about I wouldn't mind."

The wine cost the gentleman $60.

To Re-model Third Floor At Y. W. C. A.

Changes are to be made on the third floor of the Y. W. C. A. building. The Business Girls' dining room on the third floor is to be made considerably larger, this will be done by taking out some partitions.

The re-modeling is to be done during the last two weeks of July and the first two weeks of August. During this time the third floor dining room will be closed to business.

EVERY ACHE AND PAIN GONE, AND SYSTEM CLEANSED

Elderly Man On Route 1 Says Ten Herbs Is A Wonderful Medicine.

"Ten Herbs seems to have cleansed all the poisons from my system, and all the aches and pains that I had are gone," was the statement of Mr. Nels Pearson, who lives on Route 1, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

MR. NELS PEARSON

"Before taking your medicine, I was in a badly run-down condition," continued Mr. Pearson, who is 62 years old, and holds a responsible position with the Shenango Limestone Co. "At times, I would fill with gas and become so dizzy I could hardly stand. My kidneys were so disordered that I could not get proper rest—as soon as I would lie down I would have to arise. My whole system seemed to be filled with poisons; and it was always necessary for me to be taking a laxative, as I was greatly troubled with constipation. I tried many kinds of medicines, but nothing did me any good.

"I read in the paper that some persons whom I knew had got good results by using Ten Herbs, so I started using it. I think Ten Herbs is a wonderful medicine, as it has surely greatly benefited me. My bowels are regular, and my liver is active now. Dizzy spells are gone. My kidneys have been benefited most of all. I get proper rest, as I do not have to arise at night. Ten Herbs has put my system in good condition again and I am feeling like a different person. I cannot say enough for your remarkable preparation."

The reason for the great success of Ten Herbs throughout this section is because of the far-reaching, beneficial effects its wonderful natural ingredients have on the entire human system. Ten Herbs benefits and invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. It is different from any other medicine, and must possess unusual merit, or so many local people would not be using and recommending it.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Pipe Smoking Woman Is Burned To Death

Examination For New Firemen

Applicants To Be Examined For Places In City Service This Evening

Application for positions in the city fire department will take the civil service examination at city hall tonight. The examinations will start at 7:30 p. m., D. S.

The applicants must be citizens, have been a resident here one year and must show they have paid taxes within one year.

The city recently purchased a new fire truck which is a combination pump, hook and ladder piece of apparatus requiring the services of several men.

Due to this the fire department quota will be increased.

"SPLIT DEVIL" FIRE CRACKER DESTROYS PARKED AUTOMOBILE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 29.—Uniontown's premature Fourth celebration resulted in the destruction of an automobile owned by Daniel Hartman of Edenborn. A fire cracker known as a "split-devil" was set off under the machine as it was parked in South street, near the center of the business district.

The explosion of the fire cracker ignited gasoline which had dripped from the engine and in a few seconds the machine was a mass of flames. It was with difficulty that other machines were saved. The fire was extinguished by the Uniontown department

FIRST DAHLIA

New Castle, Pa., June 28, 1828.

Editor;
New Castle News,
City.

Dear Sir:

I notice in tonight's "News" that Mr. J. W. Burry of Fairfield avenue, is reported as having the first nearly perfectly formed dahlia. If you will refer to the same column of the News under date of Saturday, June 23 you will see that the first dahlia was reported by Willis Lutz of Maryland avenue, This dahlia was perfectly formed at that time and really could have been reported on Thursday June 21st as almost perfect. This dahlia is pink in color and its development has been watched by the neighbors, from where the call reporting it was made. The bloom is still on at the end of almost a week and may be seen by any one interested.

Yours truly,
WILLIS LUTZ,
1023 Maryland avenue.

Negro Marathon Dance Concludes At Pittsburgh

Six Weary Negroes End Marathon Dance At Conclusion Of 432 Hours

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Six weary negroes, tired and fatigued from 432 hours of marathon dancing at Motor Square Garden, are sound asleep today unconscious of everything—even the $1,000 prize which is to be divided among them.

Their dancing spree is ended but not because they weren't willing to dance on to a new world's marathon dance record. It is ended because there was a sad lack of attendance and consequently dollars to support the marathon. The three couples were only three hours behind the New York dancers when they checked out.

The contestants who ended their sonambulistic dancing last night were Clara and Rufus McGraw of Pittsburgh, Minnie Patelle of Homestead, Cyrus Miller of Munhall, Katherine Redman of Pittsburgh and Frank Pate of Homestead.

At Duquesne Gardens where nine couples are dancing past the 272nd hour, an entirely different scene is presented. Gifts of cash, jewelry and clothing are being showered on the contestants and the attendance is said to be fairly good.

Homestead's marathoners turned in 50 hours at 8 a. m. today with 21 dancers still in the contest. Seven and a half couples are reported to be in the running at the Greensburg marathon where the 271st hour was passed at 8 a. m.

The Samoan Incident
(In Two Parts) Part One

DIPLOMATIC DISPUTES WITH GERMANY, GREAT BRITAIN, ITALY AND CHILE BROUGHT THE UNITED STATES SEVERAL TIMES TO THE BRINK OF WAR WHILE HARRISON WAS IN THE WHITE HOUSE. THE QUARREL WITH GERMANY AROSE OVER A SERIES OF EVENTS THAT OCCURRED IN FAR-OFF SAMOA, A TINY GROUP OF ISLANDS IN THE PACIFIC. GERMAN TRADERS FIRST VISITED SAMOA IN 1854.

THE NATIVE KING HAD DIFFICULTY IN FIGHTING OFF RIVALS FOR THE THRONE, AND IN 1877 OFFERED THE ISLANDS TO THE UNITED STATES. THE OFFER WAS REJECTED, BUT A TREATY WAS MADE (1878), BY WHICH WE AGREED TO PROTECT SAMOA FROM FOREIGN AGGRESSION, IN EXCHANGE FOR A COALING STATION.

A YEAR LATER THE SAMOANS MADE TREATIES WITH ENGLAND AND GERMANY. BISMARCK, THE GERMAN CHANCELLOR, WHO WANTED TO CREATE A LARGE COLONIAL EMPIRE, PLANNED TO OUST THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS BY MAKING LARGE CONCESSIONS TO THE NATIVES. THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN INSISTED UPON A JOINT REGENCY.

UNDER INSTRUCTIONS FROM BERLIN, THE GERMAN CONSUL IN SAMOA BACKED THE REVOLUTION OF A NATIVE CLAIMANT FOR THE THRONE WHO FAVORED GERMAN RULE. THE AMERICAN CONSUL REPLIED BY PROCLAIMING AN AMERICAN PROTECTORATE. WHILE THE DIPLOMATS AT HOME WERE TRYING TO SETTLE THE QUESTION, THE GERMAN CONSUL DEPOSED THE RIGHTFUL SAMOAN KING, AND RAN UP THE GERMAN FLAG AT APIA.

Cleveland To Oppose 'Cents' On 'Booster Day'

Loyal Fans To See Twin Bill

Textor Says Cleveland Has Well Balanced Baseball Team

NEW CASTLE IS LEADING LEAGUE

New Castle and Cleveland clash at Centennial field Saturday afternoon in a doubleheader which is the feature of a booster day program under the auspices of the New Castle ball club. New Castle is two games ahead of Beaver Falls in the race for the first half pennant of the O. & P. circuit and has been playing good baseball all year.

Last Saturday New Castle won from Ryantown in the National division of the Twilight loop, then took a victory from Akron. The day following the Centennials made it two straight from Akron, and hopes to take both games from Cleveland, which is a fine balanced ball team, according to Manager George Textor.

Mosely and Coen

Doik Novario, manager of the Cleveland aggregation, could not be reached today so that his probable pitchers' names could be secured, but it is probable that Earl Mosely will go to the hill in the first and Coen pitch the second game for the "Cents".

The first game will commence at 2:15 p. m., D. S., and the second clash will follow immediately, and fans who wish to help keep such a good team in the field as representatives of the city in the second half of the season should help by being present.

The New Castle ball club took not one, but several on the chin this season, mostly from weather conditions, but also due to lack of patronage. With ideal baseball weather having arrived, it is probable the booster day will mean more than mere words.

Clifton Flats Wins From Mahonings 9-0

The Clifton Flats team defeated the Mahonings 9 to 0 in a postponed American section Twilight league game played on Thursday night at the Flats field. The pitching of Coates featured the game.

Coates dished up but four hits and fanned four men. McCloskey on the hill for the Mahonings allowed 11 safe blows and fanned two batters. White and McCloskey were the heavy hitters of the game.

Smiley at short for Clifton Flats played a brilliant game, accepting five chances without an error. Tonight the Flats will play the West Pittsburg Garlands in a league game at the Flats field.

Any team desiring a game either at home or abroad for the Fourth of July can arrange it by calling 5786, W. S. Stitt, or writing to Stitt at R. F. D. 1.

Midget Wolgast's Title Still Safe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Midget Wolgast's title, king of the flyweights of the state, was still perched atop his head today as a result of the sound trouncing he gave Battling Griffen, dusky South Philadelphia battler, at the New Broadway club here last night. The bout went the ten round distance but Wolgast kept in front continually by a wide margin. The flyweight crown was at stake as both boys weighed in well under the flyweight limit of 112 pounds.

Three Musketeers Of Oregon

Bring Sport Glory To Far Western School In Tennis, Baseball, Track And Field

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

EUGENE, Ore., June 29.—Penn had her Magicians and Brown university the Iron Men and the Four Horsemen rode at Notre Dame—but at Oregon the University of Oregon these names mean nothing, for Oregon has her Three Musketeers.

The Three Musketeers each an outstanding star in his own sport have brought athletic glory to the far west school.

First there is Victor Wetzel the track captain so consistent a winner on track and field that he is out for a job on the American Olympic team in the decathlon event.

Second, Henry Neer, a southpaw tennis star, is one of the finest racketmen Pacific coast collegiate circles have seen in many a day.

Third, that would be Lester Johnson a big league ball player in ability but still a collegian.

The Three Musketeers.

Neer won the Pacific coast conference singles championship in 1927 and represents Oregon at the National Intercollegiate singles championships.

Neer who ranked as a No. 1 player at Oregon the last two seasons is a brother to Pril Neer former national intercollegiate title holder and is out to duplicate the feat of his famous brother. If Neer comes through as expected it will be the first time in the history of the national tournaments that a brother has gained the same honor for his family.

Wetzel will enter the Olympic finals this summer at the request of Lawson Robertson head of the United States coaching staff.

Robertson has asked William L. Hayward veteran Oregon coach and a member of the training staff of the Olympic team to bring Wetzel and James DeMers, Eugene high school youth to the final tryouts. Wetzel will enter the decathlon event.

Johnson playing first base on the University of Oregon baseball team which won the western section of the Pacific coast conference baseball championship, was the leading hitter in the league. He batted at a .522 clip in seven games. He is a veteran first baseman but at times was shifted to second to fill that post.

Gives His Opinion About Coming Battle For Champ

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, June 29—In the midst of the general dialogue as to just what manner of bologney Tom Heeney happens to be, it is interesting to learn today that Jimmie Bronson, Tunney's companionate aide at the Philadelphia and Chicago fights, looks upon the gripping struggle on July 26 with a somewhat dubious eye.

It perhaps would be untrue to say that Bronson fears the worst for Brother Tunney. For one thing, the good brother wants not men around him who are given to fearing for him, even when justified, and James has no wish to talk himself right out of employment.

What he did say, is that only with a "private fight" with regulation gloves, rounds and officials in the intervening month can Brother Tunney hope to be the man he was the night he first licked Dempsey.

Bronson's summing up of the principals takes this course: That Heeney is no March hare in speed but he is faster than Dempsey; and that Tunney missed Dempsey all too often in the early stages of the Chicago fight.

That Tunney, in confining his activities of the last three years to the same opponent, was open to the danger of being too "set" against the style of fighting this opponent employed.

That the fight may have to go 15 rounds and Tunney has not gone beyond ten since he met Carpentier and Gibbons in 1924 and 1925 respectively; whereas, Heeney, a distance fighter, if any, has had hard 15-round fights in the last year with Paulino and Delaney and a 12-rounder with Sharkey.

Personalities IN SPORT

TRAVIS JACKSON

Travis Calvin Jackson, Giants' shortstop, was born at Waldo, Ark., November 2, 1903.

Graduating from Ouachita Baptist College, Arkadelphia, Ark., Jackson broke into the ranks of professional baseball with Little Rock in the Southern League in 1921.

The New York Giants purchased him in 1922 and, after acting for two years as a utility, he has been regular shortstop of the club since.

Jackson has a major league life batting average of .301. He bats and throws with his right hand, is five feet 10 1-2 inches tall and weighs 157 pounds.

Four Games In Church League

Four games are on tap tonight for followers of the New Castle Church League. The games will start at 6 o'clock, daylight savings time.

The Epworth M. E. team plays the First Baptists at Lehigh field with Hudson the umpire. The Central Presbyterians meet the Mahoning M. E. team at Mahoningtown. The Grace and Congregationals will tangle with the First Christians at Scotland Lane. The Croton M. E. team plays the First M. E. at the Croton field.

New Castle Wins From Akron, 9-2

New Castle got away with another victory yesterday afternoon, having defeated Akron at Massillon. The score was 9 to 2. It was the first defeat in 15 starts for the Akron team.

Three Games In Twilight League

The American section of the Twilight League will find three games in action tonight. The games will start at 6 o'clock, daylight savings time.

The Mahonings will play the newly organized Slovak A. C. team at Cedar street field, with Parks and Evans assigned. The South Hill team will battle Wampum at Wampum, with Price and Brooks as the umpires. The West Pittsburgh team will meet the Clifton Flats team, at Clifton Flates with Diana and Nolte officiating.

The Slovak A. C. acquired the franchise held by the Lawrence Indies.

GEORGE GRANT

George Grant, with the absence of blaring headlines, has become the most dependable hurler on the failing staff of the Cleveland Indians.

Grant was up in the big show once before, as a St. Louis Brown, but he didn't stay, and drifted as far down as the class B minors.

When the Indians were going great guns earlier in the season all the cheers were for Uhle, Hudlin and the rest. But now that the Tribe is losing, Grant alone stands steadfast in the win column.

Yankees Again Trim Athletics

Take Eleventh Of 15 Games Played So Far During Season

BABE RUTH GETS TWO MORE HOMERS

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 29.—Thrashed by the all-powerful Yankees again yesterday for the 11th time in 15 games with the champions this season Connie Mack's crushed Athletics today cast aside all thoughts of winning the American league pennant and concentrated on warding off a flank attack by the third place St. Louis Browns. The Mackmen are now 12 games behind the Yanks and only two games ahead of the speeding Brownies who handed Detroit a 5 to 2 beating yesterday.

George Pipgras chalked up his 14th victory and Babe Ruth walloped his 29th and 30th homers as the Yanks outslugged the A's by a 10 to 4 score.

Ruth is now hitting four-baggers at the rate of 73 for the season. He is 14 ahead of Buster Gehrig and is 20 games, 14 days and six homers ahead of the record pace he set last year.

The other two features of the day the Cardinals beat Pittsburgh 4 to 3 on homers by Frisch and Hafey but the Giants kept to the pace by nipping the Phillies 2 to 1. Joe Genewich obtained by the Giants from Boston and Benge each allowed only four hits.

Indignant Squawks Follow Decision In Loughran Bout

By SID MERCER
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 29.—Many indignant squawks were broadcast throughout the length and breadth of Madison Square Garden last evening following the 10-round encounter between- Thomas Loughran, light heavyweight champion of the world, and Armand Emanuel, young California barrister. Loughran was not defending his title, as Emanuel came in four ounces over the light-heavyweight limit of 175 pounds.

The decision went to Loughran and it was a just award, inasmuch as Tommy carried the first five rounds and the seventh. Emanuel's earnest gesticulating in the sixth, eighth, ninth and 10th rounds enthused his partisan following into claiming the fight for him, but by no stretch of imagination could Emanuel be given more than four rounds.

Emanuel's edge in his good rounds was impressive, since he captured them by fast aggressive milling that had Loughran floundering.

Up against a boxer who did not compel watchful defensive tactics, Emanuel showed some of the wares that made him a favorite on the Pacific coast. Up to last night the young lawyer had not lost a decision.

Cen. Christians Top Presbyterians

Lewis was in excellent form as the Central Christians downed the Central Presbyterians 6 to 0 in a Church league game played at the Scotland Lane field on Thursday night. Lewis allowed but one hit.

Lewis had the Central Presbyterians eating out of his hand all during the game and fanned eight men and walked two. W. Grannis the Presbyterian star hurler was found for eight hits. Lewis and Nolan had the only extra base hits of the game. The Christians had two big innings the first and seventh.

Croton Defeats Mahonings 4 To 2

The league-leading Croton M. E. team defeated the Mahoning M. E. team, 4 to 2, in a game played at the Croton field on Thursday night in the New Castle Church League.

Seward and Wilson opposed each other on the mound and it was a real hurling duel, with Seward having a slight edge. The Croton team hammered out enough hits to produce two runs in the first inning and also in the seventh. Miller, Benninghoff and McNutt had extra base hits.

Robinson was the leading hitter, with three singles.

St. Louis Wins From Pirates

Two Home Runs In Seventh Inning Win For League Leaders

SHERDEL PITCHES FOR CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 29. — The Cardinals continued their advantage in the National League race by defeating the Pirates four to three yesterday afternoon after the Pittsburgh team had smashed a deadlock when Wright smashed out a home run after which the Cardinals again tied it up and the issue was decided by the same calibre of hits, Frisch and Hafey turning in the four ply swats.

Willie Sherdel was picked to oppose the Pirates and held them to seven hits. Hill was combed for eight hits and retired after pitching 6 1-3 innings. Miljus took his place and allowed only one hit.

The score was deadlocked two-two up to the fifth when the Pirates broke it with a run. Two home runs by Frisch and Hafey settled the game in the seventh.

Keck Likes Way Show Was Staged

Says Pittsburgh Needs Bowl Similar To That Built Here

SAYS FANS WANT OPEN AIR BOUTS

(Harry Keck, sports editor of The Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh who covered the Rocco-Levinsky bout here commented freely on the open air boxing show held here. His article, under the caption, "Speaking of Sports" follows):

"What Pittsburgh needs is a boxing bowl built along the lines of New Castle's compact little wooden circle named the Jolly Bowl after its sponsor, Billy Jolley. The "e" is left out of the name of the bowl with the idea in mind of telling the people they're in for a jolly good time when they visit the spot.

"They had all of that at the inaugural show of the bowl, Tuesday night, when five bouts were staged, with Battling Levinsky and Emmett Rocco, heavyweights, meeting in the main event. The arena is so laid out that the farthest seat at $1 is only about one-half stone's throw from the ring. If it has any fault at all it is the cheapest seats are as good as the best—and that's hardly a fault.

"With Forbes Field unavailable for boxing and no other site in view, it would appear that a live promoter well might imitate the happy-go-lucky Jolly, who leased a spot not more than five minutes drive from the heart of town in New Castle and put up the wooden structure capable of holding approximately 5,000 persons at an outlay of about $7,000. Lively cards at popular prices would jam such an arena in Pittsburgh each week during the warmer months and the structure soon would be paid for and begin showing a profit. Until such an arena is erected, boxing will continue at a standstill during the summer season in this city.

Fans Want Boxing.

"That the fans want outdoor boxing was testified when Jolly drew a capacity crowd to his arena for his opening show. They came from as far away as Pittsburgh, Erie, Meadville, Oil City and Youngstown and Cleveland. And all were loud in their praise of the seating arrangements and the manner in which the crowd was handled and the bouts were staged.

"Always in the fight game there must be a good man in the corner. The same applies to a promoter who wants to have his show go over. Such a good man in ths corner has Promoter Jolly. His right hand man in putting over the mammoth inaugural of the bowl was Ed Fritz, sports scribe, and referee of New Castle.

Greer on Job.

"Fritz handled the promotion of the show and had Phil Greer in charge of the tickets and seating arrangements. Fritz arranged for police and fire protection and sundry other details taking these burdens off Jolly's mind.

"He also made up part of the card and likely will have charge of all of the matchmaking in the future, and to him must go the lion's share of the credit for the success of the venture. Jolly doesn't begrudge it to him either. He realizes the value of having an experienced head in his corner.

"Immediately after Tuesday night's show he authorized Fritz to get to work on his next two shows, in one of which, as the result of his victory over Levinsky, may meet a worthy heavyweight from the East. If Fritz is able to land either of two men he has in mind, he will startle the fans by the calibre of the match."

James J. Long, veteran sports scribe of the Sun-Tele staff, in his comment says that the very officials of this section who are razzed for their decisions are much in demand in different sections, saying in effect that Al Grayber, referee, was sent to New Castle with Jock Simco and Eddie Kennedy as judges and that Simco was honored by being sent to be a judge of the Blitman-Canzoneri fight.

Olds Win From Colored Stars

The Olds with Liversage hurling a two-hit game downed the Colored Stars 7 to 1 in a game played Thursday night at the Radiator field.

The Olds took a lead in the second inning when they got to Gray for a pair of runs, and again in the fourth chapter climbed on Gray for four runs. Liversage pitched a masterful game, fanning ten men and walking three. The Olds had 12 hits off Gray.

East Versus West In Tennis Battle

(International News Service)

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 29.—Two youthful stars of the east and two invaders from the west will battle today for the right to meet in the singles finals of the national intercollegiate tennis championships at the Merion Cricket club courts here tomorrow. John Van Ryn, of Princeton, seeded No. 1 meets Julius Seligson, of Lehigh University while Ben Gorchakoff, of Los Angeles, fights it out with Berkley Bell, of Texas, in the last east versus west match of the day.

These four players who were seeded one, two, three, and four in the advance picking, crashed through to the semi-final round of the singles yesterday afternoon. At the same time came the unexpected defeat of the depending doubles champions, Kenneth Appel and John Van Ryn, both of Princeton by Emmett Pare and his partner, Mesmer from Georgetown. The scores were 7-5; 6-4.

Wampum To Play Ryantown Team

The Wampum team of the American section of the Lawrence County Twilight League and the Ryantown team of the National section will tangle in an exhibition game at the Ryantown field on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, daylight savings time, it was announced today.

The game should be a fine one, due to the fact that both teams are playing a snappy brand of ball in their respective leagues.

Methodists Win Victory 9 To 2

The First Methodist team downed the Grace and Congregational team, 9 to 2, in a Church League game at the Mahoningtown field Thursday night.

Uber, on the knoll for the Methodists, allowed but five hits and up until the fifth inning hurled a perfect game, but the Grace and Congregational team had four straight hits in the fifth to tally a pair of runs. T. Connelly and Ed. Davis had the only extra base hits of the game.

Ryantown Defeats Italians 4 To 2

The Ryantown team took a 4 to 2 verdict over the Italian A. C. team in a National Section Twilight League game played at the Ryantown field on Thursday night.

Wilcox on the rubber for the Ryantown team held the heavy hitting Italian A. C. to four hits and had four strikeouts. Turco on the knoll for the losers pitched a fine game, but was unsteady at times. Joyce had the only extra base hit of the game, a double. Bratt led the hitting with a pair of singles.

Edenburg Trims Company B. 8-3

Edenburg defeated Company B, 8 to 3, in a National section Twilight League game played at Edenburg on Thursday night.

Shields hurled a fine brand of ball for the Edenburg team limiting the Soldiers to four hits and fanning twelve men, for what is believed a record in the Twilight League this year. The Company B team used Shoaf and Duncan and they were found for eleven hits.

Sumner and Huff were the heavy hitters of the contest.

The Roberson-Smith baseball team defeated the Fashion Bootery girls team at the Ryantown grounds on Wednesday night. The final score was 7 to 1. "Chick" Chafe, the actor-pitcher, had the assignment for the actors, and pitched a fine game. Bradley was on the receiving end for the Roberson-Smith team. Babe Adams saved the Bootery nine from a shutout by scoring in the final inning.

Junior League

The Mud Divers downed the Dimlings 5 to 4 in a Junior Recreation league game at the P. & L. E. field on Wednesday night. The game was a pitching duel between Cannon and Gilmore. Both pitchers fanned five men. Jiles was the heavy hitter of the game with a home run.

The Indians defeated the Castle Cubs 8 to 4 in a game played at the Ryantown field on Wednesday night in the Junior Recreation league. C. Smith on the rubber for the Indians allowed but three hits and fanned six men. Davis opposed C. Smith and was found for seven safe blows.

The following junior league games will be played on Saturday: Vagebonds at North Hill, C. C. Sluggers at Keystones, Indians at Athletics, Castle Cubs at Dimlings.

Carey-Katkish Draw In Erie

(International News Service)

DUQUESNE, Pa., June 29.—Johnny Carey of Erie, had to be satisfied today with the draw decision that was awarded in his six-round bout here last night with Jack Katkish, of Pittsburgh. The two boys, lightweights, boxing in the semi-final, presented the best of the four-bout show staged in an outdoor arena.

In the third round Carey's eye was cut by Katkish, but the Erie boxer continued to meet the rushes of his opponent. Carey's left hooks and straight punches annoyed Katkish considerable.

In the ten-round main bout, Young Saylor of Charleroi defeated Phil Scello, of McKeesport, in a match that was fought in a downpour of rain which had been threatening all evening but finally came down during the main bout.

Pitt And Tech In Agreement On Athletic Field

Both Pitt And Tech To Utilize Spacious Stadium For Home Games

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Sport fans here today hailed with approval an agreement between University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech whereby the latter institution will be permitted to play their home football games in the huge Pitt stadium. The agreement, starting in 1929, will last for 15 years.

The football schedule-makers of both schools will cooperate to prevent conflict in "home" games. Season tickets will be sold, enabling the public to witness each school's games.

Officials have announced that the biggest drawing cards in college circles will be brought here to attract fans to the stadium, capable of seating 75,000. The Tech-Notre Dame game in 1929 is anticipated in particular, for when the great Irish team of 1926 was defeated by the Skibos in that season's greatest gridiron upset, only 35,000 could get into Forbes field, while thousands of rabid fans had to be refused admission.

of the remarkable qualities of the new extra-powered Atlantic Gasoline

A MONTH ago you read the first announcement of an unusual new-type, extra-powered, "knockless" Atlantic Gasoline.

It was the justly enthusiastic word of the refiners. For innumerable tests, in every type of motor and under all sorts of driving conditions, indicated that a real discovery, a great forward step, had been made in motor fuel refining.

Now the vast motoring public speaks from its own experience. "A splendid motor fuel!" is the widespread opinion.

Not only is Atlantic extra-powered. Not only is it free from fuel "knocks." But with it you get ease in starting, agile pick-up, complete-burning, carbonless combustion . . . all-round performance such as you have never before obtained from any gasoline without extra cost.

Three Are Injured In Auto Accidents

None Of Traffic Mishaps Is Serious However; After Hit-Run Driver

Several automobile accidents were reported to the police in the past 24 hours. In each of three instances, persons were hit by machines and suffered various minor injuries.

Earl Reynolds, 326 East Cherry street, reported that he was driving his car east on Long avenue between Hamilton and Grimes street, when two small boys came out from behind a car parked on Long avenue and ran in front of his machine. One of the boys was hit by his machine but was apparently not seriously injured. The name of the boy was Abe Abrahams and he resides on Pollock avenue. He and his parents refused to have him go to a physician.

Arthur Lattavo of 1209 Croton avenue reported that he was driving west on Croton avenue near Duquesne avenue when a young boy ran out into the street. He was hit by the side of the car. He was apparently not injured. The name of the boy was L. Bernabe and his address is 1302 Croton avenue.

Sam Baron of 123 Edison avenue reported that he was driving south on South Jefferson street at the Jefferson street bridge, when a colored girl, Sarah May, aged eight or nine years, and residing in the rear of Jefferson street near the Carnegie playgrounds, was hit sideways by his machine as she came out into the street. She was knocked to the ground. She ran away apparently not injured.

Felix Mele of 504 East Reynolds street reported that he was driving east on East Long avenue, near Mill street, when the car of William McDevitt, 501 Uber street, going west on Long avenue, sideswiped and damaged his machine.

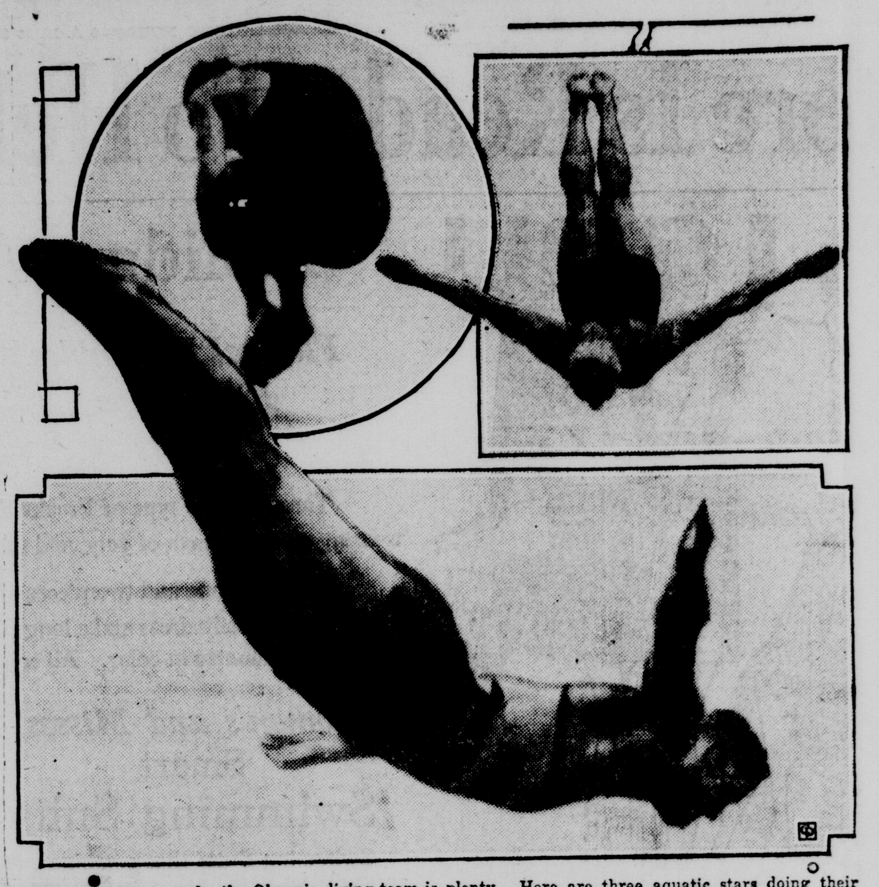

Police are investigating the accident occurring Wednesday evening on East street when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 508-882 going south on East street sideswiped and badly damaged the car of Jess Corbin, 411 Hutchison street, which was going in the same direction. The car bearing Pennsylvania license 508-882 did not stop to determine the damage done, but speeded up, went through the red light at East and Washington street and on out toward the west side. The police car gave chase to Youngstown and just missed getting its quarry.

In the old days a man could easily cow his wife, but now he can't even affect her with bull.

Improvements To Be Provided

Two ordinances which were passed on two readings were adopted finally today when council convened at city hall.

The ordinances provide for the grading of Leasure avenue between Wilmington avenue and North Mercer street and also for the grading of Vogan street between East Washington and Cascade streets.

Specifications for the grading of Vogan street also were ordered made.

To Ask Bids For Highway Extension

County commissioners received word yesterday that the state is about to advertise for bids for 600 feet of state road to be built partly in Lawrence and partly in Beaver county on route 265. The work will be done entirely at the state expense.

The road to be improved is an extention of the new highway from Koppel west to New Galilee. The section in Lawrence county will be in Big Beaver and Little Beaver townships.

Norwood Avenue Bids For Paving Are Opened Today

Street To Be Paved From Albert To Highland Avenue This Summer

Three bids were submitted to council in session at the city building today for the paving of Norwood avenue between Albert street and Highland avenue but no contract was awarded pending a check of the figures by the city engineer who estimated the cost of the paving at: Brick, $9.605; concrete, $9.134; and sheet asphalt $9.395. Council has not determined the material to be used.

The bidders and prices follow:

Olsen Contracting company: Brick, $8,658.40; concrete, $7,987.90 and sheet asphalt, $8,028.40.

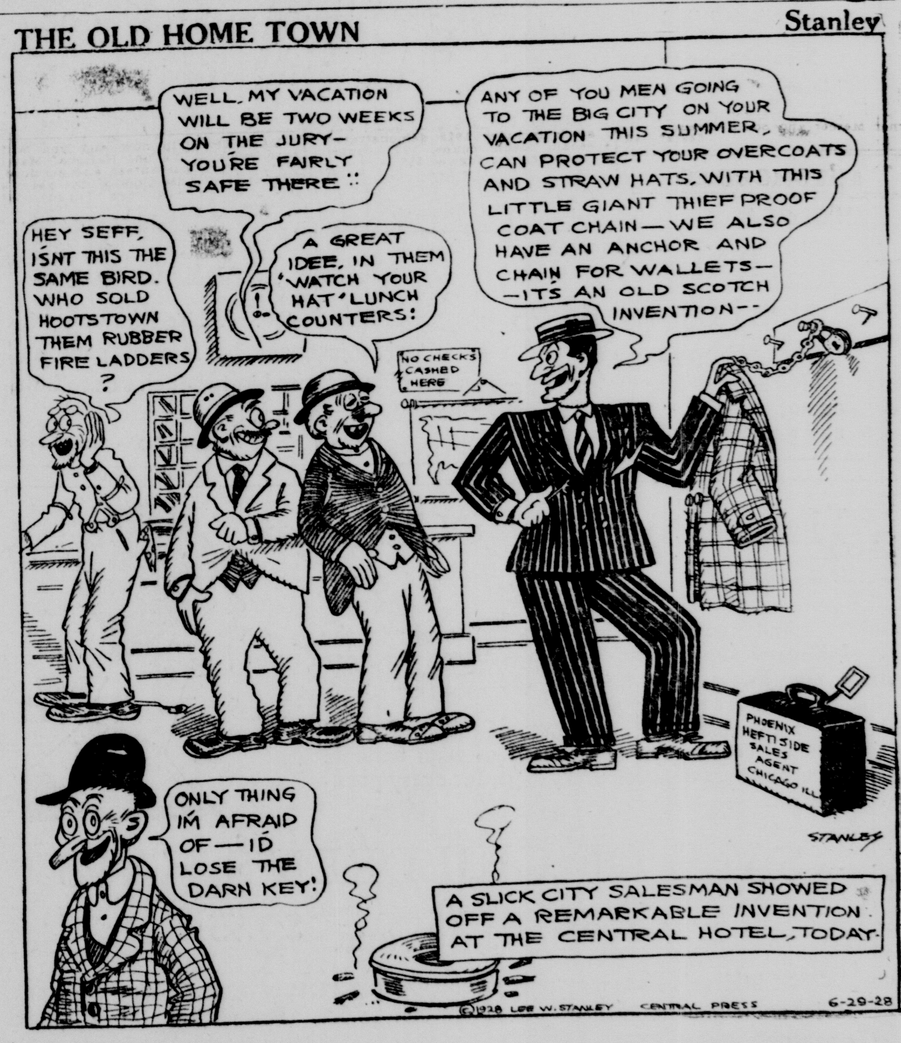

Woods and Golder: Brick, no bid; concrete $8,155.20.

To Start Work On Re-Flooring Bridge

E. J. Scanlon, who has the contract for re-planking and repairing the bridge across the Shenango river at Pulaski, received the first load of planks yesterday and will start work. It will require three car loads of plank to re-floor the bridge. The planks to be used are of oak, four inches thick and twenty feet long.

Woody Plant Agents Must Be Licensed

Regulations Are To Protect Customers From Unscrupulous Dealers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 29.—Agents or firms soliciting orders or selling woody plants in Pennsylvania must be licensed officials of the bureau of plant industry warned today. A number of instances recently have come to the attention of the bureau where agents were unacquainted with the provisions of the act passed by the last session of the legislature requiring such registration.

The regulations protect customers from unscrupulous dealers as well as provide an inspection service for nurserymen officials said.

All nurserymen in the state are required to make application for inspection of their stock prior to July 1 each year.

Persons soliciting orders for nursery stock are required to carry certificates showing they are registered with the state to canvass. They are required to show the certificates upon request by prospective customers.

Call Money Goes To High Level

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 29.—For the first time in seven years a charge of 6 per cent was asked today for stock exchange call money. Opening at 7½ per ent, a duplicate for the renewal charge yesterday which dropped to 7 per cent at the close, the advance of one-half per cent, further after 1 o'clock reflected additional heavy withdrawals of loans, local banks calling upward of $20,000,000 before midday in preparation for the tremendous July first settlements.

Missing Broker Is Located, Has Big Suit Filed

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Frank W. Henry, 51-year-old broker of Merchantville, N. J., who has been missing since the filing of his $1,100,000 love piracy suit several days ago was located today as he told of his domestic troubles he frequently quoted the Bible to show how he "had been wronged."

Henry picked out several Biblical quotations which he thought "would be well" for his former wife and her present husband, Alfred Edgar Freeman, wealthy Philadelphia clubman, lawyer and religious society patron to read.

Asked if he expected to win the $1,100,000 damages for which he is suing Freeman he replied that this was not the motive for his suit.

"I merely want to expose this man to show how he wronged me," he said. He added that he expects Freeman to make an effort to settle the suit out of court but denied that such a step had already been attempted.

Alas! the man who uses perfect English seldom has anything worth

Frick's Birthplace To Become Memorial

Springhouse On Overholt Estate Presented To Historical Society

(International News Service)

SCOTTDALE, Pa., June 29.—Posterity in Pennsylvania will not be without a memorial of one of the most famous of its numerous captains of industry—Henry Clay Frick.

At West Overholt, near here the humble two-room abode wherein there was born the infant boy who later became "Frick, the Coke King", has been presented to the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania. The birthplace of Frick was a springhouse on the Overholt estate. It was restored and kept up by Miss Helen Frick, the magnate's daughter, who came here from New York for the presentation ceremonies.

Frick, one of the many industrial geniuses developed by the resources of Pittsburgh and southwestern Pennsylvania, was a dominating figure in steel and iron as well as the most powerful in the coke industry. The little red schoolhouse which Frick attended when a boy still stands today, scarcely a mile from the scene of his birth.

Farm Camp For Women And Girls

HARMONY, Pa., June 29.—The Emma farm camp at Harmony was opened this week with the first contingent of 150 women and girls from the Pittsburgh district. They will spend two weeks at the camp and will be followed by about 200 boys. Many improvements have been made on the grounds since the close of the camping season last year. The camp is supported by the Jewish people of Pittsburgh and is being made one of the beauty spots of the Connoquenessing valley.

Protruding Beam Hurts Pedestrian

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 29.—Struck in the face by a large steel beam protruding from the back of a motor truck while he was standing on the sidewalk, Al Keagy was injured here today. The truck driver, who continued on his way unaware that Keagy had been injured, was notified to appear in police court tomorrow.

Services For Smokers; Ladies With Babies

EASTWELL, Kent, June 29.—Men smoking pipes and women nursing their babies or rocking perambulators, while they listen to church services will be seen here soon.

Canon Halloran, the rector of Eastwell, has announced that he will conduct a series of Sunday afternoon services on the rectory lawn at which men may smoke and to which women are asked to bring their babies.

Parking space, said the canon, will also be provided for motor cars.
